WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

The returns of the Sharkey-Fitzsimons fight at Umatilla House tonight.

Hon. Henry Blackman was a passenger on the west-bound train this morning.

The weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow is snow or rain, with chinook wind probable.

Joe Howard is in from Prineville with 300 head of cattle for shipment east. He has his stock on 10-Mile, awaiting the opening of the road.

The town is flooded with book agents today, nearly every man you meet having one under his arm. They are gathering up lots of money too.

The west-bound passenger arrived at 9 o'clock this morning. The rotary from Pendleton reached the Cascades at 10 o'clock last night, and is cleaning the track below that point.

A lecture will be given by Bishop Earl Cranston at the M. E. church on Monday evening, Dec. 7, 1896. Subject, "Professor Satan." Admission, adults 25 cents; children 15 cents.

Bishop Cranston of Portland, Or., resident bishop of the M. E. church for the Pacific Northwest, will preach next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. at the M. E. church. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The regular meeting of The Dalles Assembly, United Artisans, will be held at the K. of P. hall this evening. All members are requested to be present, as there will be election of officers and other important business.

Do not fail to call on Dr. Lannerberg, the eye specialist, and have your eyes examined free of charge. If you suffer with headache or nervousness you undoubtedly have imperfect vision that, if corrected, will benefit you for life. Office in the Vogt block.

The suit in equity of Mary Davenport against Stephen M. Meeks and others, the declare void a certain mortgage on the ground of fraud, was argued before Judge Bralshaw today and submitted. H. H. Riddell for plaintiff, Dufar & Menefee for defendant.

The sleighing seems to be good, at least the fellows in the cutters look as though they enjoyed it. The walking, however, the only means of locomotion permitted to the newspaper fraternity, is execrable. The snow crawls under a fellows feet as if it were alive.

Only thirty days in which to secure Herrin's unrivalled photos. Mrs. Herrin will leave The Dalles January 1st for a long visit in Southern Oregon, perhaps to remain. You can secure bargains now in all kinds of work—duplicates, cabinet, polished, only $2 per dozen until Jan. 1, 1897. $2 2w

The St Perkins company is billed for Saturday, Dec. 5th. This company is meeting with great success in this part of the country and is receiving flattering press notices. Their midday parade is novel and funny and the band is the talk of every town they have played in. They give a free band concert in front of the opera house at 7 o'clock and all lovers of classical music should hear it. Remember the date. Admission 50 and 75 cents.

The west-bound passenger arriving this morning is still held here awaiting developments at Bridal Veil. It is hoped the road may be opened some time during the night. The rotary is moving slowly down from Bonneville, meeting with considerable trouble on account of the sliding snow. The cuts made by her have been partly filled, so that it is impossible to tell exactly when the blockaded train will be got out. The snow is melting, and if this continues the road will soon be open, as the plows can handle it if it gets damp.

Dr. Davidson's Last Christmas at Dramtochy.

Jan MacLaren in McClure's Magazine for December.

His gifts, with a special message to each person, he sent by faithful messengers, and afterwards he went out through the snow to make two visits. The first was to blind Marjorie, who was Free Kirk, but to whom he had shown much kindness all her life. His talk with her was usually of past days and country affairs, seasoned with wholesome humor to cheer her heart, but today he fell into another vein, to her great delight, and they spoke of the dispensation of Providence.

"Whom the Lord loveth, He chasteneth," Marjorie, is a very instructive scripture, and I was thinking of it last night. You have had a long and hard trial, but you have doubtless been blessed, for if you have not seen outward things, you have seen the things * * * of the soul." The doctor hesitated once or twice, as one who had not long traveled this road.

"You and I are about the same age, Marjorie, and we must soon * * * depart. My life was very * * * prosperous, but lately it has pleased the Almighty to * * * chasten me. I have, therefore, some hope also that I may be one of His children."

"He was aye gude grain, the doctor," Marjorie said to her friend, after he had left, "but he's had a touch of the harvest sun, an' he's been ripening."

THE DALLES ATHLETIC CLUB

Elects New Officers and Starts on Its Second Year.

The regular annual meeting of The Dalles Commercial and Athletic Club was held last evening at the club rooms. Vice-President E. C. Pease presiding.

The secretary's report was read and adopted. W. H. Wilson being absent, his report was read by the treasurer, Roger Sinnott. It showed that the total receipts for the year were over $4,000 and a balance on hand of about $600. As the club rooms have been fitted up during the year, the showing is an exceedingly good one.

On motion it was ordered that the seven members receiving the highest number of votes should be declared trustees. Upon a ballot being taken W. L. Bradshaw, E. C. Pease, W. H. Wilson, R. B. Sinnott, H. M. Beall, Geo. C. Blakeley, received the most votes, there being a tie between the names of R. H. Lonsdale, J. P. McInerney and J. F. Hampshire. A second ballot was taken and Hampshire declared elected. The trustees will elect the other officers.

The outgoing board of trustees have made an enviable record, and as three of the old board are re-elected and some first-class material added in the new trustees, the affairs of the club will be looked after as closely in the year to come as in the year gone by. The club has done much in the year of its existence towards advancing the interests of our city, and in the future will be able to do much more. It has become one of the features Dalles social life, and has come to stay.

A FAMOUS OLD HOTEL.

Col. Sinnott's "Grows Reminiscent Over the Old Hostelry."

The burping of the old Peoria hotel at Peoria, Illinois, a week or ten days ago put Col. Sinnott in a reminiscent mood, and to our reporter he gave quite a long account of what he calls one of the most famous old hotels in the country. "I was head clerk in the hotel during the 50s," said he, "and in those days it was the meeting place of the political leaders of those days. While there I often saw Douglas and Lincoln, and to give a list of those who have slept within its walls would be to publish the names of all the great Westerners of the West. Judge Lyman Trumbull, the great statesman and jurist; David Davis, senator from Illinois and member of the supreme court, also one of the commission of fifteen to settle the Hayes-Tilden election controversy; Col. E. D. Baker, who afterwards became famous on this coast, was senator from this state and fell early in the war; General Shields, Mexican war veteran and United States senator from two states; William Pitt Kellogg, afterwards governor of Louisiana during reconstruction days; Robert Ingersoll, and his brother; Congressman Kellogg, who went out from Washington to see the battle of Bull Run, and saw more than he wanted; General Lew Wallace, the famous author; Horace Greely, prince of newspaper men; Col. A. Bush, the shining light of the old-fashioned Oregon Democracy, friend of Grover Cleveland, and boss banker of Salem, besides hundreds of others. "It was here," added the colonel, "that Abraham Lincoln had his first and only fist fight, of which I am the sole surviving witness." I will give you that story some time, said he, and then he turned away to attend to one of the hundred guests who came in on the west-bound train this morning and who are awaiting the opening of the road.

More Hopeful Today.

A telegram was received by Mr. J. T. Peters from Agent Alloway, of the D. P. & A. N. Co., dated at the Cascades yesterday afternoon. It stated that two of the crew from the Dalles City had reached that point and spoke rather more hopefully of the boat's condition. He also ordered a bill of lumber sent to Wyeth, but since ordered to the Cascades, and stated that an attempt would be made to repair the damages and float the boat to the Cascades.

Just What Miners Want.

All who are, or expect to be, interested in mines will be glad to know that Henry N. Copp, the Washington, D. C. land lawyer, has revised Copp's Prospector's Manual. The mineralogical part of the work has been almost entirely re-written by a Colorado mining engineer, who has had years of experience as a prospector, assayer and superintendent of mines and United States surveyor.

The book is a popular treatise on assaying and mineralogy, and will be found useful to all who wish to discover mines. The first part of the work gives the United States mining laws, and regulations, how to locate and survey a mining claim, various forms and much valuable information. The price is 50 cents at the principal book stores, or of the author.
