WE HAVE THE COAL.

Besides the immense stock interests of this section, interests that produce for shipment annually 25,000 head of cattle, 200,000 sheep, and 8,000,000 pounds of wool; besides these and the 2,000,000 bushels of wheat shipped from Wasco and Sherman counties, the immense amount of fruit, and the great yield of salmon that keeps four canneries running during the season, there is undoubtedly stored up in the ground right here in the vicinity of our city untold treasures in the shape of coal. Borings made in the city for water have passed through a broken vein of coal of good quality at a depth of from 50 to 70 feet, but so far no effort has been made to prospect the discovery.

We have called attention to the matter several times, and are glad to state that there is a prospect of the means being raised to examine into it. The coal measures are the very best, consisting of conglomerates and sand shales, and if we have not a good paying vein of coal here, all indications lie. The opening of a good vein of coal here means the immediate doubling of business, property values and population. We urge those having the matter in charge to bend every effort to the accomplishment of the work, so that by spring we may announce to the world that Nature has denied us nothing.

We have the finest fruit lands, the most valuable fisheries, fine wheat lands, and the mighty slopes of the Cascades furnish the stockmen with ideal ranges. The surface of the earth and the bosom of the river yield immense products; and surely after everything else Nature never forgot to put the black diamonds down under the sand shales to complete the perfection of her works.

At Portland Wednesday evening Mrs. Jones, a partially demented colored woman, attempted to commit suicide by driving an ice pick through her skull and five inches into her brain. She held the pick against her head and drove it in with a hatchet. It is remarkable that she was able to stand up and keep hammering the ice pick after it had penetrated the brain at all, but it is no more astonishing than the statement made today that she will probably recover. The case excites some interest as to the woman's mental condition should she recover. The doctor's have expressed no opinion on that subject, but it strikes us that she may have punctured the seat of her mental unbalancing, and if the Medicos do a good job of plumbing, we see no reason why it would not be possible for her to recover the use of what brain she has left.

Arizona will again make application for statehood, and she makes a pretty good showing too, with more than $13,000,000 a year in mineral products. Besides this she shipped in the last eighteen months 597,876 head of cattle. Her population is large enough to entitle her to one congressman under the apportionment now in force, and there seems to be no good reason why she should not be admitted. New Mexico will probably also make application for admission into the Union, and it is more than likely every territory except Alaska and Indian Territory will be made states during McKinley's administration.

The papers of the state are almost unanimous in their demand for a registration law. The Australian ballot system is the most nearly perfect of any ever devised; all it lacks is a good registration law that will prevent absolutely colonization and repeating. A law that will give every citizen a vote, and have that vote counted, is all that is needed, and a registration law will do this, because it prevents colonization, and the killing of legal votes by illegal ones.

While Weyler was out looking for Maceo, and regretting his inability to find him, that clever general, just to show the world that he was not liable to be starved out in the mountains, made an attack on the suburbs of Havana, and killed over 300 Spanish troops in the attack. Weyler looking for Maceo is much like our ever-present hobo looking for work.

An enthusiastic reporter on the Oregonian heads a local, "Hail, Blessed Chinook!" Portland may not have had enough yet, but up this way we have had all the hail we want. Our most urgent desire is that the blessed chinook reign.
