Sneezed Bis Eye Out.

One of the most peculiar accidents ever recorded occurred the other day to Charles Doran, a resident of a Cincinnati suburb. Doran was nursing a severe cold, and, meeting a friend at the railway station, he accepted a proffered pinch of snuff. The membrane of his nasal passage was very delicate and sensitive, and he sneezed violently. So severe was the paroxysm that the inferior oblique muscle of the left eve was ruptured, and, as he continued to sneeze the exertion forced the eye completely out of the socket. A physician succeeded in replacing the eye in the socket.

Doran said, in describing his sensation, that the pain was not intense when the eye was forced out. He felt as though something was bursting in his head, but did not realize what had hap- tian canines, for which he has a widpened until he saw with his right eye reputation. He does not claim to be the that his left optic was dangling on his originator of the process, for he say cheek. The pain of repairing the injury was much more severe than the injury itself.

CAME TO SEE A BICYCLE.

wned a Horse Ranch and His Business Was Rained. "There goes one er th' goldarned things, George!" The speaker was a white-brarded man fully 70 years of age end. It is his appearance, evidently a farmer. The person addressed was a younger man, his high-heeled boots and red neektie also denoting the agriculturist. It was at the Morrison street bridgeand just before five o'clock in the morn-1 50 ing. The gray night mist had not yet had risen from their beds-impelled by a curiosity to see a bicycle,

"Yes, sir," answered the elder of the two, in response to a question, "we're out yere on this bridge ter see a bicycle -a critter neither of us has ever seen Miss Annie Fulton of Sherman county afore. You see, we live in the mountains back in Clatskanie, and bicycles don't come our way.

"We come up the river on the G. W. Shaver, an' comin' up, George says ter me: 'Pop, did yer ever see a bicycle?' an' I had to admit that I hadn't, altho' I understand th' pesky things are plenty enough, judgin' from th' figures published in th' papers regardin' th' output of th' factories buildin' them. But this is th' first time I've bin ter Mr. J. L. Cowan, the newly-appointed of me I kain't recollect seein' one of th' machines then.

"So I jest asked th' purser where th' best place to eatch sight of a bleycle early in th' mornin' was in Portland, Harry Liebe's many friends will be an' he told me th' bridge here ahead pleased to know that he is steadily imof th' steamer. Well, I was that pesof th' steamer. Well, I was that peskered to see one that I routed George out so soon as it was daylight, an' we've been standin' on this bridge ever since waitin' fer a bicycle man ter come along." Then, turning to his companion, the old man said:

"Well, if I did rout yer out kinder early, ye're the most interested. George.

"Yer bet I am!" George replied; and this he ascribes to the bicyclo.

And so the two men sat, perched on the bridge railing, watching, as the morning grew on, the increased number of bieyelists crossing the bridge and pouring out their anathemas on that "goldarned thing," the silent steed. -Portland Telegram.

HOW DOGS ARE STUNTED.

Methods Employed in the Manufacture of Toy Terriers.

There is an era of tiny dogs in Eng lish society. The more diminutive a parcel of canine flesh that you can posess the more are you a swell, says the Toledo Blade, But, alas! How many feminine readers who delight in the miniature loggies know that they are an artificial product.

There is in London an establishment devoted entirely to the stunting of the animals. The proprietor is an exbreeder of fighting dogs, but he now finds more profit in rearing the liliputhat all dog men know of the dwarfing powers of alcohol, but he asserts that be is the only man in London to adopt the principle systematically.

His method is as follows: The pup destined to be stunted is taken from itmother when a few hours old and when it begins to whine for sustenance it is fed with a warm decoction of gin and water. Deprived of milk, it takes to this readily: When it reaches a certain tion or two of mating the much-prized liliputian canine is obtained.
