THE INDIAN HORROR.

It is somewhat surprising that with the amount of sympathy we Americans are manifesting for the Cubans that we get up so little for the starving millions of India.

The contemplation of their most unhappy condition may well give us ungrateful ones cause for devout thankfulness that we have been spared such an experience, and cause at least a fleeting expression of gratefulness to Him who sends us rain and sunshine and plenty.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

The Cameron resolution in the senate has gone over the holidays, which means it has gone up. The sentiment of the people of the United States towards Cuba and Spain has not changed.

The whole matter seems to have resolved itself into this: This government cannot recognize Cuba until the latter form some kind of a government; and second, that we cannot interfere between Spain and her subjects unless by her barbarity she compel us to simply put a stop to the massacre of non-combatants.

LAND VALUES.

The East Oregonian insists that the juries in the Taffe and Seufert cases should measure the damages those gentlemen may recover by the amount of property created by industry and thrift that is destroyed.

would be none recoverable for the taking of the land, since that is provided by Nature.

The ownership of land is the line of demarcation between savagery and civilization. It might be better to go back to primitive ways, to tribal relations, to pastoral pursuits and conditions, but civilized man will not do it.

We will agree with the East Oregonian that many things might be changed for the betterment of the world, among them changes in modes of taxation; but we can see no other way of dealing with property than as it is now looked upon.

It is pleasing to know that foreign countries, even Spain, are acquainted with and understand our little national characteristics and realize that our senators and congressmen, being placed on high pedestals, naturally pose for the admiration of their constituents.
