A Musical Marvel.

Such great interest has been manifested throughout the country concerning the remarkable talents of Miss Yaw, the charming young California soprano, that we publish herewith an interesting illustration of her highest note in comparison with the highest notes of two famous prima donnas:

When it is remembored that Cassie Renz only touched G on the fourth, Di Murska F above the third, Christine fourth, Miss Yaw's voice will be the better appreciated by musicians. When Nilsson sang the high F sharp in Mozart's "Magic Flute," her listeners fairly labored between rapture and hyswithout che slightest effort, and sustains any have supposed that Miss Yaw, with sum necessary to make a trial. her marvelous range, is merely a musical freak, they are very much mistaken. Her voice throughout its entire digestion of food. range is sweet, expressive and sympathetic. She reaches the highest and lowest notes with much less effort than the ordinary singer, and sustains them with faultless accuracy.

The expression of a critic upon Miss Yaw's remarkable voice serves very aptly to define the sensation which fills is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. the auditor when listening to her phenomenal pitch, E above high E. He City of Toledo, County and state aforesaid: "Human comprehension may follow her voice to high C and fairly keep sum of One Hundred Dollars for each its feet on earth, but when the seventh and every case of Catarrh that cannot be. tone above that is vibrated with a clear, bell-like charn, it is then that one ascribes the effect to some supernatural instrumentality; it is not earthly my presence, this 6th day of December, enough for our faltering conception." A. D. 1896. In Paris the critics marveled at her prodigious voice, as indeed did the famous Nilsson. When Miss Yaw sang C above high C the great prima donna ly and acts directly on the blood and could not comprehend the great altitude mucuos surfaces of the system. Send and was not satisfied that Miss Yaw had really reached this great height until Sold by Druggists, 75c. she had struck the key on the piano .-N. Y. Musical Courier, '94.

Sudden Death of a Juryman.

The trial of Mrs. Nellie E. Jones on 1896. the charge of pocket-picking has been interrupted by an unusual incident-the death of one of the jurors.

"Last evening, upon adjournment of Black went to his home at Hunter's 89. Station in apparently good health. Soon after reaching home he was stricken with paralysis, and his two daughters, summoned to his bedside.

"At 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Black died. He had been a resident of Mount Tabor for years, and was well known.

"When the news was brought to the attention of the court this morning there ensued a consultation as to what should be done. The defendant and her counsel were willing to proceed with the LOCAL DISEASE trial with eleven jurors, but Judge Stephens objected to this, as it was improper procedure and he could not countenance it.

"To the proposition to draw one more new juror, Mr. Hume, of the counsel for defendant, objected, and as no other agreement could be reached, it was settled by discharging the jury, and the setting of the case for trial January 19th-the second day of the new term."

With the close of the Presidential Campaign THE TRIBUNE recognizes the fact that the American people are now anxious to give their attention to home and business interests. To meet this condition, politics will have far less space and prominence, until another State or National occasion demands a renewal of the light for the principles for which THE TRIBUNE has labored from its inception to the present day, and won its greatest victories.

Every possible effort will be put forth, and money freely spent, to make THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE pre-eminently a National Family Newspaper, interesting, instructive, entertaining and indispensable to each member of the family.

We furnish "The Chronicle" and N. Y. Weekly Tribune one year for only $1.75.
