WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Si Perkins at the Vogt tonight. If you want to laugh, go and hear Si Perkins tonight.

When you find time hanging heavy on your hands, just bear in mind that there is a circulating library here, and then patronize it.

The United Artisans will not meet tomorrow (Wednesday) night, on account of many of the members wishing to attend the Yaw concert.

The handsome photograph of The Dalles hose team, on exhibition at the Snipes-Kinersly drugstore, was the work of our local artist, Mrs. D. C. Herrin.

If laughing hurts you, or you feel, for any reason, that you really should not laugh, be sure to stay away from the Si Perkins show tonight, or your face will smile in spite of you.

A letter from Fred Wilson and Ed. Wingate states that the boys made the trip as far as Victoria without being seasick. They are getting along on their way to the islands by this time.

Uncle Tom's Cabin Thursday night. Old, but always good. Fine scenery, beautiful stage settings, live bloodhounds, and a first-class company of first-class actors. Don't fail to see it.

At I. C. Nickelsen's Book and Music store the holiday rush continues, as he offers a large left-over stock of books, albums, bibles, toilet sets, silverware, watches and jewelry at prices below any competitors. dec28-3t

The Si Perkins Pughtown band is a daisy, sure. As the members went wandering around the streets yesterday afternoon they attracted a great deal of attention, and when they gathered at the intersection of Washington and Second and began playing, everybody flocked to hear them. For a half hour they paralyzed business in the Dalles, more thoroughly than a Bryan boom and a 16 to 1 campaign.

Last evening a number of young people met at the home of Miss Ethel Deming, and after ascertaining that every lady had succeeded in safely conducting the leap year young man thus far, they proceeded to the residence of Mr. John Parrot, whom they completely took by surprise. However, the house and its contents were turned over to them, and with games, lunch, laughter and song the evening was delightfully passed.

The examination of Cooper Douglas, the young gentlemen who struck James Fisher on the head with a pistol at the dance Christmas night, occupied the attention of Justice Filloon this morning. Attorneys Phelps and Gates represented the State, and J. L. Story the defendant. After hearing the testimony, the justice concluded the offense had been committed and bound Douglas over to appear before the grand jury, with bonds fixed in the sum of $200. This is more fun for the fellow who turned out the lights.

The case of J. A. White vs. O. D. Taylor occupied nearly the entire day. The case grows out of the sale of some stock in the Columbia River Fruit Co. by the defendant to the plaintiff, with a guarantee that the money should be returned if the stock was not satisfactory. The jury, after being out several hours, returned a verdict of $120.50 for the plaintiff. Mr. Taylor will appeal the case to the supreme court. John F. O'Keefe appeared for the plaintiff and E. Emerick and James H. Davitt for the defendant.—Saginaw Courier-Herald.

Tuesday evening while Mr. J. M. Roth was returning from The Dalles, by way of Endersby, he met with an accident that came very near being serious. His team of young horses had attained considerable speed as they came down the Endersby hill near R. Sigmans, when the pole to the hack dropped to the ground, which affrighted the horses and they became unmanageable. Mr. Roth was precipitated to the ground with great violence, sustaining a severe scalp wound, which dazed him for some time. Upon his arrival in Dufur, Dr. Dietrich dressed the wound, and now Mr. Roth appears to be as sound as ever. The pole to the hack was broken, and the harness in several places, also, but the horses were not materially injured.

Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Willerton, on Alford avenue, last evening, it being their twentieth marriage anniversary. The evening was enjoyably spent with games and jokes, till a dainty luncheon was served. Many beautiful presents were given. Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Steers, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Herbert, Mrs. H. N. Stevens, Mrs. Goddard, of Portland, Miss Rawson, Miss Snipes, Miss Boyer, Misses Grace and Bertha Willerton, and Master Ernest Willerton.

JUDGE SNOW'S RULING.

Must Explain to the Supreme Court Why He Quashed the Case.

Judge Snow of Saginaw quashed the information against Rev. O. D. Taylor for obtaining money by false pretense, on the ground that Act 234 of 1895, repealed the section of Howell's providing a penalty for this offense. The fact of this ruling was that prosecutions for offenses of this kind, committed prior to Sept. 1st, 1895, when the new act took effect, are barred. Yesterday the supreme court issued a peremptory writ, ordering Judge Snow to set aside his order and proceed with the trial or show cause forthwith why he should not be compelled to do so. The court called his attention to the recent case of the People vs. Hinney, in which they held directly contrary to his ruling.—Saginaw Courier-Herald, Saturday, Dec. 19, 1896.

Patti Outdone—Miss Yaw's Wonderful Voice.

Over a year ago, while Miss Yaw was abroad, there was a very conspicuous article published in the New York Herald, a column in length, headed as above. It discussed that voice as having the greatest compass of any soprano recorded by history—a range of nearly four octaves, from G below the staff to E in alt., and expressed surprise that a voice reaching such an altitude should possess such breadth and beautiful quality of tone in the lower and medium register.

Later we heard more of this phenomenal voice through the Parisian papers, which spoke of her as having a powerfully high and extraordinarily crystalline soprano, with wonderfully bird-like notes, which rose and fell with the precision and "rondeur" that French people characteristically compare to falling pearls. Not only did they comment upon the extent of this young girl's voice, but upon the sympathetic quality and strength of the medium tones, and the perfect ease with which she sang.

Si Perkins Tonight.

The Si Perkins band attracted a large crowd again today. The leader, Professor Hukins, has been sick for two weeks and unable to attend to his duties, but the band furnishes some fine music without his assistance. The play tonight is "Our Old Kentucky Home," a sensational comedy, with the scenes located in Kentucky and California. Si Perkins will make you laugh, sure, and tonight will be the last opportunity to hear him. The price of admission has been reduced to 50 cents all over the house; children 25 cents, and no extra charge for reserved seats.

A Powerful Freezing Mixture.

Many readers know that a mixture of two parts of pounded ice and one part of common salt will reduce the temperature of anything inclosed so as to be wholly surrounded by the mixture (say a milk can in an ice cream freezer) to a point 36 degrees below that at which water freezes. There are but few readers, however, that know of the remarkable properties of a mixture of chloride of lime and ice. A mixture of three parts of crystallized chloride of lime and two parts of ice forms a combination that will freeze mercury in seven minutes.—St. Louis Republic.

Christmas at Endersby.

ENDERSBY, Or., Dec. 28, 1896. EDITOR CHRONICLE: The entertainment and supper at this place Christmas eve was a grand success. The house was well filled, and each one's part was well performed. There was an abundance of pop corn, apples, peanuts and candy, and after the exercises the tables were spread, and everybody's part was well performed there, too. After supper a number of fine selections were rendered by local vocalists and then came the parting. G. W. F.
