HOW KEROSENE IS REFINED. Somethiag About a Remarkable American Industry.

How many housekeepers, as they fil their lamps with kcrosene oil or their summer stoves with gasoline, have any idea have these oils are made? And yea few miles from Chleago, at Whiting Ind., is the largest oil refinery in the Naphtha, benzine, gasoline or kerosene, the last often cailed coal or illuminating oil, belong to the same family. The three first named being lighter oils, do not require nearly so much handling to bring them to perfeetion as the kerosene. This, of course, is easy to believe, but when it is said that from the same crude oil, after all the lighter oils have been distilled out, wax is made so closely resembling the product of the bee as to deceive even an expert, and that it is used in chewing gum factories, candle factories, laundries and even in caudy factories. one is often met with a polite look of doubt or an incredulous shrug of the shoulders. Yet it is so. It is possible to go yet further, and sny that hundreds of homes in Whiting and Chicago will be made comfortable this winter by the refuse that adheres to the bottom and sides of the "stills" after even the wax has been pressed out. This refuse makes a good coke, is easily lighted, nnd chenne than coal. Hundreds of tons are removed from the stills daily before the are "sharped" again, and hundreds a these who use this feel do not know that it was once erude oft, dug in the Ohio fields and piped on to Whiteen The carbon used in electric lights is also made from this coke. Nothing is Walter.

As the most common the kerosene off is perhaps the most interesting of the products. After leaving the crude still it appears again in "sweetening stills," or in the "compound cylinders," which perform the same work as the sweetening stills, but in a newer invention. and is patented by an outsider, who allows only 40 in each refinery. The "sweeteners" form an important factor in the refining of Ohio oil. Owing to the "compound" before mentioned and the continuous friction of the immense wire brushes, which keep the oil in a mad whirl, it loses much of its bad odor. It is again vapored off, cooled in the condenser boxes and passed off into the "steam stills" for the next process.

In the steam stills it is treated just the same as in the two previous processes, with the addition of a washing by steam from perforated pipes passing through it. It is "vapored" off as before, and now one would suppose that it was ready for use. Not quite. The kerosene oil now passes into the agitator for the final process. The agitator is a funnel-shaped tank in which the oil en is treated with acid and beaten and blown about by a machine called a blower and washed by torrents of water until it roars like the lake in a storm. Every particle of foreign matter is thus expelled. It is then pumped off into the storage tanks for shipping. -Chicago Tribune.
