THE PASS FAKE.

Senator J. B. Smith of Washington has introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor for any public officer of the state to accept a pass. If there is one thing more than any other that makes the average citizen weary, it is a spasmodic attack of moral colic, of the kind that fears a public officer is going to be led from simple Virtue's rocky paths with a few dollars' worth of transportation. Is it possible our legislators have so little faith in the public servants or themselves, that they are afraid to trust their rectitude in the same suit of clothes with a railroad pass? Why not go to the full extent in this kind of legislation, if it is gone into at all? Why not make it a misdemeanor to take a drink or a cigar with anyone who is within the canonical degrees of relationship of any railroad president, officer or employe? Why not forbid any public officers from having a speaking acquaintance with any representative of a transportation company?

A man whose morals will not stand the strain of a railroad pass, would fall dead before a champagne supper. The man who would be influenced by $7 worth of transportation, would not be able to resist the superior blandishments of a twenty dollar piece. We have done business, in a small way, with the railroad companies for years. The writer hereof has carried a pass, in some form, in his pocket for so many years that he catches cold when he hasn't one. Yet he has never been asked by any railroad company to gauge his editorial comment of the roads' actions on that account.

Its all rot about officers being purchased with passes, or influenced by them.

The lower house of the legislature had not organized last night, and it seems possible that the day may go by without its getting in position to work. As long as it is not organized it is doing no harm, and the clerks are not drawing pay. One-twentieth of the session had slipped by last night, and almost before the wrangling legislators know it they will be watching the hands of the clock crawl along toward midnight of the last day of the session. This will be February 19th, and our noble solons will, on the morning of the 20th, be astonished to learn how they have shrunk. A legislator during the session is a nickel-plated aggregation, a hand-painted dinner set, a prize winner, and all that sort of thing; but the day the robe of office falls from his shoulders he finds that people know, and knew all the time, the kind of animal that was masquerading in the lion's skin.

There is some legislation needed, but the people have become so timid concerning modern legislators, that they really had rather get along with the ills they have than take the chance of having those ills increased by the legislature acting at all.

If our present legislature will elect a senator, pass a good registration law, simplify the assessment laws, abolish all commissions, and adjourn, the people will think themselves fortunate. They, however, will expect some evil with this good.

Senator Rhinehart of Whatcom county, Washington, is what might be called an up-to-date man. When the senate was organized Monday, the president requested Senator Van Patten, who is a minister, to open the session with prayer. Senator Rhinehart objected, saying that that senatorial body was beyond the reach of prayer; that it would do them no good. Of course we cannot speak definitely of the Washington senate, but Senator Rhinehart's remarks would apply very appropriately to most legislative bodies. Where the great mistake is made is in having a chaplain to pray for the legislative body. The correct thing when a legislature meets is to have all the ministers, regardless of creed, offer up petitions for the people. They are the ones needing the watchful care of a divine Providence. At the conclusion of the prayer the secretary sang, by request, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," which suggests that most of the members must have been a long ways from the fold previous to going to Olympia.

In the legislature yesterday, Somers, in reply to U'Ren, who called him to order because there was "nothing before the house," shouted, "The people of the state of Oregon are before the house." With all due deference to Mr. Somers, we are inclined to the opinion that he is mistaken. He has the cart before the horse. The house is before the people of the state of Oregon, and is making a spectacle of itself that causes the people of the state of Oregon to blush. The members of the house should bear this in mind, and so conduct themselves that it will not be "positively their last appearance."

Out of Luck.

Owen Ferguson, clerk of Fond du Lac county, Wisconsin, shot himself Saturday night, each time a little too high to strike the heart. Ferguson is decidedly unlucky. About a year ago his wife died, at the last election he was defeated, and a few months ago he broke his leg, being a cripple before that. It is reported that he is also short in his accounts, and he is still alive and will recover.

A Cure for Lame Back.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Administrator's Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed by the county court of the state of Oregon for Wasco County, administrator of the estate of W. H. Lockwood, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to me properly verified, as by law required, at the Wasco Warehouse, Dalles City, Oregon, within six months from date hereof.

Dated this 30th day of October, 1896. MALCOLM MCINNIS, Administrator of the estate of W. H. Lockwood, deceased.

Sheriff's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that an execution and order of sale was issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Wasco County, on the 25th day of December, 1896, upon a judgment therein rendered on the 21st day of November, 1896, in favor of E. J. Driver, plaintiff, and against James F. Elliott and William Wood, defendants, which said execution and order of sale is to me directed and commanding me to sell the property hereinafter described, for the purpose of satisfying the judgment of the plaintiff in said cause for the sum of $25.00, with interest thereon at ten per cent per annum from the 21st day of November, 1896, and the further sum of $40 attorney's fees, and the costs and disbursements of said suit taxed at $15. Therefore, in compliance with said execution and order of sale, I will on at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m. at the courthouse door in Dalles City, Wasco County, Oregon, sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, for the purpose of satisfying the judgment above mentioned the following described lands and premises, to-wit:

Sixty-one (61) acres of the east side of the North half of the Southeast quarter of Sec. 30 in Township 1 North, Range 15 East, W. M., commencing at a rock at a point on the North line of the NW 1/4 of E. 1/2 Section 20, thence East to East line of said section; thence South one-quarter mile; thence West to a point due South of said rock (the place of beginning); thence North to the place of beginning.

Dated this 25th day of December, 1896. T. J. DRIVER, Sheriff of Wasco County, Or.
