THE BEAN AUTOMATIC SPRAY PUMP.

Is, unquestionably, the most successful and perfect working Spraying Device yet invented.

It is a universal testimony that more, as well as better, work can be accomplished with the Bean Spray Pump than with any other pump on the market.

With this pump one man can charge the receptacle and leave it to direct the spray just where it is wanted, and thus with sufficient hose pass from tree to tree. The solution is delivered in a fine mist or spray, penetrating every nook and corner, thus doing better and more effective work than is possible by any other method, and with no waste whatever of solution.

For further particulars see special circular or call upon or correspond with.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Don't forget to come to the social tonight at the Good Templars hall. The program appears in another column.

As soon as the money subscribed is all paid in, a diamond drill will be ordered, and work of prospecting be begun at once.

Howard Marshal, who drives the Goldendale stage, tells us the roads on the other side of the river are frozen so they carry a wagon all right, but are very rough.

There's no time like the present for buying a new hat or pair of shoes. A. M. Williams & Co. make no exceptions in their stock at a discount of twenty per cent.

The A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor will hold memorial services at Fraternity hall Monday evening at 7:30. Members of the orders named and their friends are invited.

It is dollars to doughnuts that John H. Mitchell will be elected on the first ballot, when the legislature is organized. Just when that will be is one of the things whole lots of people would like to know.

A $1 hat for 80 cents; a $2 hat for $1.60; a dress pattern worth $5 for $4, or anything else you may want in dry goods, clothing or furnishing goods at one-fifth off the regular price, at A. M. Williams & Co.'s great sale.

King Leopold of Belgium has announced his intention of visiting his possessions on the Congo. He is to be accompanied by Stanley, and will precede at the opening of the railroad between Mataval and Leopoldville. The king has not visited Africa since his trip along the east coast while still Duke of Saxe-Coburg, prior to his accession to the throne.

One of the things General Buckner did at Boston was to go down the harbor and hold Fort Warren, taking Mrs. Buckner along, and hunt up the casemate in which he was domiciled as a prisoner of war in 1863, after his surrender to General Grant at Fort Donelson. The account says: "The general and his wife sat on camp stools and had the iron doors closed to recall old times."

Rev. J. N. Dennison, the former well-known pastor of the Centenary church in East Portland, died at Grant's Pass Wednesday night. Rev. Dennison's health has been very poor for over a year. He was a graduate of Drew theological seminary, and had been in the ministry on the Pacific coast for twenty-five years. He held the pastorate at Fort Townsend for five years; at Salem and Seattle each three years; St. Paul's Portland, one year, and Centenary church, East Portland, twice for two years, with an interval of sixteen years between terms, and was superintendent of the Portland Methodist hospital for sixteen months. The funeral takes place Sunday afternoon.

There was a small party of serenaders out last night, in fact two of them. The first party visited the homes of their favored friends and gave them a song or two, but as the night was cold, did not stay long. The second party followed the first, taking possession of the grounds immediately when the others left. As a result, the late comers received the reward intended for their predecessors, and devoured several nice handouts of cake, etc.

The Money Is Raised.

The committee to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of assisting in buying a drill to prospect the coal fields, concluded its labors this morning, having the full sum of $500 subscribed. It will report to the Commercial Club this evening, when the matter of collecting the money will be turned over to another committee. As soon as the money is paid over, Mr. Nicholas and his partners stand ready to add the amount necessary to purchase a first-class drill and operate it, and inside of a month it will be boring its way down into the earth. If a vein of coal is struck it should be a large one, as all the various strata gone through are remarkably thick. The smallest layer penetrated was that of a body of magnetic iron ore 53 feet thick. The thickness of the strata, indicate the lapse of long periods before conditions changed, and this applies to the coal formation as well as the others.

A Small Theft.

Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock Mr. W. H. Taylor, who lives about three miles south of town, thought he heard someone in the house, but after listening a short time concluded it was the wind. As he was about to go to sleep again he heard a commotion in the henhouse, and got up to see what the trouble was. He found most of the chickens off their perches, but that was all. Returning to the house he began looking around and found someone had been making himself at home. He had filled up on pie, cold sausage and whatever else eatable there was in the pantry. On departing, the marauder picked up an overcoat belonging to one of the men, and as he took it with him, it is presumably a fit.

THE SITUATION AT SALEM.

Hon. W. H. H. Dufur Expresses an Opinion.

Hon. W. H. H. Dufur returned last night from Salem, where he has been in attendance for the past week as a member of the third house. Mr. Dufur, it is well known, is an ardent Mitchell man and he very naturally makes earnest protest against the obstructionists who, in the interest of the anti-Mitchell faction as Mr. Dufur alleges, have hitherto defeated all attempts at organizing the lower house.

"I am very anxious," said Mr. Dufur to a representative of THE CHRONICLE, "that the people should know just where the blame lies for this obstruction. The friends of Senator Mitchell are in no way responsible. On the contrary they have, to a man, done everything in their power from the beginning to effect an organization. In fact the lines that separate the two factions are obstruction on the one hand and immediate organization on the other. The object of the obstructionists is, of course, to defer the election of an United States senator, and they hope by prolonging the struggle to weaken the strength of Senator Mitchell. Remedial or any other kind of needed legislation is, of course, wholly secondary. And it is the same old crowd that have always fought Mitchell and apparently always will."

"I would like," said Mr. Dufur, in his own earnest way, "to say a good word in behalf of our representative, B. S. Huntington. I don't know how he intends to vote on the senatorial question, but I do know that he has done everything in his power to promote the organization of the house of which he is a member. I regret I cannot say as much of Mr. Jones."

"The enemies of Mitchell, however," added Mr. Dufur, "may as well quit fighting him, first as last. John H. Mitchell will succeed himself in spite of all they can do. It is only the desperation of despair that justifies them in subordinating every interest of the Oregon commonwealth to their insane prejudice and hate."

The Curfew Ordinance.

A couple of pistol shots in the alley back of the court house last night caused a brief excitement in that neighborhood. Everybody, thinking there was a hold-up, murder, or something of the kind.

Night-watch Wiley fired the shots, in order to put speed into the legs of several boys who were hanging around the streets and were preparing to bombard the China washhouse at the corner of Second and Union. The scheme worked all right, for the boys only touched a few of the high spots on the way home. Wiley is determined to enforce the curfew ordinance, and parents will do well to keep their children home, or if they miss them, to inquire first at the city jail.

The Last Tribute.

We, the members of J. W. Nesmith, No. 17, W. R. C., assembled in a lodge of sorrow, wish to express our appreciation of our dear Mrs. S. C. Wilson, whom a gracious Heavenly Father has removed from this life and its work, to the other life, with its larger opportunities and blessings. Though modest and retiring to an unusual degree, she was one of the most interested and active workers in our corps. Her good deeds wait like noble friends to welcome her as she enters the world beyond. We mourn her departure as of a dear friend and co-worker, and admonish ourselves to copy her faithful example. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family in their great bereavement, and our deep sorrow is recorded, while we place her name among those who have passed to their reward.

Proposed Charter Amendments.

The city council met last night for the purpose of considering proposed amendments to the charter. After considerable discussion, amendments were agreed upon as follows:

To create a sinking fund of not less than $500 a year. To provide a more feasible manner of making street improvements, building sewers, etc., and the manner of levying assessments therefor; to permit the marshal, after 24 hours notice to property owners, to repair sidewalks, at expense of said owners; to give the council authority to license the sale of liquors where the same is sold by the bottle; to make the city recorder ex-officio clerk of the board of water commissioners and to change the city boundaries. This last amendment is to correct an error in description, which now includes the Klindt place in the city limits.

A Cure for Lame Back.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

All persons holding orders from Pease & Mays, or other coupons on Herrin's photograph gallery are requested to present them before January 15th. Mrs. D. C. HERRIN.

We all know that any tired muscle can be restored by rest. Your stomach is a muscle. Dyspepsia is its manner of saying "I am tired. Give me rest." To rest the stomach you must do its work outside of the body.

This is the Shaker's method of curing indigestion, and its success is best attested by the fact that these people are practically free from what is without doubt the most prevalent of all diseases, The Shaker Digestive Cordial not only contains digested food which is promptly absorbed without taxing the tired digestive organs, but it is likewise an aid to the digestion of other foods in the stomach. A 10 cent trial bottle will convince you of its merit, and those you can obtain through all druggists. (3)

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.
