THE SALMON QUESTION.

Senator Smith of Astoria has introduced a bill abolishing fish traps and all other fixed appliances for catching salmon. The bill provides that the law shall not go into effect until 1899. It also regulates the length of leads traps and wheels may use.

The bill ought not to pass, for the reason that it is unjust. It pretends to be made for the purpose of protecting the salmon, but in reality it is for the purpose of turning the whole fishing industry over to the fishermen of the lower river, and should be entitled "A bill to prevent persons catching salmon on the Columbia river above Warrendale," for that is what it will do, and all it will do.

It is claimed the fish-wheels catch so many salmon that the industry will be ruined; but it does not provide for limiting the catch at the mouth of the river. Astoria catches all the salmon it can—and all it can can.

If protection of the salmon were the real intention of the bill, it would be only fair to place some limit on the number of miles of net to be used on the lower river. We of the upper Columbia have made no complaint against the methods of fishing followed on the lower river. We have been content to take our chances on what Astoria and the lower river leaves us. The same methods used on the lower river for taking salmon cannot be used here, for conditions are entirely different. There the river has a sand bottom and a moderate current, all well suited to drifting. Here the bottom is rocky, the current swift, and the stream filled with surging eddies. It would be as fair to say to fisherman of the lower river, "You must only catch salmon in fish wheels," as to say to us, "You must catch them only in drift nets." Either proposition is an absurdity.

The lower river has the best of the law now by long odds, and should be satisfied. The fishing season is made in reference to the run at Astoria. It begins at the time the fish enter the river, and it continues until they cease to come in. Originally the season ended August 1st, but a few years ago a big run of chinook was coming in at that date, and to cover a recurrence of that event the season was extended to August 10th. The Astorians have, in an average season, three weeks' or a month's fishing before it begins here, and they fish during the whole time the salmon run. Here the wheels are stopped August 10th, just when the best run is on, and the fish that escape the nets of the lower river in July, nearly all pass the Cascades after the close of the season. We realize the necessity of protecting the salmon industry, but we certainly object to that form of protection that turns the whole business over to the lower river.

Three masked men held up Manager Hoyt, of the Labor Exchange at Salem yesterday, catching him alone in his office and making him open his safe. From this it might be presumed that Jonathan was not putting up as hilariously as expected. If the policemen do their duty and business men look a little out, the members of the legislature now running wild may be forced to come in.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Astoria-Goble road, and it is expected it will be completed the coming summer. Mr. Hammond has arrived at Astoria, and will personally supervise the construction. Astoria has waited many years for a railroad, and now that she is about to get it, it is doubtful whether or not she should be congratulated on the fact.

According to the Oregonian, the Populists and Democrats in the legislature are an honest, economical, law-abiding and patriotic lot of "anarchists," who have only the good of the people at heart.

It is passing strange that our Populist friends worked so hard to elect members of the legislature, and those elected will not serve.

The proposition to elect senators by a direct vote of the people is getting lots of supporters in this state just now.

Jonathan Bourne has the lower house of the legislature "over a barrel," and it is his barrel, too.
