WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

City council meets Wednesday.

Mrs. Julius Wiley is on the sick list.

Mr. Grimes brought a carload of cattle from 15-Mile today for shipment to Troutdale.

Circuit court meets one week from today. The term will most likely be a short one.

Joel D. Koontz fell on the sidewalk while on his way to his office this morning, and was quite badly hurt.

Through Mr. Houghton we learn that Judge Mave is steadily improving, and expects to be home about March 1st.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Emma Kraus will take place tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the M. E. church.

Four carloads of hogs are at the stockyards for shipment tonight. They are owned by a Mr. McCulloch and came from Elgin. They go to Troutdale.

China New Year began at midnight last night, but so far has not proven to be so hilarious as usual. Hard times are felt in Chinatown the same as everywhere else.

Mr. Lucius Clark of Biggs brought the remains of his sister, Mrs. C. F. Baker, up from Portland Saturday night, and the funeral took place at the Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

A. C. Sanford was at Arlington Saturday to take part in a rabbit drive. The drive did not materialize; but, in company with some friends, he had a rabbit hunt, and brought two dozen of the four-legged birds home with him.

Do not fail to call on Dr. Lannerberg, the eye specialist, and have your eyes examined free of charge. If you suffer with headache or nervousness you undoubtedly have imperfect vision that, if corrected, will benefit you for life. Office in the Vogt block.

At the last regular meeting of The Dalles Lodge No. 2, I. O. G. T., officers were elected for the ensuing quarter. Next Saturday night the lodge will give a public installation, to which all are invited. An excellent program is being prepared for the occasion.

A huge mollusk is ashore near St. Augustine, Fla., which weighs fully eight tons. Some claim that it was once a denizen of Arctic seas, but that point has not been decided. Photographs of the mollusk will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution for the purpose of classification.

Misses Gladys Jones and Harriet Stevens, assisted by local talent, will give a concert at the Congregational church on February 9th. As these ladies so completely won the favor of the public in their last visit to The Dalles, it is needless to say that they will be greeted by a full house.

A dispatch from Washington today says: "Senator McBride has reported favorably from the committee on public lands, Senator Mitchell's bill, extending the time for payment by settlers on forfeited lands. It is expected that the bill can pass both houses at this session. It will be signed because the interior department has recommended it, and has suspended entries on the lands pending the passage.

Pretty Carrie Bacon, aged 9, has just been discharged from a New York hospital, after a trying ordeal. Early in December she met with an accident, which split her lip, tore her ear, knocked her entire upper jaw back to the palate, and scattered nine teeth. Three surgeons and a dentist sewed and mended, upholstered her mouth, replanted her teeth, and finally discharged the girl without a scar, just as good as new.

The Washington legislature has a committee engaged in trying to discover how much Turner paid for his senatorship. The committee has its scoop net out, but so far has failed to scoop anything with it. Turner himself was before the committee and testified to spending $4,300 for oyster suppers and other necessary expenses. That's all that has been discovered, all that will be.

The money secured by the Elks has been divided among the needy, and has done much towards affording relief; but the amount is, or was, entirely inadequate to relieve all deserving it. There is really much more destitution in The Dalles than anyone is aware of, for the simple reason that those in need are not beggars, and so try to live upon little or nothing. The charitably-inclined can find plenty of worthy places to put their money right here at home.

Saturday telegrams were received by the Democratic and Populist members of the legislature in Portland to return to Salem at once, and most of them did so. Saturday night Republican members were also telegraphed to be on hand Monday morning, sure. From this it seems probable something was in the wind for today, but what, no man knoweth. It is safe to say that some action will be taken, and decisive action at that before Wednesday night.

Will Davis had a narrow escape from being killed, or at least seriously injured, at the Newport mine, in Coos county, last week. He is employed as a driver, and when coming out with a car of coal, stumbled and fell on the track in front of the car. His head and part of his body were caught under the car, but, after being dragged about fifty feet, he managed to extricate himself. He was cut on the forehead, and received some bruises, but nothing of a serious nature.

It was reported Thursday that the Fishermen's Protective Union cannery had sent an order to Portland for lumber with which to build its new plant, on the strength of the $5000 cash subsidy subscribed, says the Astorian. It is also understood that the Ciatop Mill Company, for lack of orders, will temporarily close down or run only on quarter time, which will result in throwing out of work a number of fishermen who depend upon the mill for employment in the winter time.

James Cloughton, an old resident of Curry county, and a rancher on Rogue river, near the mouth of the Illinois, was drowned recently in Shaasta Costa creek, a tributary of Rogue river. It seems he and William Nordburg attempted to wade the creek. The creek was very deep and swift, and they got beyond their depth. Nordburg had Cloughton by the hand, but the latter, in his struggles, was about to drown then both, and Nordburg was forced to release his hold to save himself. The body was recovered.

They are introducing office girls in Chicago, and those who have them in their employ are well pleased with them. They say that the office girl is superior to the office boy in many particulars. In the first place she does not smoke cigarettes, and she does not whistle. As a rule she has absolutely no taste for dime novels. She is usually bright, quick and energetic, and ever so much cleaner and neater than a boy can be. Testimony upon this point is almost unanimous, and most of those who have tried office girls declare that never again will they have an office boy around the premises.

The sleighing was excellent Saturday, and the jingling bells could be heard up to a late hour. There was one runaway about 9 o'clock in the evening. Two young gentlemen were out for a sleigh ride, and, in the goodness of their hearts, had shared their sleigh with a couple of young ladies whom they were taking home. At the corner of Fourth and Liberty, the sleigh struck a rock, and the horses broke loose from it and ran for the stable, Ward, Kerns & Robertsons'. They were going so fast that they could not make the turn at the stable and ran into a telephone post, the collision resulting in one of them being killed.

Don't "Lick" Envelopes. People who "lick" envelopes run a great risk. The glue on them is made from decaying scraps around slaughter houses. To run the tongue over it exposes one to the risk of blood poisoning. The other day a young girl in the East wrote a letter to her sweetheart and in sealing the mislaid moistened the envelope with her tongue. A few hours afterward she was dead. She died of blood poisoning. Do not lick stamps and envelopes, or run the tongue over glue or mucilage surfaces of any kind.

Water Commissioners' Meeting.

The water commissioners met Saturday night. Present, Commissioners Crossen, Peters, Randall and Nielsen. Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

A communication was received from Mr. Cockerline of Boyd, asking to be allowed to purchase some pulleys and shafting formerly in the old city mill. Referred to Commissioners Peters and Randall and Superintendent Norman.

Monthly reports of superintendent and treasurer were read, received and placed on file, and the list of delinquent subscribers was filed. On motion the superintendent was authorized to purchase a soldering outfit, to cost $10.

Claims against the commission were allowed as follows: I J Norman, supt salary $75 00 W S Norman, asst salary 55 00 T J Seufert, secretary salary 5 00 R L Aiken, labor 4 00 P F Burham, hauling 50 J O Mack, labor 9 00 The superintendent's report shows: Total receipts $1056 60 Total book account 1232 35 Delinquent 175 73

Spokane's Big Boy.

The biggest boy in the world lives in Spokane, says the Chronicle. His name is Eddie Black. He is six feet, three inches tall, and is now 14 years and six months old and growing like any other healthy boy.

Until about two years ago he was rather a delicate boy. His chief diet was bread, water and tea. In fact, upon this he lived and thrived. He could not eat meat or vegetables. In the last two years, however, his appetite has demanded more substantial food. He has grown strong and vigorous. Indeed, he is well proportioned. The last pair of shoes he bought were No. 12. Now they are pinching his feet, and his next ones must be No. 13, and be made to order.

Eddie is light complexioned, quiet, and as his father says, a good boy. He proposes some day to become a brick-mason like his father. But this far in life he has spent his time in school. He has attended the Franklin building, where his tall, stalwart form is a familiar sight among the other children of his age and grade.

Fortune Frowns on Mark Twain.

Few of the many friends of "Mark Twain" (Samuel L. Clemens) know of the plucky fight he is making with adversity, or how badly he has been used by fortune, says a London cable.

In a word, Mark Twain, who a few years ago thought himself a rich man, is today worse than penniless.

Since his return from Africa a few months ago, he has been living in very modest lodgings in London, going nowhere and seeing but one or two friends, working all day and every day at a history of his trip around the world.

With the proceeds of this book he hopes to be able to pay off his creditors and leave something for his family.

Mark Twain lost practically everything when Webster & Co. failed, and the lecture trip around the world, which he undertook with the hope of retrieving his fortune, did not turn out a financial success for him.

So, over 60 years of age, in poor health and in a strange country, America's greatest humorist is perhaps working harder than ever before.

Loses His Wife's Affection.

An action of $25,000 damages for alienating a wife's affections has been begun in the common pleas court by Graham Clarke, manager of the Lenox Company, against Henry T. Sandford, treasurer of the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling Railroad Co. The lawyers in the case tried to suppress the title of this case and the papers in court, but the thing came to light, notwithstanding. Clarke alleges that Sandford, who was formerly an inmate of his home, won Mrs. Clarke's affections, and when he found it out he ordered the man away. Sandford simulated sickness and took to his bed. One day when Clarke was down town the alleged invalid arose from his bed, and he and Mrs. Clarke left the house, she going to her mother's and he to her sister's, next door, where they are still living. All the parties are socially prominent.

Fortune of a Michigan Man.

The story of Thomas Hall's good fortune is attracting much attention at Ludington, Mich. His father and mother separated in Chicago 28 years ago.

The father died soon afterward, and the mother went to New York City, where, five years ago she left a fortune of $2,000,000 made by real estate speculation.

The other children were easily found. A Chicago lawyer learned from an old letter that the father had left his boy there, and by means of a birthmark Hall was identified. His share is about $50,000 a year. He is a farmer and had never heard of his father and mother.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.
