WAYSIDE GLEANINGS. Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

It is stated now that Durrant, the San Francisco murderer, is certain to be allowed a new trial.

Mrs. Nona Ruch now wears the medal for bowling, having won it yesterday afternoon in the contest.

Butler the Australian murderer, has one firm believer in his innocence, of whom he should feel proud; it is Durrant.

Monthly business meeting of the Epworth League will be held this evening at 7:30 in the class room of the M. E. church.

The equity suit of the Oregon Lumber Company against Buras and Levi Jones, was decided in favor of plaintiff by Judge Bradshaw today.

Our representative, Huntington, has his picture in the Oregonian today. It doesn't look much like B. S., but the intent will go for the deed.

The mud slide and wreck was removed from the O. R. & N. track at Bonneville yesterday in time to let the east-bound passenger through on time.

Mrs. Wm. Michell received a telegram today from Portage City, Wis., announcing the death of her father, Rev. Wm. Wells, who was aged 89 years.

Rain commenced falling yesterday afternoon, developing into a heavy shower during the night. In all, .55 of an inch fell up to this morning.

To celebrate Washington's birthday, a game of football will be played on the fair grounds here between an Albina team and The Dalles boys. Further particulars will be given later.

The Mormons won their fight in the legislature, electing Rawlins, the Mormon candidate, over Thatcher, the Gentle, to the United States senate yesterday. Thatcher is mad, and is going to contest Rawlins seat on that ground of church interference.

Do not fail to call on Dr. Lannerberg, the eye specialist, and have your eyes examined free of charge. If you suffer with headache or nervousness you undoubtedly have imperfect vision that, if corrected, will benefit you for life. Office in the Vogt block.

Mr. C. A. Gweek, a prominent attorney of Burns, was in the city today on his way to Portland, where he has commenced an action against the Cascade Military Wagon Road Company, to compel it to pay taxes. He may succeed and if he does, he will be entitled to a chromo.

The warehouse of the Oregon Central & Eastern Railway, in Lyons, Linn county, was broken into a few nights ago and a quantity of merchandise, amounting to about $75, being the property of Gibson Myers, was taken. A search warrant failed to locate the goods. The residence of Harry Lyons, son of James C. Lyons, and a blacksmith of the name of Beaumont were searched by the constable, with no result.

State Superintendent Irwin has reversed the decision of County Superintendent Waite, in the Civil Bend, Douglas county, school district case, setting aside Waite's division of the district. In his decision the superintendent holds that a legal voter in a school district means both the father and mother of children as well as taxpayers, and that the Civil Bend district, therefore, contains fifty-eight legal voters. It is understood that the Dillard people will have the case reviewed in the courts on the ground that the superintendent's decision is not good law.

The work of making convicts construct good roads throughout the great state of Texas is proceeding with commendable rapidity. The arrangement is that the state convicts shall prepare the material for road making, while the county convicts shall do the work on the roadbeds themselves.

Gov. W. P. Lord Thursday remitted the unserved portion of the sentence of Mrs. Anna Michaels of Multnomah county, who is serving a term of imprisonment of 100 days in the county jail in Portland, having been convicted of selling liquor in less quantities than one gallon without a license.

Death of an Editor.

E. P. Thorp, editor of the Cottage Grove Leader, died suddenly Monday morning, Feb. 3d. Mr. Thorp has not been well for some time, and remarked to a friend on his way home Sunday evening that he did not know whether he would live to get home or not.

He left home Monday morning about 8 o'clock to walk to his office from his farm about half a mile from town. Mr. Miller, who lives on Mr. Thorp's place, says when he left the house he seemed to be in his usual health.

About 20 minutes from the time he left the house he was found by some school children, reclining on the walk and apparently dead. Dr. Wall was summoned and when he arrived, pronounced him dead.

The coroner was notified and the body was taken in charge by the Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Thorp is a member. So far as known, he has no relatives in this state.

Gold on the Burlington Route.

The Burlington road, which has an office in Portland, under the charge of Mr. A. C. Sheldon, is developing a number of rich mines along the line of its route.

The most recent rich gold discovery has been made at Bald mountain, in the Black hills of South Dakota. The story of the finding of the mines, from which the discoverer has already taken enough ore to make him immensely rich, reads like a fairy tale, and is as follows:

One day not long ago a man approached a party of miners at Bald mountain and stated that he was looking for work. The men told him they had nothing for him to do, whereupon he asked to be directed to good prospecting ground.

He stated that he was not a miner and knew nothing about such work. The men directed him to a large ledge of limestone about a mile and a half south, and said there was a good place. He proceeded to the place pointed out at once, where he selected a number of samples of the rock by breaking them off the ledge with a hammer.

After working about the place all day he sacked his samples and started off to Deadwood, where he had the ore assayed. The assayer was the most astonished man in Deadwood, for the ore ran about $200 to the ton.

The tenderfoot did not say a word, but returned to Bald mountain and located the whole country and began shipping boulders from the top of the ground, which have made him independently rich. The people who at first were inclined to laugh at the man from the East, as he is called, are now taking up claims, and the greatest excitement exists.

A. O. U. W. Social Last Night.

One of the most delightful affairs of the winter, was the reception given the Degree of Honor, by Temple lodge, A. O. U. W., last night. After the close of the lodge and at about 8:30, the doors were thrown open, and members of the Degree of Honor and others related to members of the A. O. U. W. filed in.

The hall was cheerfully "decorated" with tables reaching clear around it, and a fine supper was served, being preceded by a short program consisting of two songs by the quartet, a solo by Dr. Lannerberg, and a few remarks by the writer hereof.

The music was heartily applauded, and deserved the encore it received. After the supper was attended to, the tables were removed and dancing was indulged in until midnight. Of course we cannot say how much pleasure other societies get out of their meetings, but if any of them equal the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor, they are daisies.

An Indian Legislator.

The arrival at the state capital, of the representative of the Passamaquoddy Indians is noted by a newspaper correspondent as follows:

"Athrau Lewy, of Peter Dana's Point, the representative of the Passamaquoddy Indians to the legislature, came in this afternoon and at once proceeded to the gallery of the house, where in a few moments he was fast asleep on the settees. He is not at all careful about his personal appearance and would, under ordinary circumstances, be taken for an inhabitant of the reservation of basket makers that live at Old Orchard during the summer. He had a slip of paper about two inches wide and four inches long wrapped in a newspaper which he seemed so careful that it was supposed to contain the needs of his reservation in the way of appropriations. Reporters got at him and he at last unwrapped the paper and exposed to view a written request for a copy of the revised statutes and a Freeman supplement. He was told where he could get them and went about thereafter as if a heavy load had been taken off his mind. He is 82 years old, and in some respects a rather remarkable red man. Over sixty-five years ago he first came to the legislature and at that time paddled the entire distance from Princeton to the capital in a canoe. The representative from the Penobscot tribe of Indians has not yet arrived. They receive about $100 for the session, are allowed seats in the house, but have no vote. About the only legislation they ever want is a change of Indian agent, as they always claim he does not give them enough, although the present incumbents seem to be giving satisfaction.—East Port Sentinel.

Here is a diamond, here a piece of charcoal. Both carbon; yet between them stands the mightiest of magicians—Nature. The food on your table, and your own body; elementally the same; yet between the two stands the digestion, the arbiter of growth or decline, life or death.

We cannot make a diamond; we cannot make flesh, blood and bone. No. But by means of the Shaker Digestive Cordial we can enable the stomach to digest food which would otherwise ferment and poison the system. In all forms of dyspepsia and incipient consumption, with weakness, loss of flesh, thin blood, nervous prostration the Cordial is the successful remedy. Taken with food it relieves at once. It nourishes, and assists nature to nourish. A trial bottle—enough to show its merit—10 cents.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

THE BEAN AUTOMATIC SPRAY PUMP.

Is, unquestionably, the most successful and perfect working Spraying Device yet invented.

It is a universal testimony that more, as well as better, work can be accomplished with the Bean Spray Pump than with any other pump on the market.

With this pump one man can charge the receptacle and leave it to direct the spray just where it is wanted, and thus with sufficient hose pass from tree to tree. The solution is delivered in a fine mist or spray, penetrating every nook and corner, thus doing better and more effective work than is possible by any other method, and with no waste whatever of solution.

For further particulars see special circular or call upon or correspond with.
