THE COMING FIGHT.

And now comes word that the great battle between Corbett and Fitzsimmons is to take place in Nevada, instead of over the telephone. We are glad of it. Glad that the short-haired gentlemen may meet without fear of the law, and punch each other's lungs to a finish. Carson City has been selected as the scene of the battle, and already one excursion from Chicago has been organized and hotel accommodations secured by it for 1000 persons. But there are others. New York, St. Louis, Boston, and the other great moral and religious centers, will send excursions, and probably 10,000 people will be carried across the continent to see the bruisers pound each other.

The battle ground is peculiarly well chosen, for Carson City has been the scene of many a political contest, where the men with the longest sack generally put his opponent to sleep.

Nevada's legislature is still in session, and we would suggest that it go still further and offer the Louisiana lottery a refuge. It might also start an American Monte Carlo, and become the licensed gambling house of the United States. It only has a population of 50,000, and these might all be taken into the different gambling organizations, and prize-fighting associations as stockholders and directors.

Nevada may yet find that she was not created in vain.

THEY KNOW NOT WHY.

And now it is claimed Penoyer has taken a hand in the senatorial fight, and has advised the Populists and Democrats to assist in organizing the house. It is not probable the Populists will pay any attention to him. They are not built that way. When a Populist gets the bits between his teeth he considers it his bounden duty to run away with the band wagon, and never stop until he has kicked the breeching off and torn things up generally. They lose sight of all matters they claim to desire, and ruin everything they claim to advocate. A beggar on horseback and a Populist in office each comply with the proverbial ride to the d—l.

If they expect to gain anything by holding up the legislature, they don't know what it is. They have simply got into the middle of the road at the dictation of Jonathan Bourne, and against all their party interests, and do not know enough to get out of it. They do not know where they are at, nor why; and they never will know.

Bilyeu, in his speech before the joint convention yesterday, said: "I warn you that if the legislature is not organized, and at once, I wash my hands of the whole business. I am tired of walking the streets of Salem, waiting for a majority to get together and do its duty. The people who elected me know I am no fool; or at least they believe so, else they would not have sent me here." We fear our friend, Bilyeu, is faulty in his reasoning and flattering to himself in his conclusions. If a man was a fool, and the people knew it, what better place could they find to send him than the Oregon legislature? Bilyeu will have to take something home with him better than the reputation he has established so far in this session, if he expects his supporters to think him anything else than a fool.

But ten days more remain of the legislative session, and what they will bring forth no man knows. Yesterday the joint session made a gain of one, Lee and Bilyeu attending, while one of the other members was away from the city; so that, as far as the joint session is concerned, there are now forty members in favor of it, or taking part in it. Six more are needed, but whether they can be secured or not remains to be seen. The Mitchell forces are gaining confidence that they will yet win, and the gain in attendance on the joint convention is in their favor.

An article appearing in this issue on the subject of Hawaii and its commerce with the United States, and the necessity of annexation to this country, is clipped from the Honolulu Commercial Advertiser. An article of similar import appears in the Hawaiian Star, of the same date, and they go to show the importance the Hawaiians attach to the matter of annexation. It is well worth perusing, as it gives one an idea of the present value of our trade with the islands, and of the vast possibilities of the future.
