If populated by Americans, Hawaii will constitute a very mighty American outpost default, tried in open court and decree for the purpose of dominating the commerce of this ocean.

> The elements which are to contribute to this commerce are such as to render certain an enormous development at no distant period. On one side of the $1 00 per bottle at Blakeley & Houghocean are the 350,000,000 of China and ton's Drug Store. 40,000,000 of Japan, both nations highly civilized and productive. On the southwest is Australia, soon to count 5,000,000 and then 10,000,000 of the powerful and able to expect European populations of ruary 10, at 1 o'clock p. m. 40,000,000 each in Australia and on the Pacific coast of North America. The commerce now growing and to be developed in the future between such great populations demands active and timely provision.

Honolulu, the capital of Hawaii, is the central port of Pacific commerce. What record is given there of its growth? As the most positive test, take the following brief tabulation of the number of Honolulu in the last quarters of 1890,

1893 and 1896:
	Brit.	Am.	Jap.	Tota
1890	5	9	0	14
1893	11	7	1	19
1896	22	13	4	39

Notice the number of steamship arrivals has near doubled in three years, barn; running spring of water. Mrs. Julius Wiley, who has been present rate of increase of trans-Pacific steamer traffic, there seems indicated a probability that withing ten years there will be thirty arrivals a month at Honolulu.

It is nearly certain, however, that a new and highly stimulating element is soon to enter the steam traffic of the Pacific, especially that part which must call at Honolulu. That is the opening of a canal at either Panama or Nicaragua, probably the latter. A vast fleet of steamers will soon commence running will naturally call at Honolula to replenish their coal supply. These may possibly double the number of steamers arriving monthly at Honolulu.

Now it is nearly certain that the great majority of those steamers will be British. Consider the natural effect upon Honolulu of being visited by say forty steamers a month, to perhaps ten American. Unless Hawaii is previously occupied by an American population, and is an American country, it must inevitably succumb to this preponderating British commercial influence. British merchants and agents will naturally multiply and possess the commerce and the country. The advantage thus lost, will not be so easy to recover; nor will it be so easy at a later day to take possession of what is already practically in

A LOTTERY BILL.

Attempt Will Be Made to Get Une Through Nevada Legislature.

San Francisco, Feb. 8 .- A plan is said to be on foot to engineer a lottery bill through the Nevada legislature. Local capitalists, who are reputed to be behind the undertaking, were, it is said, so impressed by the ease with which a bill was passed by the Nevada legislature enabling the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight to be held within the state, that it is reported the sum of $100,000 has been subscribed for the expenses of lobbying the bill through the legislature.
