Table titled 'Advertising Rates' showing rates per inch for various ad lengths and frequencies.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow, snow and colder. Rehearsals for the Dickens entertainment began last night. Watch the paper for locals.

The funeral of Miss Jessie Butler will take place from the M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Choice wheat, oat, timothy and bottom hay for sale cheap at J. H. Cross' feed and grocery store.

There will be a called meeting of the Epworth League tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to arrange for the funeral of Miss Jessie Butler. Thursday two divorce suits were granted, Frank J. Meyer getting segregated from Annie M. Meyer, and Retty Staley from J. E. Staley.

The total receipts of the masquerade were $145, expenses $55, leaving a balance of $90, which was turned over to Mr. Crate at noon today. The examination of teachers for county certificates closed last evening. Today there are two applications for state certificates, one for state diploma and one for state life diploma.

Lots 4, 5, 6 and 7 in Sec. 6, Tp. 1 N. R. 10 E., were sold by the sheriff today, by order of the circuit court, in the case of J. J. Spencer vs. W. R. Winans and others. The plaintiff bid in the property for $1,208.47. The case of the State against Osburn is on trial today, and will probably be concluded tonight. The evidence is all circumstantial, and with Judge Bennett for the defense, it is certain that the chain of evidence will have to be proven very straight if a conviction is had.

Do not fail to call on Dr. Lannerberg, the eye specialist, and have your eyes examined free of charge. If you suffer with headache or nervousness you undoubtedly have imperfect vision that, if corrected, will benefit you for life. Office in the Vogt block.

The Woodmen Dramatic club of Dufur will make its appearance before the Dufur public, February 17, in the play of "The Deacon." It is in five acts, and we judge from the synopsis given in the Dispatch with the talent of the characters, it will be one worth hearing.

J. W. Taylor, son of Osborn Taylor, near 12-Mile, was thrown from a wagon Tuesday morning by an unruly team, and suffered a severe dislocation of his left shoulder. The displaced bones were readjusted by Dr. Dietrich, and in a few days young Taylor will be himself again.—Dufur Dispatch.

A shouter at Salem, defending Senator Carter, said he knew he told the truth that Carter crossed the plains in '52, and, said he, "those old pioneers cannot tell a lie. They are different from the men who came by easier modes of transportation." The shouter came by the easier modes, hence his statement, so unqualifiedly made.

Washington and Idaho, will visit The Dalles next Thursday and Friday evenings. Thursday evening an admission of 10 cents will be charged, when the major will speak on their future pauper policy and housing of the poor in America. Captain Sheridan, of Seattle, will accompany them. An interesting program has been arranged.

The anniversary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will be observed at the M. E. church Sunday evening at 7:30. A paper by Miss Eva Foster, the returned missionary, will very clearly show the work in Singapore. Mrs. Warren will make a short address. Some special music will be rendered by home talent. All are most cordially invited.

At the Congregational church, corner of Court and Fifth streets, services as usual. At 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. worship, and a sermon by the pastor, W. C. Curtis. Sunday school immediately after the morning service. Meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Topic, What our denomination is doing; Zach. iv:1-12. All persons not worshipping elsewhere are cordially invited.

The dispatches state that President-elect McKinley will convene congress soon after his inauguration, for the purpose of amending the tariff laws. It is somewhat of a coincidence that when Cleveland was elected upon a tariff reform issue, he convened congress to monkey with the financial buzz saw, and ignored the tariff. McKinley was elected on the financial issues, and convenes congress to change the tariff.

Tomorrow being St. Valentine's day, and it being Sunday makes the delivery of the tender and sentimental tokens of love-gladdened hearts somewhat tedious. However, they will keep much longer perhaps in safety than the infantile love which is responsible for them. One thing is gained, and that is that the cheap fellows, calculated to turn the milk of all human kindness to gall, will also be delayed, and perhaps will not be sent out so numerous as usual.

This morning a slender and graceful gentleman, with a smooth and smiling countenance, drove up to Pease & Mays, seated in the firm's delivery wagon. He was dressed in a long linen duster and apparently wearing a mask. The boys in the store at first thought it was the much talked of harbinger of spring, but finally concluded it was some man who had attended the masquerade and had forgotten to remove his costume. A critical examination proved the latter surmise to be true, and when the mask was removed it turned out to be none other than Tom Ward.

Newspaper men are blamed with a lot of things they can't help, such as using partiality in mentioning visitors, giving news about some folks and leaving others out, etc. He simply prints the news he can find. Some people inform us of things and others do not. An editor should not be expected to know names and residences of all your uncles, aunts and cousins, even if he should see them get on and off the train. Tell us about it. It's news that makes a newspaper, and every man, woman and child can be an associate editor if he would.—Walla Walla Gazette.

DIED.

In this city, Friday, Feb. 12th, of typhoid fever, Jessie Butler, aged 16 yrs., 7 mo. and 7 days.

And thus, after weeks of suffering, one of the sweetest and most lovable of characters has been taken from the home circle and from the many friends to whom she had endeared herself.

Jessie Butler was born in Ottawa, Kan., July 5, 1880, and came with her parents to The Dalles when about 2 years of age. She was converted about a year ago, when she joined the Methodist church, being taken into full connection two months ago. In every branch of church work and deeds of charity connected therewith she was foremost, and often in the hours of her delirium did she speak of the noble work which she loved. In her home life and with her schoolmates the sweetness of her disposition was most apparent, and in her quiet way she won all hearts.

Jessie's death has been doubly hard for her parents, brother and sisters to bear from the fact that having at one time during her sickness given up all hope, they were led to believe, as she rallied and become somewhat better, that she might be spared, only to have those hopes overthrown after days and nights of patient vigil.

If in such sorrows sympathy could avail, their's would be a lighter load; but in such an hour human sympathy fails to be a balm.

THE BRADLEY-MARTIN BALL.

It Costs Them $300,000, and the Guests as Much More.

The Bradley-Martin ball which has caused so much comment is a thing of the past. It was the most costly affair of the kind ever given in America, and consequently Mrs. Bradley-Martin is supremely happy. A dispatch a day or so since gave the following description of the affair:

Never in New York has a greater floral display been made at a ball. Tiny electric lights and colors were used in a bewildering and artistic manner, all combining to transform the already beautiful hotel to an enchanting fairy home. The arrangements for the ball were tested to their fullest, but with excellent good fortune they were equal to every emergency. Thousands of men and women crowded the streets around the hotel, but the police kept them moving and no conflicts or excitement of any kind resulted. Detectives swarmed in and around the house to prevent trouble, but their presence was not needed.

The costumes were exquisite. All the great men and women of the last three centuries were represented. Arrayed in raiment costly beyond the dream of the originals were the men and women who appeared last night as ladies and gentlemen of the olden periods.

At midnight the great ball was at its height. All society was there gathered to portray the regal splendor of past centuries. The great ball room of the Waldorf, beautiful with a wealth of roses and fragrance, was then a scene of grandeur never before equaled in this country. Courtiers of old, of every clime, mingled with grand dames and ladies, kings and queens, princes and princesses; but here and there the old spirit of loyalty had manifested itself in the presence of colonial men and women of the old and quaint days in America.

The only way to bring the magnificence of this ball home to the understanding of common people, who consider a one dollar hat check charge as robbery, is by comparison. This Martin ball broke the record. It outshone the famous Vanderbilt ball of fourteen years ago, which has stood as the high water mark of extravagance in New York.

Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt's ball, March 26, 1882, cost $250,000, while Mrs. Bradley-Martin's cost $300,000.

Between 1500 and 2000 guests were present. All of the costumes of the members of the Bradley-Martin family were bought in New York. Mrs. Martin bought 300 pairs of silk stockings at $5 a pair for the servants. They appeared in the costumes of the period of Louis XV. Four hundred carriages at $7 each, were ordered by the Martins for the guests. The carriages were arranged in a procession, and guests on leaving took the first carriage at the door. This prevented confusion, and obviated the necessity of calling out numbers.

It is announced by the "gossips of Gotham," that the ball was given ostensibly to announce the engagement to Miss Alice Post, niece of Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt, to Bradley-Martin, Jr. While this is denied by the Martins, it is stated in society circles to be a fact.

The Masquerade.

The event of the season was last night's masquerade. The Bradley-Martin function wasn't in it, near it, or to be mentioned in the same day with it.

At 8:30 the grand march commenced and developed into a kaleidoscope of beautiful colors and geometrical figures. That is, the figures of the dance were geometrical, but those of the maskers were curves of beauty and nature's own magnificent handiwork. The masquerade was different from any ever held here, being noticeable for its lack of tramps, squaws, Indians, negroes and clowns, and for the neat, tasty and sometimes gorgeous costuming. Everybody was there to have a good time and they had it. Shortly after 10 o'clock the masks were removed and the prizes distributed, to the following winners:

Handsomest costume, lady, Mrs. Burns, Spanish senorita; best sustained character, Miss Emma Jacobsen, railroad; best waltzer, Miss Wilma Teague; handsomest costume, gentleman, Fred. Burchtorf, Spanish Caballero; best sustained character, Fred. Lemke, colonial duke; best waltzer, M. Hansen; most comical character, Joe Woodford, apple peddler.

The immense hall was filled with dancers, and the stage and every available place with spectators. Financially as well as socially it was a decided success and will leave quite a neat little sum for its worthy recipient, John Crate. One hundred and eighteen tickets were sold. The music was furnished by the Birgfeld orchestra and that requires no further comment.

Those masking were as follows: LADIES. Pauline Drews, Mother Hubbard; Ellen Jensen, cook; Ida Burchtorf, flower girl; Thora Jensen, sunflower; Mrs. Bunnell, morning glory; Emma Jacobsen, railroad; Retta Aiken, Spanish dancer; Mrs. Wyke, little girl; Mrs. Webber, gold standard; Mrs. Harding, kite; Mrs. Burns, Spanish girl; Mrs. Blagdon, Turkish lady; Rose Wilkins, school girl; Miss Teague, morning; Miss Christine Phirman, night; Annie Patterson, Grecian lady; Mamie Patterson, Scotch lassie; Mrs. Melquist, domino; Miss Leo Nelson, domino; Mrs. Nickelson, night; Lena Belmer, Grecian girl. GENTLEMEN.

J. Jacobsen, fireman; H. Butts, fireman; T. Butts, negro wench; Bill Gosser, Arthur Stubling, Chas. Burchtorf, Jackson Hose Company; B. Hansen; Ed. Burchtorf, clown; Arthur Burg; J. W. Douthit, smoker; August Bostrous; Henry Snipes, tramp; James McCown, hobo; Will Frank, Josh Spruceby; C. Murray, sport; Fred Snipes, Scottish chief; George Moabus, Markus; Will Norman, dude con; Frank Huott, Uncle Sam; Frank Sandrock, Prince de Leon; Harry Hampshire, Spanish cavalier; F. W. Blagden, wild Indian; Tom Ward, Turk; L. Richardson, Uncle Sam; T. E. Ward, French cavalier; Uncle Joe, apple seller; Rudolph Frank, Lafayette; August Decker, Ole Oleson; J. C. Lewis, gold bug; Peter Ekman, Turk; Charlie Frank, Robin Hood; Fred Burchtorf, Spanish caballero; Bob Teague, Sioux Indian; M. Hansen, summer dude; R. Hasell, Barnum's clown; Fred Lemke, colonial duke; Charlie Frank, fortune teller; E. G. Moore, lootcall; M. Cushing, Cuba liberty; Joe Studeucker, Gen. Weyler.

New Officers.

Columbia Hose Company held its annual meeting Thursday evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, F. S. Gunning; secretary, F. J. Brown; treasurer, J. F. Hampshire; foreman, Grant Mays; 1st assistant, E. Jensen; board of delegator, C. E. Dawson, F. S. Gunning and H. M. French.

The following having duly and honorably served their time, handed in their resignations: Joe Worsley, E. C. Pease, H. A. Bill, C. C. Cooper, F. W. Bayley. Mr. Worsley's resignation was something of an event, he having served with the company for full 20 years. This fact called forth many congratulations, mingled with regrets at his severing his long connection with the company.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. B. S. Huntington came up from Salem last night.

Mrs. Norton came up from Portland last night, and is visiting friends here.

Mr. Mullay, deputy collector of internal revenue, finished his labors here last night and left for Portland this afternoon.

Miss Nellie Butler arrived on last night's train from Portland. A telegram was received from Mrs. Cora Dyart, who lives in Centralia, saying that on account of sickness it will be impossible for her to be here to attend the funeral of her sister, Jessie Butler.

THE BEAN AUTOMATIC SPRAY PUMP.

It is, unquestionably, the most successful and perfect working spraying device yet invented.

It is a universal testimony that more, as well as better, work can be accomplished with the Bean Spray Pump than with any other pump on the market.

With this pump one man can charge the receptable and leave it to direct the spray just where it is wanted, and thus with sufficient hose pass from tree to tree. The solution is delivered in a fine mist or spray, penetrating every nook and corner, thus doing better and more effective work than is possible by any other method, and with no waste whatever of solution.
