THE DALLES, OREGON

A Fine Institution.

The new St. Vincent's hospital, dedicated the 14th of July, 1895, has been justly called, by admirers, "The Pride handsomest buildings of the city, it is, ters not for themselves alone, not simwhat is far more important, the first, ply to avoid the world and all its vain best, modern, up-to-date, hospital of pomps, but first and above all for the the Pacific Coast.

Situated on the side of Portland's hills at a height of 220 feet above the base of city grades, it not only is beyond the malarial atmosphere, but, as all most superb panorama that can be seen in picturesque Oregon.

The building, easily accessible by two lines of city cars, is an immense brick structure on a foundation of stone, 260 feet in length and six stories high, and so constructed that, not the outside walls alone, but every third partition, for the love of the God they adore, but dividing rooms in the house, extends in one solid mass from foundation to roof, so making it a perfect "Gibralter."

To add to security in case of fire, large iron doors separate the halls into compartments, and from basement to roof, on the rear of the building, extend massive fire escapes. The six corridors are twelve feet wide and terminate on in and day out, year in and year out. each end of the building in balconies.

A large(7x10) electric elevator is operated in the central section of building, and so designed to comfortably carry patients from one floor to another without removing them from their cots. Add to this a perfect system of attachments-electric bells, and speaking tubes-and rapid transit and communication in the house is perfect.

The visiting staff of the house is composed of the most eminent surgeons and physicians of the West, namely: Doctors H. E. Jones, W. Jones, K. A. J. Mackenzie, J. F. Bell, A. C. Smith, E. F. Tucker, J. F. Dickson, (ear, eye, nose and throat specialist), W. H. Boyd, D. but the dreary world within the cold H. Rand, H. Lane, J. D. Fenton, F. Cauthorn, O. S. Biswanger, A. W. Moore, R. L. Gillespie, E. Linden, and J. C. Perry, (U. S. Marine hospital surgeon). The resident house surgeons are Drs. A. W. Trimble, G. Burdorf, and L. thousands to whom she devotes her vir-Marks. All surgeons and physicians are tues, her intellectual accomplishments. welcome to bring patients to the house, and every attention is guaranteed.

The charges for the ward is $7, and for private rooms, $14 per week and upwards.

Finally, last but not least, patients are cared for by Sisters, many of whom have had from fifteen to twenty years experience in hospitals, and who have physicians and surgeons.

A FRIEND OF THE HOSPITAL. Deatness Cannot be Cured

FOR WOMAN'S GOOD. Noble Self-Sacrifice of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

"The hermits of old" forswore al! the pleasures of life that they might devote themselves entirely to meditation and prayer-the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, in this nineteenin century, renounce all the material benefits of Portland." Whilst it is one of the of life and shut themselves up in cloispreservation and redemption of womanhood. God's creatures first-unprotected girlhood and erring, sorrowing womanhood-the salvation of these constitute the life work of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. For this noble visitors will acknowledge, affords the and Christian end they leave home and friends, ease and luxury, and renounce the world as completely as "the hermits of old."

No one can join the order of the Good Shepherd unless her reputation and the reputation of her family is free from all blemish. And yet these spotless women not only bury themselves alive they gladly give themselves heart and soul to the preservation and redemption of their less fortunate sisters.

Deep within the stone walls of the mausoleum which they call their "house" they work earnestly and lovingly, with willing hands, cheerful hearts, and dauntless energy, from four in the morning till nine at night, day from the day they take their vows. pledging themselves to God and their special work to the day they lie in their cells dying-and all for womanhood; for her preservation, if she is virtuous but helpless; for her salvation if she is fallen.

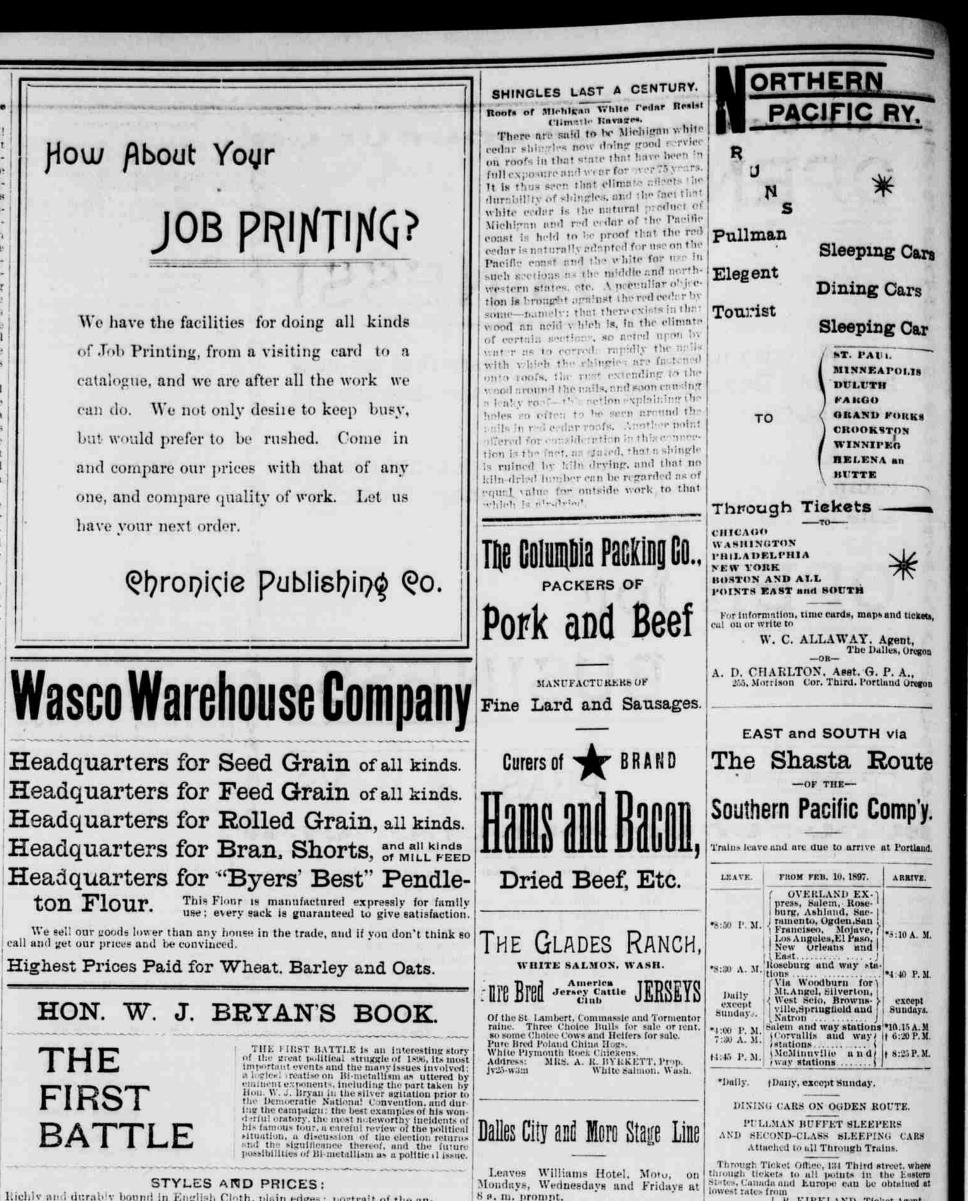

Fallen woman, when the world turns from her in scorn, when she drinks the bitter dregs of humiliation and degradation, when all is lost but life and the power of suffering, fallen woman in her last extremity can always find a home and a refuge beneath the same roof as the pure, self-sacrificing Sister of the Good Shepherd.

To this heaven-inspired sister there is no world, and there never will be any stone walls around her; no society but that of helpless innocents or wrecked unfortunates; and yet she goes through her life cheerful and happy, content and joyful if she save by gentle precept and exemplary conduct a few out of the her patience and her life .- Chicago Tribune.

THE GRAPE INDUSTRY.

An Important Business in the Eastern States.

The management of the vineyard is an interesting study and one which to be successful requires technical knowledge. In the large vineyards, as a rule, worked by the side of the most eminent the owner himself gives personal supervision to every detail; sometimes a manager or overseer performs these duties. One of the largest growers in this section tells me that the most suc by local applications, as they cannot cessful grower is the foreigner, who reach the diseased portion of the ear. with his family of eight or ten comes There is only one way to cure deafness, and lenses or buys 25 or 50 acres of and that is by constitutional remedies. land, each member of the family having Deatuess is caused by an inflamed con- his or her part in the work to perform Richly and durably bound in English Cloth, plain edges ; portrait of the anfrom spring until picking time, while the winter is devoted to the making of imperfect hearing, and when it is en- sold the proceeds return to the family tirely closed, Deafness is the result, and as the profit on the individual labor of the large owner who is compelled to condition, hearing will be destroyed for. hire help to do each little thing, in addiby catarrh, which is nothing but an in- of any consequence raised in this region, and some idea of the magnitude of the business carried on may be had when it is known that the shipments any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) this year from Chautauoua county alone that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh amounted to 3,500 car loads, 3,000 baskets of ten pounds each in each car. These are taken from the grower by some one of the numerous growers' associations, whose business it is to find a market. Strange as it may seem it is nevertheless true that three-fourths of them go to points west of Chicago, while the other one-fourth travels eastward. The making of baskets is an imporployed. The price ranges from two to two and a half cents per basket; thus the grower who would find his business in any way profitable must in addition to the cost of the basket realize at least one cent per pound for his grapes, while to-day it is a common thing to find a ten-pound basket on the retail market slow sale at ten cents. Thus we find that the utmost care must taken in the management of a vineyard to make it profitable .- Robert Lew Seymour, in Chautauquan.
