A COWARDLY COUNTRY.

It were hard to decide which civilized nation of the earth is at present showing the greatest evidence of moral cowardice. Looking at the situation in Turkey, we should say England was entitled to the honor; but as we cast our eyes on Cuba, we feel that England isn't in it. In Armenia and Crete the Turks are killing the citizens of those places. In Cuba the Spaniards are killing not only the Cubans, but every day or so they assassinate a citizen of the United States.

England, with all her cowardice, protects her own. The United States alone can be slapped to sleep by a tenth-rate power, and has not the courage to resent it.

Russia conducts her affairs as though she expected to exist as a nation forever, and so is regardless of time. In 1878 on the settlement of the Turkish war indemnity, it was arranged that Turkey was to pay Russia $1,500,000 a year for 100 years. In 1892, Turkey being unable to meet her payments, Russia scaled down her debt to one-half the original sum, and recently a further reduction was made, Russia agreeing to take 25 per cent of the original sum, and at the same time the period of payment was extended 400 years. When the carving comes to be done, Russia will be on hand with her claims, and will demand a liberal share of the white meat in payment of her debt.

It is astonishing how quickly the governments of Europe can unite to attack Greece to prevent that plucky little nation protecting Christians from the murderous Turks. Their speedy action is in direct contrast with that a few short weeks ago, when they all sat idly by while the Turkish soldiery massacred defenseless women and children. If it has become necessary to maintain peace in Europe to permit wholesale murder, to humor the fancy of the unspeakable Turk for massacre, and to suffer the Christian population of Crete to be slaughtered, then the sooner the peace of Europe is destroyed, the better.

Carnegie and others have been charging Uncle Sam $600 a ton for armor plate. Secretary Herbert thought the price too high, and suggested that $400 would be sufficient. Carnegie replied that it could not be made profitably for less than $450; but now that the iron bases have fallen out, offers are made to furnish any quantity of it for $240 a ton. Somebody has evidently been lying about the matter.

Over in the Washington legislature Jory, the member from Yakima, explains some foolish actions of his by saying he is troubled with "dyspepsia of the brain." We suggest this to the member from this county who cannot tell Bourne's headquarters from the state capitol. But no; that cannot be, for while it may be dyspepsia, it certainly never attacked that brain.

No man knows what the Oregon legislature will do; but from the proceedings Monday it looks as though no agreement can be reached, and that adjournment sine Deo will take place tomorrow. Some think the senate cannot adjourn without the consent of the house. If this be true, and the house refuses to organize, the senate will have to sit for two years.

Judge Bellinger in his attempt to force a right of way for the boat railway over private lands without having the government pay what the right of way is found by the juries to be worth, is doing great damage to the Northwest, by delaying the construction of the boat railway. Nothing can be done until the right-of-way question is settled, and the matter bids fair to be postponed indefinitely on that account. The loss to the people by delay is a hundred times greater than the total sums awarded for the right of way.

General Weyler, the Cuban butcher, is getting frightened. Recently the insurgents have made it extremely tropical for him, and he is in constant fear of being killed by a sharp-shooter. There will be no extensive evidences of regret in this country should he be popped over at any time.

American steel rail makers have met the competition of the world in the world's markets, recently securing a contract for 13,000 tons of steel rails for a Japanese railroad at 13 cents less per ton than all other bidders.
