"Is marriage a failure?" At the Vogt March 2d.

The Regulator will make her trip as usual tomorrow, connecting with the line at the Cascades.

Geo. P. Morgan announces himself as a candidate for school clerk, his card appearing in this issue.

Wanted—Employment in general merchandise or grocery store. Best of references. Address H. Umatilla house.

The Oregonian announces the marriage at St. Helene, Or., of Captain Sullivan, of the steamer T. J. Potter, and Mrs. Laura Logan.

"To particularize any of his selections would be folly, suffice to say that Herr Walthers' equal has never been heard in this city."—Sinla Pioneer.

The Herrin photograph gallery is reopened by Mr. H. E. Hammond. Strictly first-class photos, turned out. Prices are very reasonable. 26-3t

"We can only hope that this is not the last we shall hear of Herr Carl Walthers. He easily surpassed any violinist that has yet visited our shores."—Bombay Gazette.

Mr. Hugh Glenn is up from Goble to remain till tomorrow. He tells us the weather has been good for a couple of weeks, and that work on the right of way was progressing rapidly.

Mr. S. L. Brooks, who has been superintending the work of repairing the Dalles City, came up from Portland

Saturday, returning today. He tells us the boat will be ready to go on her route by the last of the week, and that she will be the handsomest boat on the middle river.

One of the finest entertainments of the kind ever afforded the people of any community was given last night at the Park Avenue United Presbyterian Church. She convinced her audience that she is an artist of high order. Miss Hext's posings in Greek costume were an exhibition of the highest art.—Omaha Bee.

The big rabbit drive near Prineville a week ago yesterday was entirely successful, about 700 rabbits being killed. On the drive a small stream had to be crossed, and up to this point the Review says, there were several thousand rabbits ahead of the drivers. They made a stand at the creek, and finally a grand dash for liberty, the greater number escaping.

Artistic Advertising.

The special work done by the Dawson Lithographing Co. of this city for The Dalles Minstrels, deserves, and is receiving, the highest praise. The managers are sparing no pains to make the show a success; in fact some of their pains can be detected in the countenances of the actors, especially in that of Professor Love in his serpentine dance. His face has a sort of a what-will-I-do-with-these-skirts expression, that betrays the agony of his soul. The picture of Johnny Hampshire is so natural that it can be recognized across the street, though few would want to recognize it if there were strangers around. That of H. B. Morse is also a daisy while the others each have a beauty, sweetness and a suggestiveness all their own.

Laying all facetiousness aside, Mr. Dawson has done some excellent work, and we doubt if ever a local minstrel troupe had such an excellent lot of "lithographs." The show is going to be a good one, and it is going to have the biggest house ever attending an affair of the kind in this city.

Low-Down Scoundrels.

While Louie Davenport and his family were attending the literary exercises at the Mosier schoolhouse Saturday night last, some rascally scoundrel or scoundrels, cut the wires on his fence for a distance of 450 yards, cutting and breaking down the posts. This morning he discovered that three of his cows had been poisoned, but he has hopes of saving them.

The penitentiary is too good for a man who will, to gratify a feeling of spite or revenge, destroy another's property, but this is a light offense when compared to that of poisoning dumb beasts. Dante's Inferno provided no place bad enough to furnish an adequate punishment for the offense. The scoundrels are unknown, but not unsuspected, and it is hoped that they may be speedily found and sent where for a few years, at least, they cannot give play to their depraved instincts.

Sherman County Sheepmen.

Mr. C. A. Buckley, writing from Grass Valley, Sherman county, to the Oregonian concerning the action of the sheepmen of that section says:

"The annual meeting of the Sherman County Sheepraisers' Association was held at this place on the 22d inst., and by an unanimous vote it was decided to levy a $3 tax per 1000 sheep owned by members of the association for the purpose of a bounty on coyotes. This county is paying a bounty of $1, and the association is paying 50 cents additional where the coyote is killed on the range of a member. During the past year this county has paid for 598 scalps, and the association has paid the additional 50 cents on 265 of that number.

Now, supposing the above number had not been killed. Who could estimate the damage that would occur from the loss of sheep and lambs, saying nothing about the chickens, pigs and calves that would have come to grief? Not less than 1000 sheep have been saved in this county, and probably as many lambs would have been killed this spring through the lambing season. Our association also discussed the tariff on wool, and it was decided to favor eight or ten cents on wool in the grease, double on washed, and triple on scoured; fifty cents duty on shoddy, and all duties (on wool) specific.

A special meeting of the association will be held at this place March 13th, at which time we expect every sheepowner in the county to be present and register as member.

Not Angry, but Hurt.

We have been aware for quite a number of years, (how many we will not say) that we were a regular modest little daisy, because all of our best girls have told us so hundreds of times. We did not know though, that we were a cute little "dacksie," until those lithographs in the windows on Second street made us aware of it. The artist successfully caught the fleeting and patient maternal smile that has chased itself across our countenance recently, but in so doing, neglected what might be called the basis of the picture. We want it distinctly understood that as a nidificator we have no equal, hence, while we do not feel at all angry, we do feel hurt at the artists work in that line. We leave the nest tomorrow night forever.

Death of Owen Williams.

Owen Williams died at Good Samaritan hospital Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. He had been ailing for some time, but his condition was not considered dangerous until about a month ago. He went to Portland about the 1st of February in hopes of finding relief, but the doctors soon discovered that he was suffering from cancer of the stomach, and that his death was only a question of a short time. His partner, Mr. Charles Stubling, was with him for several days previous to his death.

Owen Williams was born in Wales in August 1843, came to the United States about the year 1860, and to The Dalles about 1870, though he has not resided here continuously. The only relative of his in this country is a niece living in New York, and one sister in Wales, survives him.

He was a member of the B. P. O. E. of this city, under whose ceremonies the funeral was conducted. He also belonged to the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows, holding membership in San Francisco lodges.

He was a most excellent man, of a quiet and retiring disposition, a heart easily moved to sympathy, a sympathy, too, accompanied with a generous hand.

The body was brought here Sunday, a deputation from the lodge of Elks at Portland escorting it to the train. Arriving here, it was taken to the Stubling residence, and from it the funeral took place, Rev. L. Grey delivering the sermon. The Elks, Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows, and many true friends followed the body to its last resting place, to pay their last tribute of respect to one whose honest worth had in life earned their respect and affection.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest dangers from La Grippe is of it resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for the grippe, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will affect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
