THE DAVIS BLUFF.

Speaker Davis, of the placenta legislature, has had a change of mind, if not of heart. Before he was very properly, though somewhat ignominiously kicked out by the first temporary organization, he had but one opinion, one order from his bosses, and knew nothing else whatever. Then he knew that he could not entertain any motion except to adjourn until forty members answered to their names. For more than forty days he stuck to this opinion, notwithstanding that the legal advice of Attorney C. E. S. Wood was at his service then, as now. Although but twenty-one members answered to their names, Davis now entertains a resolution, the same he before refused, to compel the attendance of absent members, appoints officers to arrest absentees, and suddenly discovers that he has unlimited powers to perform any and all acts.

Why did it take Mr. Davis so long to discover his authority? The answer is plain. He waited until he thought Daley, Conn and other Mitchell men had gone home, into the inaccessible regions of Grant and Harney, and that by then forcing the presence of the other absentees, the senatorial question could be settled before Mitchell could get his strength together.

The scheme will not work, for the supreme court will be called upon to decide the legal questions. Mr. Davis and the Falstaffian contingent following him know that if all the members of the house were in Salem, the present move would not be made. That if the Benson house were to walk into the assembly room in a body, Speaker Davis, Bilyeu, Baby Jones from Shearer's Bridge, U'Ren and the whole job lot, would break for the corridor like a lot of stampered steers.

The people are getting decidedly tired of bossism, and if some member who is attempted to be arrested by alleged officers of the house will do the Corbett act on that officer's countenance, his action will be indorsed by the people. There are some things that can only be properly resisted by violence.

RAN AGAINST A ROCK.

Representative Huntington yesterday received the following telegram, sent from Aurora, Or. Following the date line and address it read:

Warrant out for absentees. Will you come? Answer, 271, Seventh street, Portland.

G. O. HOLMAN, Sergt.-at-Arms.

To which Mr. Huntington sent the following reply:

G. O. HOLMAN, 271, SEVENTH ST.: House adjourned on 24th. Will not come until supreme court decides your warrant legal.

B. S. HUNTINGTON.

This sergeant-at-arms is the same Glen O. Holman evidently who figured so conspicuously in the Chinese smuggling cases as the notary whose seal was left where it could be used in the manufacture of certificates of residence. He makes an excellent tail-end for the Davis house.

In order to serve process of the Davis house, money is of course necessary. Men of the Glen O. Holman stripe do not chase over the country and send telegrams at their own expense or on doubtful security; they get the cash first. Neither do recalcitrant members of the legislature lay around the scene of their labors for fifty days at their own expense and then suddenly become interested in the business of the state. The expense must come from some place, and it must have some object.

When Baby Jones from Shearer's Bridge finds his way into the house after fifty days dodging around its doors, it indicates that there is something more than the business of the state going on inside. He has shown that he had no interest in that.

The dispatches say that Weyler, the Cuban butcher, is to step down, and General Ramon Blancoy Aronas, the Marquis of Pena Plato, or words to that effect, will succeed him. Weyler is said to be very angry because the Spanish government interfered in his treatment of American prisoners. The true reason is perhaps cowardice. Weyler is a tyrant, therefore a coward, and since the insurgents have taken to shooting at him, albeit at long range, the refuge of resignation has suggested itself to him.

It is rumored that one of the supreme judges would not be averse to exchanging the robes of justice for the senatorial toga, naturally supposing it would be moore becoming to him.

Day after tomorrow at noon it will be just Grover Cleveland. He will be an ex-president, and McKinley will be a next president.

ELY'S CREAM BALM is a positive cure. Apply into the nostrils. It is quickly absorbed. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail samples 10c. by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York City.

If we could trace Dyspepsia to its source, it would lead back to our kitchens. In fact, the secret of good health is good cooking. If well cooked, foods are partially digested; if poorly cooked, they are less digestible than in their raw state. If you are victim of faulty cooking; that is, if you suffer from Dyspepsia, the rational cure must be looked for in an artificially digested food, and a food which will at the same time aid the digestion of other foods. Such a preparation virtually rests the tired digestive organs, thereby restoring them to their natural strength.

The Digestive Cordial, as prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, is such a preparation, and a single 10 cent bottle will convince you of its value. If your druggist doesn't keep it, he will be glad to get it through his wholesale house.
