If we could trace Dyspepsia to its source, it would lead back to our kitchens. In fact, the secret of good health is good cooking. If well cooked, foods are partially digested; if poorly cooked, they are less digestible than in their raw state. If you are victim of faulty cooking; that is, if you suffer from Dyspepsia, the rational cure must be looked for in an artificially digested food, and a food which will at the same time aid the digestion of other foods. Such a preparation virtually rests the tired digestive organs, thereby restoring them to their natural strength.

The Digestive Cordial, as prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, is such a preparation, and a single 10 cent bottle will convince you of its value. If your druggist doesn't keep it, he will be glad to get it through his wholesale house.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

In a London Hotel.

The American visitor to London who stops at a certain hotel in that city finds many novelties and conveniences that are not known here in America, where hotels are supposed to have reached the acme of luxury. It has an American-plan dining room, says the Chicago News, but only a French bill of fare. It has an Indian room, where an Indian chef, in the costume of the country, prepares native dishes for those who desire them.

In this hotel each guest is known by the number of his room instead of his name, and it is rather odd to an American to be addressed as "Mr. 963," as though he were a convict in the penitentiary.

On each floor, day and night, are to be found a maid, a valet and a waiter, who are at your service, and have free access to your rooms. When you come home at night, if you are a man, you find your clothes pressed and cleaned and carefully packed away in a chest of drawers. If you are a woman, the maid attends to frills and furbelows as though she were hired by you especially. Guests never bother with their keys—the maid or valet on the floor takes charge of the key, and is ready at any time to open your door.

A. T. Wood to Succeed Blackburn.

LOUISVILLE, March 3.—A. T. Wood of Mount Sterling will succeed J. I. C. Blackburn in the U. S. senate by appointment of Governor Bradley, to be announced probably tomorrow. The appointment was decided upon after the governor had offered the honor to St. John Boyle of this city, who refused it. Boyle was the Republican caucus nominee at the last session of the legislature, and his action indicates that he hopes to be elected to serve the full term by a special session of the legislature which Governor Bradley will call within a few days.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest dangers from La Grippe is of it resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will affect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

Hanna's Appointment.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Senator Sherman of Ohio has tendered his resignation to Governor Bushnell, to take effect March 5. The official appointment by the governor of Mark Hanna to succeed Sherman is on the way here, and will be delivered to Hanna tomorrow, to take effect March 5.

STRANGE POST OFFICES.

Queer Arrangements Seen in Other Parts of the World.

Until quite recently the postal system in Persia was very loosely conducted. It was under the superintendence of a minister of posts, who, however, does not work the system himself. Each road is farmed to some merchant or wealthy person, who pays a certain sum to the minister for the privilege, and makes as much money out of the business as he can.

On the south coast of Patagonia is the most remarkable postal service in the world. Close to the post is a large sign post with the inscription: "Post Office." Attached by chains to the foot of the sign post is a strong chest, which has served as a post office, master, clerk, all in one, for many years. The ships passing through the Magellan straits send a boat to the shore to fetch any letters that may be addressed to their places of call, and at the same time to leave any letters they may wish to have taken in other directions.

In a small group of islands off the south coast of Iceland the islanders have a bottle post, which depends mainly on the wind. When the wind blows from the south they put their letters into a well-cooked bottle. To insure delivery, a plug of tobacco or a cigar is put inside, and people on the mainland are usually on the lookout for and ready to deliver the letters so dispatched, in return for the intended remuneration.

WOMAN FLIES KITES.

Champion Lady at the sport invents a New Kind.

"Barrel kites" are the novel invention of Miss Nellie Ross, of Fruit Vale, Cal. says the New York World. Three months ago she demonstrated their practicability, and since then has proved, as she claims, that they fly higher than any other kites ever made on the Pacific coast. A recent visitor to what Miss Ross calls her "kiter" saw simply a very clean and neatly-white washed backyard. Against some deserted hennocks heaved some queer chin and bamboo objects that looked like flattened balloons with the ends knotted out. The largest were five feet high by four feet broad, and they were of all colors. The string used in flying them is about two miles long.

HON. W. J. BRYAN'S BOOK.

THE FIRST BATTLE

THE FIRST BATTLE is an interesting story of the great political struggle of 1896, its most important events and the many issues involved; a logical treatise on Bi-Metalism as uttered by eminent exponents, including the part taken by Hon. W. J. Bryan in the silver agitation prior to the Democratic National Convention; and during the campaign; the best examples of his wonderful oratory, the most noteworthy incidents of his famous tour; a careful review of the political situation, a discussion of the election returns and the significance thereof, and the future possibilities of Bi-Metalism as a political issue.

THE DALLES, - - - OREGON.

He Knew the Story.
On neutral ground they met, the man from Kentucky and the one from Ohio. It was in the middle of the New-England bridge, and they shook hands and looked through the railing at the river below them.

"I heard a good story to-day," said the Ohioan.
"Something about a Kentuckian's dislike for water, I suppose?" said the Blue Grass chieftain, with a tired look in his face.
"No, about a Texas man. Fellow that saw it and he never saw anything like it done in his life. It was a dispute between a cowboy and a college graduate. They got together at a saloon down in the southern part of the state and ran to another saloon five miles away. The college boy beat the cowboy hands down, and—"

"And you told the man who told you," interrupted the Kentuckian, "that you could not believe the story because no lions in Texas men that I remember, eh? Yes, that was a good story when you and I were young."

Then the Kentuckian mendered Ohioward, while the man from the Buckeye state couldn't seem to get the satisfaction out of his cigar that he did before. — Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Royal Kissers.

Emperor William is a great kisser. The prince of Wales isn't, so he has been at the trouble of teaching his various foreign relations to shake hands in the English fashion and to inform them that he doesn't wish any hugging. The kiss between the czar and the emperor of Austria the other day, according to all reports, was as long and clinging as that of Olga Nethersole in "Carmen."
