EASTERN OFFICE—230 to 234 Temple Court, N. Y. City. E. KATZ, Agent.

THE TREASURER'S BUSINESS.

We would like to ask Judges Northup and Gray by what authority they assume to take charge of the matter of the state's taxes and the county treasurer's business. The latter gentleman is the one to decide what shall be done with the money coming into his hands and belonging to the state, and Judge Northup is assuming considerable responsibility in advising the county treasurer to commit a crime. The law provides that the county treasurer shall pay over the money to the state at given times. It provides a penalty for his not doing so, consisting of a forfeiture of 20 per cent of the amount for withholding it ten days, and if withheld thirty days, it says the county treasurer so doing shall be considered a defaulter.

In the light of these facts it strikes us Judge Northup is posing for effect, playing to the galleries, and "talking for buncombe." Between the advice of Judge Northup to violate the law, and the convenient doors of the penitentiary, the county treasurer will not have much difficulty in making choice.

We heartily agree with the Oregonian's position on the new tariff bill, and that is that it should avoid extremes, and be framed on lines that will not compel another change. A heavy tariff on wool will arouse intense opposition, while a duty of five, six or seven cents a pound would perhaps be allowed to stand indefinitely. While this would not be entirely satisfactory to most of the sheepmen, who are asking twelve cents, we believe it would be best for them in the long run, because it would not be tampered with soon, and they would be able to do business on a known basis. If a tariff bill can be framed that will provide for the expenses of the government without creating a surplus, it will probably be let alone, and business having an unfluctuating basis on which to work, will steadily improve. Most of the ultra-protectionists see this, and concede the propriety of making a moderate, and as far as possible, equitable tariff bill.

The stockmen are making a vigorous contest against the closing of immense areas of government land by the establishing of forest reservations. There is another phase of the propositions that seems to us at least as serious as the denial of the rights of pasturage, and that is the shutting of these vast areas to the prospector and miner. Every opportunity should be given to the hardy and self-denying prospector in his search for the precious metals, and congress should at once provide for them by permitting the use of timber, rights of way for ditches and roads, and a simple and speedy means of acquiring title to mineral lands. In the reserves just established in Washington many claims have been located and much money expended in prospecting them. To deprive these men of their rights is worse than highway robbery.

The big prize fight at Carson was a failure financially. Only about 500 people from the East attended it, and California furnished less than 1,000. So after all it was almost a local affair.

Corbett says he may not be as good a man as Fitzsimmons, but he is a better actor. That is something to be proud of to be certainly.

There are many reasons why the Hawaiian islands should be annexed to the United States, or at least that this government should assume some kind of a protectorate over them. To our mind the most urgent reason for this course, and one all-sufficient, is that unless this is done the next twenty years will see them in control of the Japanese. That enterprising nation is rapidly colonizing the islands, and it is only a question of time until it controls them. This government cannot afford to allow this. We have as many Chinese and Japs in this country now as we can stand, and we want their settlements no nearer our shores. The "Pearl of the Pacific" would prove the brightest gem in the diadem of the republic, and the sooner it is firmly affixed therein the better.

Wasco county presents, we believe, more varied and better opportunities for those desiring to make themselves homes than any other section of the state; and simply because her resources are more varied. She has vast stock ranges, great wheat fields, thousands of acres of the very best fruit lands, magnificent fishing industries, unlimited water power, a wealth of timber, and, we believe firmly, immense bodies of coal. What more could any one ask?
