THURSDAY, - - - MARCH 25, 1897

EASTERN OFFICE—230 to 234 Temple Court, N. Y. City. E. KATZ, Agent.

AN UNSELFISH CITIZEN.

D. M. Riordan is out with a circular defending the forest reservation system. Mr. Riordan frankly states that he is president of the Arizona Lumber Company, and that he is now cutting from fifteen to twenty million feet of lumber yearly. He is also vice president of the Arizona American Forestry Association. It will be seen from his own statements that Mr. Riordan is serving two masters, one the interests of posterity in our forests; the other the interests of Mr. Riordan in them. For which he will work the harder there can be no doubt. In fact, Mr. Riordan's circular puts the matter in an entirely new light, and gives cause for the suspicion that the big lumber trusts are at the bottom of the whole affair. Mr. Riordan, among other things, says:

Being a Western man myself, imbued with a full appreciation of the true and lasting interests of our section, I expect that every Western senator and representative, if he conscientiously study the matter, will agree with me, who, a hard-headed and hard-working business man, and without any private or selfish interests to stimulate his zeal in the matter, has come to the conviction that the government alone should control and administer these forest lands.

He who advocates the re opening of these reserves, I declare, is, whether he realize it or not, an opponent of the healthful development of his state, be it from ignorance or ill will. I believe that he who has proper conceptions of the best interests of the West will advocate extension of the policy of the reservation and proper regulation of their use.

The ingenuous expression "Without any private or selfish interests to stimulate his zeal in the matter," is either the most delicate humor or the most bare-faced presumption. Cutting twenty millions of feet of lumber a year, Mr. Riordan claims no "selfish interests." If we have ever had any sympathy with the forestry reservation idea, the reading of Riordan's circular would have destroyed it.

Little Greece has given the big powers a nut to crack. We will keep the troops in Crete because we need them there. We will withdraw the fleet because your fleets are doing all we could do—keeping the Turkish fleet away. You can boss our troops in Crete if you so desire. No extra charge! The powers can settle this with their respective people, who are laughing at them, as Greece is. The powers are stumped. The more so that whenever it becomes necessary to Greece to shoo them away, she has only to declare war against Turkey. When she does that the position of the powers becomes untenable. She will not do that however, until the snow melts in the Balkan passes and the second act in the great European drama is to be rung on. Greece got a little ahead of the procession and is "marking time" until the season catches up. In the meantime she has got the powers in a hole. They must do her work. There is nothing slow about the Greek, and nothing small about Greece but the territory—and that will grow.—Commercial Review.

Bob and Fitz have met, "shook" hands, imbibed ginger ale and mineral water together, and everything is lovely. Fitz has also pledged his word of honor as a gentleman that if he ever fights again Bob shall have the privilege of being the first man to have the distinguished honor of meeting him.

The office of collector of internal revenue at Portland may possibly go to a Washington man. Senator Wilson has notified Senator McBride that a Washington man must have the place because Oregon being rewarded with the appointment of Binger Hermann should be satisfied, and Washington must insist on her share of the plums. Senator McBride says he will give the Washington senator a hot fight for it.

It is pure waste of time to further discuss the matter of withholding the state taxes. With the possibility of forfeiting twenty per cent of the amount withheld and of being declared defaulters on top of this, it is quite probable the county treasurers will pay but little attention to the desires of the people or the suggestions of the newspapers, and that they will pay over the money as fast as the same becomes due.

The senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Binger Hermann as commissioner of the general land office. Mr. Hermann is well posted in land matter, and ought to make a first-class officer, one of whom Oregon will be proud.
