BICYCLE REPAIRING.

We have secured the services of Mr. Joseph Kirchoff, who has been doing Bicycle Repairing and Gun Work for the last five years in The Dalles. All work entrusted to him will receive prompt attention.

MAIER & BENTON'S

We have secured the services of an experienced bicycle repairer from San Francisco, and are better prepared to do this class of work than we have ever been before. We will guarantee all bicycle work done by us to be first-class, and satisfactory to our patrons.

We have on hand about 25 wheels, '96 patterns, of different makes—some new and some second hand. To close them out, to make room for '97 wheels, we have decided to offer them for sale at very low prices, many of them away below cost. This is your chance if you are not particular as to whether you ride a '96 or '97 wheel. They are all good wheels, and in good shape.

Mr. John Miller of Mosier made final proof on his homestead this morning.

James Kelley has eighty-seven hogs at the yards for shipment. They were fattened on corn brought from Nebraska.

Dr. Hollister was called to Grant this afternoon, on account of the serious illness of Mr. Siade, the hotel keeper at that place.

Services as usual at the Congregational church tomorrow, except that on account of the funeral services in the afternoon, there will be no evening service.

The contract for building the Catholic church has been let. The building will cost something over $13,000, and will be the handsomest church edifice in Eastern Oregon.

Mr. Hardy, in yesterday's Oregonian, said the dust here was four inches deep, and we, like an ignoramus, denied it. Today at times it was forty feet deep and forty miles wide, in some places.

Do you want your windows cleaned, carpets taken up, beaten and re-laid, or janitor work of any kind done by a first-class man? If so, telephone Henry Johnson at Parkins' barber shop. Phone 119. a10-1f

Mr. Rankin, the ferryman at White Salmon, returned from Goldendale today, where he had been interviewing the county commissioners in behalf of the settlers below the bluff, at White Salmon, who want a public road laid out along the foot of the bluff.

Edward J. McBee made homestead filing on Hood River lands today, they being a portion of section 4, in township 1 north of range 10 east. There is quite a large tract of land in the immediate vicinity subject to homestead entry, and as it is fine orchard land, it will soon be taken up.

In the suit of Mrs. K. L. Barrill vs. W. C. Barrill, referred at the last November term of the court to a referee to take and report the testimony, Judge Bradshaw, on March 22d, rendered a decree granting a divorce and the custody of the two minor children to the plaintiff.

The Woodmen's Circle held a social session last night after the regular session, the latter feature being in honor of the return of Mrs. Filloon from the supreme lodge at St. Louis. An address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Ella Cushing, which was responded to by Mrs. Filloon. This was followed by banjo and guitar music by Mr. Parkins and Simms, solo by Charles Clarke, farce by members of the order and song, "Going Back to Dixie," by the ladies, the program concluding with a tableau representing the mottoes of the order, "Love, Wisdom and Power." The action of Mrs. Filloon and the other delegates to the supreme lodge, leaving the old order, was indorsed, and the lodge will affiliate with the Pacific jurisdiction.

An attempted burglary last night at A. M. Williams & Co.'s—that is it might have been, but the burglar undoubtedly was disappointed at finding those nobby, all-wool suits marked down to only $10, so cheap that stealing them would have been deemed an extravagance.

This morning it was reported that an attempt to burglarize Williams & Co.'s store had been made last night, and later Johnston's store had been broken into. When traced down it proved to be that Nightwatchman Wiley last night found the back door at Johnston's open, but it had not been properly fastened, and had been blown partly open by the wind.

Yesterday appropriate programs were presented in the different departments of The Dalles public schools in observance of Arbor day. No trees were planted, as the grounds are supplied with a sufficient number, the last work in this way being in January of the present year, when eighteen trees were, by order of the board, set out in the East Hill primary grounds.

Mrs. Lyman Daly met with a serious accident this morning, just how serious cannot yet be determined. Mr. Daly was bringing her and their two little children to town at an early hour, they intending to take the boat for Vancouver. Coming down 3-Mile hill one of the wheels of the wagon ran into a ditch alongside of the road, and Mrs. Daly was thrown off the seat, falling on the wheel. Her right lower jaw was badly fractured, and she received a severe concussion of the brain, which rendered her unconscious. She was brought into town and taken to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meins, where Dr. Hollister reduced the fracture and attended to her other injuries. Her condition is dangerous, but she may pull through all right.

Nick Sinnott and "Nemo," before they get the matter off their hands, will wish they had never toyed with Cissy Sideways of Dufur. Their profuseness of apology to that now famous young collective noun of the female gender, has proven a case of jumping out of the trying pan into the fire. It seems now that the aforementioned gentlemen are in more than a peck of trouble at home. When the Dispatch appeared in The Dalles containing their "billet doux" addressed to the "Indignant Thirteen," it created a flurry in the local feminine circles, and they were immediately accused of flirting with the young ladies of this berg, and the next Sunday evening were treated with such a degree of sang froid, they had an attack of chills and fever and made a peripatate retreat. Never mind, boys, patch the affair up as well as you can at home, and we'll smooth it down here.—Dufur Dispatch.

Funeral of Pearl Butler.

The funeral of Pearl Butler took place from the family residence this morning, and in compliance with her request, made but a short time before her death, the ceremonies were very brief. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, the grave being covered with them. Among the many beautiful pieces were one from the Sunday school class to which she belonged, another from the graduating class of '96, of which she was a member, and one from the W. C. T. U. Also a very pretty floral ship, which had been presented to Pearl when she was graduated, and which had been re-arranged in hyacinths.

Despite the terrible wind and dust storm, a large number of sorrowing friends followed all that was mortal of Pearl Butler to the cemetery and saw her placed by the side of her sister, who so recently preceded her into the valley of the shadow. The floral pieces on Jessie's grave had all been refilled, and as the sad cortege turned back from the graves, the sisters slept side by side under masses of flowers, typical of the innocence and purity of those beneath, and of those flowers of the field of Ardath, whose white, star-like blooms forever kiss the feet of the children of men who have returned to their home with God.

Beautiful Display of Hats.

That The Dalles ladies thoroughly appreciate fine millinery, and know where to find it was shown by the attendance yesterday afternoon and evening at the grand Easter opening at Mrs. Briggs' millinery parlors. It was conceded by all that it was the finest display of the kind ever made in the city, and the beautiful and artistic creations called forth many expressions of admiration. The shapes are about the same, but larger, and the trimmings show quite a difference from those of last year. They are much more elaborate, and red leads all other colors, the hats from the East most distinctly showing the difference. The windows were most beautifully decorated, but these were lost on the ladies who went there to see hats, and would not or could not see anything else. We don't blame the dear creatures for admiring them, for after seeing her try on a dozen of those hats, we came near falling in love with our own wife. The ladies are to be congratulated on having so fine a selection to choose from, and Mrs. Briggs to be commended for providing it.

Afflicted Families.

The two families of Mr. Jos. Kiser and Mr. McChristian of the Arkansas colony have been having a serious time with measles for the past two weeks. A late arrival from Arkansas contracted the disease while en route and broke out with it soon after arriving here. The old gentleman, Joseph Kiser, who is 76 years old, was stricken with paralysis three weeks ago and now lies perfectly helpless. The younger members of the families, to the number of ten, gathered at the old gentleman's house to care for him, and all, except Joseph Kiser, were taken with the measles about the same time. The sick persons were unable to properly help themselves, were without a change of clothing and short of food, and their condition was desperate. Mrs. Alma Howe sent them some bed clothing and has been furnishing them milk. Mr. R. M. Hunt and wife have been in constant attendance on the unfortunate people, setting up with them at nights and administering to their wants in every way possible for them to do. Mrs. Rogers, a lady who has been canvassing the valley for the sale of books, called at the Kiser house Tuesday, and when she found the folks in such a bad plight, decided at once to help them. She went to Mrs. W. T. Hansbury and procured a suit of old clothing, and with the assistance of Mrs. Hansbury, cleaned up the house and made the invalids more comfortable. Rev. J. L. Hershner called Tuesday and afterwards interested the town people in the case and collected clothing and money for the sufferers.—Glacier.

There Was Some Dust.

We owe an apology to Mr. Hardy, the gentleman who told the Oregonian there was dust in The Dalles, and also to the Oregonian in questioning the correctness of its information in yesterday's issue. Then the air was balmy and soft, as a summer girl, the streets as quiet as a sleeping babe. It was not that way today. All the spirits from the cave of the winds were out on a jamboree, and there were whirlwinds and whirlpools of blinding, choking, smothering dust. It came from all points of the compass at once, and went in all directions at the same time, filling store and residence with its gritty presence, and the air with profanity that traveled far and fast. Yes, there is some dust in The Dalles, and we are free to confess that our statement yesterday entitles us to the highest office in the gift of the Sazerac lying club.
