THE DALLES, OREGON

INDIAN HUT AT THE ZOO.

Passamaquoddy Indians Built It of Birch Bark.

The Washington Post of March 25th has the following description of an old-time Indian hut, recently built in that city by two Passamaquoddy Indians, Joe Toma, now at Rockland, and Francis Loia, of Pleasant Point, who is still in Washington.

The primitive birch-bark wigwam, which has been in course of construction during the past winter at the Zoological Park, is now practically completed, and is probably the only one of the kind in existence today.

This wigwam is of the style used by the Indians of New England and a part of New York before the white men came to this country.

The primitive birch-bark wigwam, which has been in course of construction during the past winter at the Zoological Park, is now practically completed, and is probably the only one of the kind in existence today.

It was constructed by exactly the same methods used by the aborigines. The Indian employed belonged to the Passamaquoddy tribe, but has recently been living near Penobscot bay, in the state of Maine.

A MARVEL OF INGENUITY.

He selected the birch trees in the forest, from which he would gather the bark, long before the time for cutting it. When it was gathered he used a stone knife and only such other tools as were used by the aborigines.

The wigwam, as it now stands, will surprise most of the visitors who see it. The shape and general appearance of the Sioux tepees and the mud, stone, and reed houses of the tribes of Indians out West are well known, but this wigwam is entirely different in many ways.

The Indians first drove tall stakes of arbor vitae into the ground for each side of the building. These were bent over at the top in a half circle and tied together with thongs of split ash.

As usual always in the lead, Hop Gold Beer on sale today. See that you get it on draught at all Star brewery saloons.

The bark is turned with the outside exposed, and renders the wigwam impervious to the severest rains. Inside, just as you enter, there is a small, square space divided off by poles laid upon the ground.

furnishings are put in the wigwam will be ready for the inspection of visitors. If any one desires to try the manner of living employed by the Indians hundreds of years ago, he can model his home after the wigwam and be carried back to the time when Columbus was not even thought of.

A miniature of the wigwam will be made for the National Museum and placed with the group around the fountain. This will be supplemented by the wax figures of the Indians in their tribal costume and will give a clear idea of what the earliest settlers in the North-eastern states saw when they first arrived in America.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. T. K. Long, a cattle buyer from Indianapolis, is in the city.

Mr. H. G. VanDusen, who is in the real estate and insurance business in Astoria, is in the city.

Mr. Hayward Riddell went to Oregon City this afternoon to look after a case in the land office there.

Mr. E. L. Carson, bank inspector, arrived from Portland last night, and is spending the day here.

Fred. Drews and Misses Mamie Goetz and Ellen Rankin, all of Albina, are visiting Mr. Drews relatives here.

Mr. Bingham, the liquor merchant, who has been enjoying a vacation in The Dalles, left for Portland today.

Mr. W. E. Campbell and family recently moved into this city from Endersby, and are now living on Eighth street.

Mr. C. L. Ireland, of the Moro Observer, came down from Sherman yesterday, and went on to Portland this morning.

Mr. Hugh Glenn is home from the Astoria-Globe railroad. He tells us the weather is delightful down that way, and that fine progress is being made in the way of grading.

The friends of Mrs. F. T. Esping will be pleased to learn that she is improving, and was able to ride down into the city Thursday.

Mr. H. S. Turner, of the Dufur Dispatch, is in the city today. Turner is a great stickler for Dufur, and thinks that is the coming town of Eastern Oregon. That's the kind of men we like to see, the kind that stand in at all times for their home town.

Dr. Kenneth A. J. McKenzie, Portland's celebrated physician, was here yesterday in consultation with Dr. Sutherland in the case of Carrie Butler. He agreed with Dr. Sutherland, both in diagnosis and treatment, and pronounced it a very remarkable case, presenting some complications which he had never seen before.

Stockholders' Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of The Dalles Chronicle Publishing Company will be held at the county court rooms on Tuesday, the 25th day of May, A. D., 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of adopting supplementary articles of incorporation, increasing the capital stock of said company and transacting such other business as may come before said meeting.

A. S. Mac Allister, President.

R. G. DAVENPORT, Secretary.

Change of Time.

Commencing April 8th, the steamers of the Regulator line will leave The Dalles at 7 a. m. instead of 7:30.

W. C. ALLAWAY, Agent.

Do not fail to call on Dr. Lannerberg, the eye specialist, and have your eyes examined free of charge. If you suffer with headache or nervousness you undoubtedly have imperfect vision that, if corrected, will benefit you for life.

Do you want your windows cleaned, carpets taken up, beaten and re-laid, or janitor work of any kind done by a first-class man? If so, telephone Henry Johnson at Parkers' barber shop.

As usual always in the lead, Hop Gold Beer on sale today. See that you get it on draught at all Star brewery saloons.

ARE TO LEAVE CUBA

Spain Withdrawing 10,000 of Her Troops.

HIS WILL WAS BURIED WITH HIM

The Mississippi Flood Has Left Thousands Homeless--Active Measures Being Taken for Their Relief.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—According to information received from trustworthy sources here the withdrawal of at least a part of the great army Spain has maintained for several years in the island of Cuba will begin when the rainy season sets in within a few days.

The Cuban contingent, on the other hand, insist that the Spanish financial resources are exhausted and the troops are to be withdrawn because of lack of money to keep them in the service.

DESOLATION IN ITS WAKE.

Flood in Yazoo District Has Left Thousands Homeless.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Secretary Alger has received a telegram from one of his inspecting officers at Cairo, who has been working in the Yazoo district, which says:

"I have completed the inspection of the upper portion of my district from Aspetot to Cairo and find the conditions slightly improved. The most extensive crevasse, below Caruthersville, has widened to 3200 feet. The water is stationary at Cairo, but is rising below there.

Another army inspector telegraphed from Greenville, Miss., that the total area subject to overflow in his district is about 4000 square miles, mostly in Phillips county, Ark., and Coahoma, Quitman, Bolivar, Sunflower and Washington counties, Mississippi. It is suggested that a ten days' supply of rations be sent at the earliest practicable moment to supply 1000 destitute persons and 1000 head of stock in Quitman county, in which there are ten townships inundated. Also for 5000 destitute people and 500 head of stock in Coahoma county, where 12 townships are flooded, and for 8000 people and 100 head of stock in Bolivar county, where nine townships are inundated.

On the Arkansas side it is reported 5000 destitute people and 400 head of livestock in Phillips and Monroe counties are requiring assistance.

From 30 to 40 days is estimated as the period of time before laborers can go to work in the inundated area, but as this period will vary with the locality, the inspector recommends that no supplies be sent for a longer period than ten days.

A Will Unearthed From An Old Grave.

LEWISWORTH, Kan., April 16.—After lying in a man's coffin for more than 30 years a will has been exhumed, the terms of which are likely to increase the troublesome litigation among the heirs of the man who had the document buried with him.

Jacob Kissingen was the man. The will was found by accident, because when Kissingen died, although a will believed to have been made, nobody could find it. So the heirs went to law and have been at it for three decades.

A few days ago a dispute arose which could be cured up by the family Bible. The grave was opened and the book taken out. It was in a good state of preservation, and when opened, to the surprise of everybody, disclosed a will.

By the terms of the document found in the grave the property of Kissingen is divided among five children, one of them residing in Germany, and born of Kissingen's first wife. This is where the new trouble begins. None of the four American heirs ever heard of the father's first marriage.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against all adulteration and all forms of adulteration common to the cheap brands.

The Flood at Davenport, Ia.

DAVENPORT, Ia., April 16.—A seven-inch rise has brought the waters of the Mississippi to within six inches of the danger line. The rising flood has invaded the cellars of many jobbing-houses, and the levee is almost entirely under water.

Muscantine Island, the great melon-raising ground, is reported to be largely under water. Rains continue nearly every day and the situation daily becomes more serious.

In the neighborhood of Burlington the river is six miles wide, and covers a wide area of valuable bottom farm land in Illinois. The farmers there have given up hope of getting in their crops, and much loss will result. The river is still rising.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have."

J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it: it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Mrs. A. Ineven, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief.

Two years ago E. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word."

Electric Bitters. Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt.
