Richards is still occupying the attention of the court and five jurors.

A. M. Williams & Co. are making a very appropriate offer in their boys' department this week. See ad.

The Elks are talking of having an excursion to Hood River Saturday night, but the arrangements have not yet been completed.

Carlos Spaulding, father of Carlos H.
Spaulding, prosecuting attorney for Klickitat county, died Monday and was buried at Goldendale this morning.

How about that 4th of July celebration? If we are going to have it, now is the time to arrange for it before all our neighboring towns have made up their minds to celebrate.

The trial of Frank Castile, which was to have begun at Goldendale this morning, was postponed until tomorrow, on account of the death of the father of the prosecuting attorney.

The Salem Statesman of yesterday says: "Eva McCullough, aged 39, an inmate of the asylum, died there Sunday, and that the body would be shipped here yesterday for interment."

Kerr & Buckley shipped seventeen carloads of sheep to the Montana range this morning. These will be followed by many others, and it is probable not less than 60,000 will be disposed of in this manner.

A grand ball will be given at the Baldwin opera house Friday evening, May 28th, (the closing of the dancing school) by Prof. F. G. Swanton. Admission 50 cents. Ladies free. This evening is the last for instructions. m26 3t

Roy, the 11-year-old son of E. C. Steffen, of Baker City, while out hunting on Saturday, accidentally discharged his gun, the contents entering the right arm and nearly severing that member. He stopped to rest and placed his arm over the muzzle. The arm was amputated at the shoulder.

The Wasco warehouse has received to-date 4000 sacks of wool, averaging 350 pounds to the sack, or 1,400,000 pounds.
But little, if any, wool has changed hands yet, and it can hardly be said that a price has been fixed.

The ladies of the Christian church will and cake in the store building near the U. S. land office, on Washington street,

Mrs. Nettie M. Booth today received warrant No. 168, from the Head Camp, Pacific Jurisdiction, Woodmen of the World. It being payment in full of the amount due to her on account of the insurance of her husband, the late Latimer Booth, in that order.

The annual camp meeting, under the auspices of the Oregon State Campmeeting Association of the M. E. church, will be held on the Canby camp ground, beginning June 18th, and continuing until June 28th. Bishop Cranston will be in attendance a part of the time.

Quite a number of the conductors at present visiting the coast, came up on the Spokane flyer last night and remained here until the regular overland train at 1:30 this morning. They took in the town in the early evening, and later were the guests of the Commercial Club.

Blanche Sutherland, who was shot by Caleb Daniels Saturday night in a house of ill-fame at Rosland, is in a fair way to recovery. Two of the three bullets were found, and the other one, which undoubtedly would have proved fatal had not her corset steel deflected it, will probably be taken out tonight. It is in the left side below the breast, and in the opinion of Dr. Bowes, is not likely to prove dangerous.

The river this morning had dropped down to the 41.9 mark, and has been falling slowly all day. Reports from up-river points show that there will be considerable of a fall and that the highest water of the season has already visited us. The weather bureau yesterday morning said that "there will be much warmer weather the last of the week, and if this does not cause a rise, there will be none," which we think is correct.

A report was brought to Grant's Pass Sunday evening of a shooting affray in Siskiyou county, Cal., near the Oregon line, in which Eugene Kern and an unknown man were shot by S. Payne, nightwatchman of the Gilmore and Bear mine. It appears that the two men tried to rob the mine, as they turned the water out of the flume and then began tearing the rifles out with a crowbar. Payne fired three shots, after which he heard then groaning, but did not go near them to see how badly they were injured, it being after dark. At last accounts the wounded men had not been discovered.

The grand jury up to noon today had returned four true bills. One against Lewis Boggs for larceny of a horse, to which he pleaded guilty. Another for stealing a harness and buggy, to which he pleaded not guilty. The third charged A. Clemens with larceny from a dwelling, he being the man arrested last spring in Charles Haight's house, near the fair ground. The fourth was against Jack Andrews, the Indian storekeeper, for showing indecent pictures. The matter of the State against Taylor Blevins, who was charged with stealing a Winchester rifle, was examined into, and the defendant was discharged, "not a true bill" being returned.

An Impromptu Bath.

Yesterday evening when the boat came in and tied up to the wharf boat, there was the usual crowd of citizens doing their part towards seeing her successfully landed.

Among these was Timothy Edmonson, who was standing on the wharf watching the proceedings. The wharfboat lies by the roadway, a short and broad gangplank connecting the two. As the Regulator swung round into place after having made her bow line fast, the pile to which the wharfboat was fastened broke short off, letting the wharfboat swing out from the dock. Just at this time Edmonson had started aboard the wharf-boat, and as he reached the middle of the gang-plank, one end of it slipped, tilting it in such a manner that he lost his balance and took a magnificent header into the raging Columbia. He had but just time to make a stroke or two and pull himself out of the way when the gang-plank came down, barely missing him. Had it struck him, this item would have been in the form of an obituary, but fortunately no damage was done.

He Knew Him.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Lannerburg was standing on the sidewalk in front of the postoffice, when a stranger rather light in build and short of stature stopped in front of him and gazed up at his six-foot-four height with a sort of I-wonder-if-it-is-cold-up-there expression, accompanied by a self-satisfied sort of grin. The doctor's glasses seemed to be what was attracting his attention, but after looking at him awhile, he walked around and took a look at his back. Then he came around and peered up at the glasses again. The doctor bore the examination good humoredly, waiting to see what the outcome would be, but finally tiring of the stranger's scrutiny, he remarked:
"Well, do you know me?" "You think I don't, but you bet your life I do," was the reply. "You're Dutch McCoy."

"Tights? Heavens, no!" shrieked the countess at the manager, who was considering her application for a place on the stage. "I am a lady. A lady of title."
"I know," said the manager, in a cold professional tone, "that Lady Godiva didn't wear 'em, but times have changed."

TEN STRIKES IN LINE.

Mr. Croasman Breaks World's Record at Bowling.

Yesterday's Oregonian says:
"A. B. Croasman, who is one of the best cocked-hat players in the city, bowled the phenomenal score of 86 on the Multnomah alleys yesterday. As 90 is the highest possible score, it was necessary for Mr. Croasman to make ten strikes in succession to bowl this score, which is the Pacific Northwest record, and has probably never been equaled on regulation alleys in the world.

Charles Fuelscher of St. Louis bowled 86 in 1893, but the alleys on which his score was made were not constructed according to modern regulations, and it was possible to make much higher scores on them. The Pacific Northwest record up to this time, has been 83, made in 1893 by Nelson of Seattle. Mr. Croasman is an unusually fine bowler, and his score was by no means one of the accidents which sometimes occur to inferior players."

Frank Carter Killed.

There was a bad accident at the old Waldron ranch about five miles south of Goldendale on the road to Columbus Monday. Frank Carter and Fred Lester were hauling telephone poles for the new line, with a four-horse team.
Coming down the hill at the Waldron place, with a heavy load on, the brake gave away and the wagon running on to the horses, they ran away. Carter jumped to save himself, but did not clear the wagon, which ran over him, killing him instantly. Lester also jumped, and while he got clear of the wagon, he fell in such a manner that one of his legs was broken. The horses went tearing down the hill, which is but a short one, and must have missed the bridge across the little creek and plunged into it, as two of them were killed.

The Latest Thing in LAWN MOWERS

The Pastime.

The PASTIME cuts the grass within 1-16 of an inch of a tree, fence or wall. The old style will not cut within 3/8 inches.

The PASTIME drive wheels are inside the line of cutting knives, and therefore never go over unmown grass.

Anybody can sharpen the PASTIME with a common file. If you try to sharpen the old style you run it. The PASTIME is cheaper at double the cost of the old style mower, for the reason that during the life of a mower, the cost of sharpening alone equals the cost of mower.

Call and see the PASTIME at the store of
