Yesterday evening Mr. and Mrs. German Segui came in from their home on Mill creek for the purpose of placing their 3-months-old baby, that was very sick, under a doctor's care. They stopped in front of Blakeley & Houghton's drugstore and Mr. Segui got out of the wagon and telephoned for Dr. Hollister. Going back to the wagon he drove up the street to Mr. Comini's place, and upon going in the house there it was discovered that the baby was dead.

The college boys of Lawrence, Kan., played a good joke on Governor Leedy soon after his inauguration. They got up a travesty on the circus in order to raise money for a local church, and invited the governor to grace the entertainment with his presence. The affair was held in a tent, and as soon as Mr. Leedy arrived, the "barker" on the outside began to call out in a sing-song voice: "Step inside, ladies and gentlemen, and see the governor of Kansas, imported from the wilds of Coffey county at the great expense of Mr. E. N. Morrill of Hiawatha, whom he has tamed effectually. This is a rare and handsome specimen, and the only governor of Kansas now in captivity. All others have been let loose as not being the real thing." The governor knows college boys, and enjoys a joke, so he remained inside, and was the biggest attraction of the show.—Oregonian.

BOGGS GETS HIS SENTENCE.

Three Years and a Grass Widow—The Italian Drew the Line.

Sheriff Driver went below this morning, taking Lewis Boggs to the penitentiary, where he has three years to serve. We understand it is his second term, and that he looks forward hopefully to the time when he will be again free. He expresses a determination to earn as many credits as possible, and so shorten his sentence, and insists that as soon as he is free he will marry the widow of his choice. Some other fellow will be in luck if she waits for Boggs, and he seems to think she will. There are some men so constituted that nothing seems to appall them; who possess, in the highest degree, a species of moral or immoral bravery that permits them to face situations that would drive men of different mold insane. Boggs is a remarkable example of this kind. He not only faces three years in the penitentiary manfully, but looks forward with pleasurable anticipations to long years thereafter with a hay-widow and a hay mow full of children.

Other minds cannot contemplate future conditions with the same complacency, the same hope, simply because they look upon the small side of things. A story told of an unfortunate Italian who was convicted of theft illustrates this trait. His case was rather a pathetic one, the theft having been committed to appease the demands of a vigorous and full grown appetite. The judge, in passing sentence, felt that the circumstances were extenuating, and in the generosity of his judicial heart gave the prisoner three years. He also threw in a lecture. He said: "The court feels for you; how much you no doubt realize. The court feels that you were urged on to the commission of the crime of stealing something to eat by the remorseless pangs of gnawing hunger. That between your spinal column and the lining of your vest was a vast aching void. The law fixes the penalty for your offense at from one to three years, leaving the matter of time to the discretion of the judge. The penitentiary fare is good, the working hours short, and the society much better than that on the outside. The court therefore deals with you generously, and gives you the full limit. It also hopes that when you come out, you will follow some honest avocation, and if you can find nothing else, the court will see that you are furnished with a hand-organ and a monkey."

The prisoner, who had worn a broad smile during the announcing of the sentence, turned pale beneath his swart skin, and starting to his feet, with one hand thrown upward in the very abandonment of despair, he sobbed: "Judge, I stands ze tre year, and I stands ze hard work, but, judge, I no stands ze d—d monkey."

Be Not Alarmed

By the so-called "WARNING" of our competitors. The threat made to our customers is nothing more nor less than a big bluff of a would-be monopoly.

Our Baker Barbed Wire was purchased from one of the largest concerns in the United States; each spool is branded "Genuine Baker Warranted," and we invite comparison with any other make of Wire.

We have bought nearly 100,000 pounds of this wire for SPOT CASH, at the right price, and propose to give our customers the benefit of it. We are not holding it for a fancy price, and claiming it to be the best Wire on earth. It is worth no more than any other good Wire, but is as good as any, and we are selling it as low as any.
