Out-door life and Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites have cured thousands of cases of consumption in the early stages. They cure old, advanced cases too; but not so many, nor so promptly. When a case is so far advanced that a cure cannot be made, even then SCOTT'S EMULSION checks the rapid ity of the disease, relieves the pains in the chest, reduces the night sweats, and makes the cough easier. In these cases it comforts and prolongs life. Don't experiment with cures that destroy the digestion. Pin your faith to the one remedy which has been THE STAN DARD FOR OVER 20 YEARS.

THE FUNNEL TRICK.

An Interesting Problem Devised by Sportive Californians.

Jerry Lynch has finally learned the funnel trick. He took it in two dosesone on one evening and the other the next. The senator sauntered up to the Bohemian club the other day and saw two or three of the younger members attempting a new feat, and he watched them with interest. One of them, says the San Francisco News Letter, stuck a funnel in the top of his trousers, threw his head back, placed a 50-cent piece on his forehead and tried to drop it in the funnel by slowly lowering his head. After all had failed Jerry insisted on trying it, though all had tried to dissuade him from attempting a feat too difficult for them. The funnel was placed in the waistband of his trousers and he threw back his head to receive the coin on his expansive brow. At that juncture a pitcher of ice water was emptied into the funnel, and by the time Jerry got through dancing the jokers had vanished. The senator's temper improved with dry raiment and the next night at the club he started in to show a couple of friends the funnel

"It's this way," he explained, "you put the funnel in the top of your pantaloons, so, then throw your head back, so, and-wow!' Again Jerry was forced to change his raiment, and he is not showing people

It appears that eats are kept in some of the French military magazines to keep down the surplus population of rats and mice. Their food is regulated by ministerial decree according to circumstances, and at present there is a regulation in force authorizing an expenditure of 21/2 centimes per cut per diem. But this does not seem enough as the unfortunate governmental cats have grown extremely thin, so at last the ministry appointed specialists to inquire into the matter. Eliot's Indian Bible.

Miss Frances H. Tribou, daughter of Chaplain Tribou, takes exception to the oft-repeated statement that no man now living can read Eliot's Indian Bible. She writes Zion's Herald that at the Mohonk Indian conference of 1894 she heard Bishop Whipple say that it is a mistake to say it cannot be read because the Ojibways of Minnesota can read it. As the bishop's remarks are published in the proceedings of the conference, and as he is an authority or such matters, Miss Tribou's exception seems to be well taken.

The Passing Stranger Always Invited In and Taken Care Of.

"The latch string bangs out" expre-sed the hospitality of the southern frontier in the days "before the war." If a traveler rode up before the fence that separated the log cubin from the road he was greeted by " Light. stranger, 'light!" Without this subtation no one dismounted, but it was rarely withheld. Mr. Williams, in his recent book, "Sam Houston," thus describes the impulse of hospitality. which made every traveler a guest during the early settlement of Texas:

The traveler who rode up to the front fence was instantly invited to alight. His horse was staked out of hobbled to feed on the prairie graand the visitor sat down to exchange the news with his land. The coffee mill was set going. If there were any of the precious grains in the house, and the hopper in the hollow log to granding the corn. After the meal and the evening pipe the visitor stretched himself on a butfalo robe on the floor with the members of the family and slept the sleep of health and fatigue. In the morning the response to any inquiry as to the charge was: "You can pay me by coming again."

The story that a certain hospitable settler used to waviay travelers on the road and compel them to visit him at the muzzle of a double burn led shotgun was only a humorous consigeration of the instinct for hoopstality which characterized the community.

The visitor was a living newspaper, who brought the only news obtainable, and was a welcome relief to the monotony and loneliness of the wilder-
