TO JUDGE THEMSELVES.

The parliamentary South African commission, which has been inquiring into the Transvaal raid, has made its report. Contrary to general expectations, it lays the blame where it belongs, on Cecil Rhodes, among other things saying that he seriously embarrassed both the imperial and colonial governments; that the proceedings resulted in an astonishing breach of international comity; that he utilized his position and the great interests he controlled to assist and support revolution, and deceived the high commissioner. The report goes on to say that while Rhodes "may possibly have been influenced to a certain extent by a vague and hazy idea of a vast African federation under the British flag, in which he would play the leading part; but he was also influenced, and is influenced, by financial considerations."

The report is certainly unique and unexpected. In the light of that arraignment of an Englishman by Englishmen, it is high time to dig up an arbitration treaty and meet the brethren half way. That is the fairest, squarest, and most truthful report ever signed by Englishmen, or anybody else, and gives license to the hope that our brethren across the Atlantic are becoming civilized enough to judge themselves.

The argument that Hawaii is too far from our shores to warrant annexation shows a lack of familiarity with geographical fact, says the Globe-Democrat. Our Aleutian Islands in Alaska are 28 degrees of longitude further west. One of them, Attu by name, is only 400 miles from the coast of Japan, and it has a good harbor, an important naval item. In Unalaska, which is 1000 miles nearer than Hawaii to Japan, we own an excellent harbor. Over half the Aleutians are geographically in Asia. They have a population of 2000, and the natives are less intelligent than those of Hawaii. Holding the ports of Alaska and Hawaii, our navy would be in a position to defend our rights in the Pacific, and to restrain acts of aggression in that quarter. It would be an assurance of peaceful development, for the world understands that this country is not greedy for new territory. Hawaii is a commanding point in relation to our coasts and to the commerce of the Pacific, in which we are deeply interested, and its offer for annexation is a legitimate result of the situation.

The following from an eastern journal is of interest in emphasizing the statement that the depletion of cattle upon our northwestern ranges the present season will be found to have been a costly error. In 1892 there were in the United States 37,651,000 cattle, not including milch cows. Last year there were but 32,085,000, a decrease of 5,600,000, although the population of the country in those five years had increased not less than 6,000,000. The swine of the country declined in the same time from 52,398,000 to 42,824,000, and the sheep from 44,938,000 to 38,298,000.

It is estimated that the water of the oceans contains in solution 2,000,000 tons of silver. The question naturally arises as to the proportion of gold. Has Nature disseminated the two metals in the water at the ratio of 16 to 1. There are whole lots of people who won't sleep of nights if they get to thinking on this proposition.

And so Mr. Bradbury is not going to forgive his wife, after all. It's really too bad, and yet we will risk a big silver dollar on the hazard and die of a wager, against a last year's bird's nest, that, could the truth be known, Mrs. Bradbury had more to forgive than her spouse. Mr. Bradbury says he is tired of the whole thing, and certainly the public are. The family wash day has no interest for the public.

Seattle reports a strong demand for laborers, saying the rush to Alaska keeps the city depleted. The report would be more easily believed if it did not contain a statement that a lot of longshoremen who were loading railroad iron on a steamer, and doing the work for 15 cents an hour, had struck for higher wages, and that their places were easily filled.
