Many Miners are Starving.

PITTSBURG, July 21.—Miners' Secretary Wasson issued an appeal for aid today in which he stated the miners were in a starving condition.

"One woman of foreign birth," the peal says, "actually died of starvation, and the men at Tom's Run, Shire Oaks, have applied to headquarters for assistance."

The men, the appeal concludes, are just as determined, and will not go back to work without securing for themselves living wages.

What use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested?

If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested, when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy; then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains food already digested and is a digester of foods as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

Doctors prescribe LAXOL because it has all the virtues of Castor Oil and is palatable.

Settled by Compromise.

PITTSBURG, July 21.—The finishing scale of the Amalgamated Association has been signed by Jones & Laughlin, and work will be resumed at once. The scale signed was a compromise, but it is said to be favorable to the workmen.

MAKING ONE'S WILL.

It Has a Soothing Influence on the Mind as a Duty Done. The making of one's will does not hasten one's death; on the contrary, it has a calming and soothing influence upon the mind.

He has no burden upon his mind, in reference to what he shall do in sickness. When sickness comes he has no regrets on this subject; he has done his best to prepare for the inevitable hour.

This is not only a reminder that every man who has property to dispose of should make his will, but also that those who can do so without injury to their natural heirs should give a certain portion of their property for the public benefit.

Society has done much for him. Let him do something for society when he dies. The time will come when a man will not feel himself to be dying creditably who does not die generously.

TEN AT A BIRTH.

Recorded Cases Which Beat That of the Indiana Farmer's Wife. One of the best-known physicians in the city, apropos of the case reported in Indiana of the German farmer's wife who presented him with six children of practically the same age, said:

"Even triplets are quite rare, and such cases as this are still more rare; yet instances are recorded in medical annals of the birth of six, seven, eight, nine, and even ten children at one time. It is very rare, however, that any of the children live where there are more than two at a birth, although a case is recorded by Chambon of quintuplets, all of whom survived their baptism for a short period. I heard not long ago of a Texas woman who gave birth to six children, and there is a case in Chicago where four fully-developed children were born, who lived for some time. According to statistics kept by Dr. Churchill, of England, twins occur once in 80 births, but of 37,441 births five cases only were those of triplets.

Human Nature.

A new and handsome apartment house on the upper west side remained unoccupied for several months because of the high rental demanded for flats. At length, says the New York Press, the shrewd agent hung out this sign: "Elegant flats of eight and nine rooms, with beautifully decorated butler's pantry." In less than two weeks every flat was taken! It isn't given to every occupant of a flat to have a butler's pantry.

HIS CREDITORS FOUND HIM.

Mr. Jones Had Been Unable to See Them During a Long Search. George Washington Jones, a colored gentleman, was sad, very sad. He was a calomnier when he had work to do, says Harper's Round Table, but, as he expresses it:

"Dem dere white trash hab gone into de trade, an' now Ise got no work to do." But this was not what made him sad. "Dis yere life," he said, "am not wuth livin'."

"What's de matter, George?" inquired his friend. "Why, Ise got a little money on dat last job, and Ise went round to settle de bills Ise owed."

"Didn't you attend to it all right?" "Dat's de strange part of it. De butcher he wuz out, an' de grocer he wuz out, an' every one Ise wanted to pay wuz out, an' den what'd I do but lose dat money."

"Well, that was unlucky, and no mistake; but still you showed your good intentions, and no doubt they won't press their claims."

"Press dere claims! Yah, dat's de trouble. When Ise got 'ome found ebbery one of dem waitin' to press dere claims, an' as Ise couldn't fix dem, dey done an' fixed me."

PULLING A DOG'S TEETH.

Dentist's Experience In Removing Teeth from a Canine. "I have never been called to pull a dog's teeth but once," volunteered a well-known dentist, reports the Washington Star.

"Had I known for what purpose I was needed I would not have responded, but being on the ground I was too nery to refuse. The case was that of a dog belonging to the wife of a Michigan senator. She had several nice dogs of fancy breeds, and I noticed that one of them acted strangely. The telephone directory of that day had my name well up on top in the list of dentists, and I presume that is why I was called. It is no unusual thing for dentists to be called to the houses of patients who are sick or otherwise unable to go to the dentist, and I packed up a few necessities and started. I was met at the door by the lady, who spoke of the sufferings of Madge. I took it that Madge was either a child or a favored servant, and tripped so softly as I could upstairs to the room to which I was directed. I noticed there were two or three little pug dogs in the room, but did not dream that Madge was one of them. In a few moments the lady came up and picking up the dog spoke sympathetically of Madge's sufferings. I was in for it, and in a short time had a towel tied in Madge's mouth, and the next thing Madge knew she was three teeth short. I was asked my fee, but as I had never performed such a service for money I did not know exactly what to charge. I made it three dollars and was paid. Since then when I am called by telephone I ask something about the work to be done, for, unless it is my own dog, I prefer to be excused from the work."

SUNSHINE AND HEALTH.

Tuberculosis Readily Develops in Dark, Ill-Ventilated Rooms. A merchant noticed, in the progress of years that each successive book-keeper gradually lost his health and finally died of consumption, however vigorous and robust he was on entering his service. At length it occurred to him that the little rear room where the books were kept opened in a back yard so surrounded by high walls that no sunshine came into it from one year's end to another. An upper room, well lighted, was immediately prepared, and his clerks had uniform good health ever after.

A familiar case to general readers is derived from medical works, where an entire family became ill, and all remedies seemed to fail of their usual results, when accidentally a window glass of the family room was broken, in cold weather. It was not repaired, and forthwith there was a marked improvement in the health of the inmates. The physician at once traced the connection, discontinued his medicines, and ordered that the window pane should not be replaced.

A French lady became ill. The most eminent physicians of her time were called in, but failed to restore her. At length Dupuytren, the Napoleon of physics, was consulted. He noticed that she lived in a dim room, into which the sun never shone, the house being situated in one of the narrow streets, or, rather, lanes of Paris. He at once ordered more airy and cheerful apartments, and "all her complaints vanished."

The lungs of a dog become tuberculated (consumptive) in a few weeks if kept confined in a dark cellar. The most common plant grows spindly, pale and scraggling if no sunlight falls upon it. The greatest medical names in France, of the last century, regarded sunshine and pure air as equal agents in restoring and maintaining health.

From these facts, which cannot be disputed, the most common mind should conclude that cellars and rooms on the northern side of buildings, or apartments into which the sun does not immediately shine, should never be occupied as family rooms or chambers, or as libraries or studies. Such apartments are only fit for purposes which never require persons to remain in them over a few minutes at a time. And every intelligent and humane parent will arrange that the living-room and the bedrooms shall be the most commodious, lightest and brightest apartments in his dwelling.

Appreciated the Cider.

Some years ago a well-known foreign prince, who owns a large estate in the midlands of England, invited his tenants to a hunt breakfast, at which claret was the principal beverage. After the breakfast, and just before the hounds were thrown off, champagne was handed around in large cups, when one old-fashioned farmer, after taking a long pull at one of the cups and smacking his lips, exclaimed: "Well, your royal highness, I didn't think much of that port wine we had at lunch, but I must say I appreciated the cider."
