PERSONAL MENTION.

J. O. Mack is in Pendleton, and will start a bowling alley at that place.

Mrs. Chas. Stone is in the city from Seattle, spending a few days with her husband.

Malcolm McInnis went to Moffat Springs this morning to remain over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Haworth left this morning for Oakland, Or., where they will spend a month with Mr. and Mrs. E. Haworth.

Mr. H. H. McIntire, a mining expert of Minneapolis, is in the city, having recently come from the Kootenai country. He goes to Baker City tonight.

THE DON JUAN MINE.

The Machinery for a Ten-stamp Mill on the Ground.

The recent eastern purchasers of the Don Juan mine, in Robinsonville district, where is also located the Bonanza mine, just sold for three-quarters of a million dollars, are fast putting that promising property in shape to become an early day large bullion producer.

The machinery for a ten-stamp mill is now on the ground and will be put in place as soon as the mill building are completed, and which are fast nearing a finishing touch. A large boiler and engine has arrived, en route to the mill, at Parker's station and will reach the mine in a day or so.

During the progress of work on the mill, the mine is undergoing scientific development, and the little three-stamp mill which has been on the property and in operation for a year past, continues to pump away an exceedingly rich ore. A cleanup a few days ago, after a run of eight days, yielded $1,000, a most encouraging showing to the new owners and offering the most promising prospects for the new mill.

The force of thirty men are employed in the mine and on top ground, and the mine now presents a very busy scene of industry.

THE CHURCHES.

At the Congregational church, corner of Court and Fifth streets, Sunday services as follows: At 11 a. m. worship, and a sermon by Rev. Chas. Huntington of Eureka, Calif. There will be no evening service. Sunday school after the morning service. Meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p. m. Topic, Putting religion into our daily tasks. All persons not worshipping elsewhere are cordially invited.

The Forest Reserve.

Messrs. Huntington & Wilson today received from Congressman Ellis a copy of the rules and regulations governing forest reserves. The section which is of especial interest to the sheepmen of this locality is as follows:

"13. The pasturing of livestock in the public lands in forest reservations will not be interfered with so long as it appears that injury is not being done to the forest growth, and the rights of others are not thereby jeopardized. The pasturing of sheep is, however, prohibited in all forest reservations except those in the states of Oregon and Washington, for the reason that sheep grazing has been found injurious to the forest cover, and therefore of serious consequence in regions where the rainfall is limited. The exception in favor of the states of Oregon and Washington is made because the continuous moisture and abundant rainfall of the Cascade and Pacific coast ranges make rapid renewal of herbage and undergrowth possible. Owners of sheep are required to make application to the commissioner of the general land office for permission to pasture, stating the number of sheep and the location of the reserves where it is desired to graze. Permission will be refused or revoked whenever it shall appear that sheep are pastured in parts of the reserves especially liable to injury, or upon and in the vicinity of the Bull Run reserve, Crater Lake, Mount Rainier, Mount Hood, or other well-known places of public resort or reservoir supply. Permission will also cease upon proof of neglect as to the case of fires being made by herders, or of the violation by them of any of the forest reserve regulations."

received from a vicious cow a few days ago. The animal thrust a horn into his thigh, broke his nose, split his lip, broke his left arm and injured him internally. Then she made for her captor, Butcher Ed May, and would have killed his horse on the spot, but for the fact that her horn caught the heel of May's shoe. The horn went entirely through the shoe just under the heel of his foot, and pierced the horse's side slightly. She attacked a buggy containing a lady and two little girls, and had nearly upset it when the horse to which she was attached pulled her away. Then she leaped off a bridge, stripping the saddle from the horse and sending May kiting. The beast was finally got to the shambles.

Contest Cases Decided.

The register and receiver of the land office have passed upon several contest cases recently as follows:

Wade H. Huston against Oscar P. Bunker, homestead entry 5245; recommended for cancellation.

B. F. Pike against Henry A. Rawson, homestead entry 3213; recommended for cancellation.

Chas. N. Gitman against Benjamin N. Hawley, homestead entry 5929; cancellation recommended.

James J. Allen against Hattie Cecil; contest dismissed.

William Smith against Edwin A. Mattoon, homestead entry 5551; recommended for cancellation.

What use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested?

If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested, when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy; then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains food already digested and is a digester of foods as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

Doctors prescribe Laxol because it has all the virtues of Castor Oil and is palatable.

FORGOT COLORS.

Experience of a Man Who Was Nine Months in a Dark Room.

The human eye, though trained to distinguish colors, may by want of use forget how to distinguish them. The unique experience of Dr. R. Harley, F. R. S., related in the London Spectator, establishes the fact that color can be forgotten, as well as learned, by human sight.

Dr. Harley, in order to save the sight of one, perhaps of both eyes, when one was injured, voluntarily immured himself in a room made totally dark for nine months.

The fortitude which enabled him to adopt this course and the ingenuity by which he preserved his health and faculties in this, the most mentally and physically depressing of all forms of imprisonment, are sufficiently remarkable; but Dr. Harley also kept an accurate record of his impressions when he at last looked again upon the light, after the supreme moment at which he satisfied himself that he was not blind, but could see.

He found that in the nine months' darkness his eyes had lost all sense of color. The world was black, white and gray. They had also lost the sense of distance. His brain interpreted the picture wrongly. His hand did not touch the object meant to be grasped. Practice soon remedied the last induced defect of sight. Experiment with skeins of various-colored wool, in the presence of one who had normal color vision, restored the first.

CHASING A GOVERNMENT.

Difficulty That a Chinese Ambassador Experienced in France.

The present voyage of Li Hung Chang brings to memory the trials of Chang How, once Chinese ambassador to France. In 1870, says the New York Times, he went to Europe to settle the contentions which had arisen following the massacre of Tien-Tsin. When Chang How left China the French empire still existed; when he landed in France the empire had been overthrown, and he did not know to whom he should address himself. At Marseilles they told him that a government had been installed at Tours. Chang How went there as soon as possible, but found that MM. Cremieux and Glais-Buzoin, who then represented the government, had gone to Bordeaux. "Let us go to Bordeaux," said Chang How, philosophically, but when he arrived the old difficulty arose—to whom should he present himself, Cremieux or Admiral Fourichon? No one could tell him. Gambetta was coming in a balloon, but it was impossible to reach him. Then Chang How went to see Jules Favre. He was told that the assembly had gone to Versailles. "Very well," he said, "let us go to Versailles." So the entire embassy left for that city.

At last M. Thiers had been appointed head of the government, and Chang How would be able to speak to him. Not at all. They demanded the ambassador's credentials for the new government. He had none. "In that case it is impossible to present you. Go to Peking, get your papers made out in due form, return, and you will be presented to M. Thiers." So Chang How took his departure.

THE FIRST BATTLE is an interesting story of the great political struggle of 1896, its most important events and the many issues involved; a logical treatise on Bi-metallism as uttered by eminent exponents, including the part taken by Hon. W. J. Bryan in the silver agitation prior to the L. V. Oratio National Convention, and during his campaign; the best examples of his wonderful oratory; the most noteworthy incidents of his famous tour, a careful review of the political situation, a discussion of the election returns and the significance thereof, and the future possibilities of Bi-metallism as a political issue.
