WHAT IS RIGHT?

The study of finance is well calculated to cause dissenting opinions and diametrically opposite conclusions, according to which foot the student gets foremost. For instance, an exchange makes some estimates as to the vast amount of money put in circulation by parties leaving for the Clondyke. It estimates that 10,000 people have already started, and that each has spent $500. This, it thinks, has improved the trade of the whole country, and yet 10,000 people spending $500 each would put in circulation only $5,000,000. It does not seem reasonable to suppose that this would cause any great rush of business, since it would mean only seven cents apiece for the people of the United States.

On the other hand it is expected the Clondyke will produce $50,000,000 next year, or about seventy cents per capita for the people of the United States. A southern paper estimates that the saving of a cent a day by every person in the United States would amount to more than five times this sum, or about $270,000,000 in a year, while our estimate yesterday shows that the curtailing of expenses by every family in the United States in the sum of twenty-five cents a day, or five cents each, would amount to, in round numbers, $1,400,000,000, a sum nearly equal to all the money in the United States. One person figures that the saving of a cent a day will make the nation prosperous; another that the saving of five times as much will paralyze business. One concludes that saving makes prosperity; the other that squandering makes prosperity. And there you are.

WITH A LITTLE SALT.

Mr. P. J. Jennings, according to the Oregonian, has a small Clondyke of his own in the Excelsior district, Douglas county. He has kept the yield of the mine quiet, because he had to perfect the title, but now that this is done, he unbosoms himself. He says that he went to work February 5th last, with three men and a hand mortar and working the decomposed quartz and porphyry with rockers, and that they averaged $300 per day during the month, some days getting $800 or $900, and out of one pan $400.

We really believe Mr. Jennings has a miniature Clondyke, or at least that he cut the cloth for his story over a Clondyke pattern. It has many of the sinuosities of a Yukon tale, and some of the discrepancies that will creep into such tales. Where the Alaska symptoms crop out is in the statement that notwithstanding this big body of ore which paid nearly $100 a day to the man with a rocker and a hand mortar, Mr. Jennings sold a one-fifth interest to Chicago people for $25,000, an amount equal, according to the output from the rockers, about one day's run with a five stamp quartz mill. The story is strong enough, but unfortunately the mine is not far enough away or difficult enough of access to create any excitement. In other words the tale has not traveled far enough to get a proper polish.

The dispatches show that a regular panic prevails in Havana since the insurgents made their successful attack on the suburbs. Citizens who have heretofore been confident of Spain's ultimate success, are fleeing from the city, virtually confessing that the cause of Spain is lost, and the liberty of Cuba only a question of a short time. It may be possible that Cubans themselves will settle the question of Cuban independence without interference by the United States. Whether it does or not, it is possible that Spain will force a war with this country, laying the blame for Cuban success upon us. This will be done solely for the purpose of solidifying Spain and preventing the overthrow of the monarchy.

The Pioneer Fireproof construction plant at Ottawa, Illinois, the largest of its kind in the world, was partly destroyed by fire Sunday. This is one of the sarcasms of circumstances, only equaled by the burning several years ago of the factory that manufactured the hand grenades for extinguishing fires, at which time it was stated more than a million of the grenades were burned.

Since Prof. Andree sailed away in his balloon from northern Norway, about two weeks ago, nothing has been heard from him, and the chances are at least even that he has vanished forever from the knowledge of men.

If the Oregonian and Telegram would give the country a rest on the gold standard and Billy Bryan it would be appreciated. We have the gold standard, and will continue to have it indefinitely, and as for Bryan, why continue to write daily his obituary?

Origin of the Word "Snob."
"While turning over the leaves of the eighth volume of the Sporting Magazine, published in 1796," says a writer in Notes and Queries, "I have come upon what I think is a very early instance of the word 'snob.' The context does not indicate its meaning, but I apprehend there is no doubt that we must interpret it by the shoemaker. The writer is discoursing of races at Whitechurch. He says that 'there was a very respectable field; and although neither the duke of Queensbury, Lord Egremont nor his royal highness the prince of Wales were present, it being a holiday time, a number of royal snobs were.'"

Shading Marble.
A newly discovered process for treating marble or other similar stones in order to give them any colored shade, veins or spots, consists in leaving these stones in one or more baths composed of a solution of alcohol and one or more colors of aniline or other coloring materials. The coloring materials are fixed by leaving the colored stones in a bath of oil or any other fat substance, or by applying upon the stones layers of the same stuff. The absorption of the organic coloring materials and of the fat substances by the stone may be accelerated by heating or boiling the bath which contains the stuff to be treated.

The True Remedy.
W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. (4)

Hundreds of thousands have been induced to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by reading what it has done for others, and having tested its merits for themselves are today its warmest friends. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
