A WHITEMAN'S WORLD.

Dr. John Fryer, professor of Oriental languages in the California state university, has arrived home from China, where he has been in consultation with high governmental officials concerning the founding of a university at Shanghai for the education of the Chinese in western art, science and literature. To a certain class of minds missionary and educational work does not pan out rapidly enough in home institutions, and they go rushing off to remote lands to find a Clondyke of ignorance to delve in. It is an open question as to the benefits derived, or to be derived, from their laborious efforts and unbounded zeal. It is doubtful if the realization of their dreams would be of any material benefit to the heathen, and quite probable that it would result in injury to the civilized races of the world. The doctrine of the survival of the fittest is the law of nature, and while it will be hundreds of years before the ultimate result is reached, it is as certain as anything human can be certain that in time the Caucasian will people the world, and will people it alone. His encroachments have been gradual, but he has crowded out the natives of the Americas. He has planted his feet in Africa, and before him the Negro will vanish. Crowding down from the North the Russian will sweep over China, and the inferior race will die out. The Turk will vanish first from Europe and then from Asia. The bushmen of Australia, like the American Indian, will soon be only a tradition; and last of all to go will be the Hindoo, but he, too, will in time give way to the irresistible tide of white civilization.

The education of the races will, perhaps, hasten the end, for it will stir the slumbering millions to resistance of the Caucasian's encroachments, and the resistance will be in vain. In fifty years the Caucasian has doubled in numbers, and has doubled, according to Mather's law because he has solved the problem of making the soil support a larger population. He has banished famine and plague by annihilating distance. He has doubled the life of man by studying the laws of hygiene and discovering the cause of disease. Fevers, pestilence, contagious diseases that sweep away countless thousands of his rivals, he defies, for he knows the cause and the remedy.

The world is to be the white man's world, and before him the other races shall dwindle away slowly, steadily and surely. At Lynn, Mass., Wednesday Thos. Kelliher and Susan Denny had a "lovers' quarrel." They had indulged in that kind of pleasantries before and had just "made up" when Kelliher took a wad of gum from his mouth, and to show that he bore no grudge over their late unpleasantness, stuck the gum in her hair. Then they quarreled again, and she seized an eight-ounce bottle of vitrol and threw it in Kelliher's face, destroying his sight and disfiguring him for life. That couple would have made a daisy pair, and it is really too bad that they were not married. A fool and a fury tied together might have broken the record for matrimonial cussedness.

Any reasonable tax levied upon the miners by the Canadian government would be paid cheerfully, but a tax of twenty per cent of the gross products of a mine, is out of all reason, and the Canadian government will have trouble in collecting it. Canada has the undoubted right to prohibit Americans, or any other foreigners, mining on her soil; but if she does, or if she so hampers them as to practically prohibit them, she must expect her citizens to suffer the effects of retaliatory legislation.

President McKinley is very friendly to the Nicaraguan canal scheme, and at the next session of congress will, it is said, have something to say about it in his message. Nicaragua is disposed to back out of the agreements she has made since she became a part of the Greater Republic, but the concessions made by her previous to joining the federation must be kept by the latter. The prospect for work being begun on the canal within the next year is good.

Secretary Wilson has sent a number of experts to Alaska "to look after our agricultural interests there." This may sound foolish at first, but it has been demonstrated that potatoes, onions and radishes can be grown at points on the Yukon. Can it be possible that the secretary is surreptitiously looking out a place for the Debs colony? It would be a dandy place, for they would have to work so hard they wouldn't have time to talk.

OBEYED TO THE LETTER.

But the Waiter Knew What Was What, Just the Same. He is an old, disgruntled looking bachelor, and he dines every evening in a chop house not far from Broadway, says the New York Herald. "Waiter," he said, the other evening, "now take this order and see if you can get along without eternally suggesting things. No, I don't want anything from the bar. I'd say so if I did. Nice celery, eh? You wooden-headed idiot, didn't I tell you that I had sense enough to know what I wanted, without any suggestions from you?" "Yes, sir," said the waiter, submissively. "Now, then," resumed the old chap, "you may bring me Lyonnaise potatoes, coffee, small cup, and—ah—yes, a little old Stilton. Now, hurry up; don't stand gawking." The waiter went away and returned with the order. "What! How's this?" exclaimed the man, pounding with his fists upon the table. "Where's that sirloin steak I ordered?" "You ordered none, sir," replied the functionary, with a low bow. "I would have suggested as much, but I feared to displease you." "You're a nice waiter," yelled the old man, and he turned as red as old Burgundy. "All you need is an iron fence and board of lunacy commissioners to be an insane asylum. Why did you ask me if I want a sirloin steak if I didn't order it?" "Yes, sir," said the waiter. Two minutes later he returned with the steak. He had called for it when he sent down the original order.

The True Remedy. W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. (4)
