"Last summer one of our grandchildren was sick with a severe bowel trouble," says Mrs. E. G. Gregory, of Fredericktown, Mo. "Our doctor's remedy had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave very speedy relief." For sale by Blakeley and Houghton.

Reasons Why Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the Best.
 1. Because it affords almost instant relief in case of pain in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus.
 2. Because it is the only remedy that never fails in the most severe cases of dysentery and diarrhoea.
 3. Because it is the only remedy that will cure epidemical dysentery.
 4. Because it is the only remedy that will prevent bilious colic.
 5. Because it is the only remedy that will cure chronic diarrhoea.
 6. Because it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon in cases of cholera infantum.
 7. Because it is the most prompt and most reliable medicine in use for bowel complaints.
 8. Because it produces no bad results.
 9. Because it is pleasant and safe to take.
 10. Because it has saved the lives of more people than any other medicine in the world.

HIS RICHES TOOK WINGS.
Farmer's Treasured Geese Take a Notion to Fly.
 A Pawtuxet valley farmer, whose farm is near the village of Crompton, had a literal exemplification a few days ago of the old adage which says that "Riches take unto themselves wings and fly away," says the Providence Journal. Something over a year ago he and his son fired at a flock of wild geese that flew over his farm and managed to bring down nearly two-score of them. About 13 of the birds were only wounded, and, surviving the shooting, were so carefully kept that in a year their captors had succeeded by judicious breeding in increasing the stock to over 70 geese and goslings. They were kept in a pen that was covered with wire netting, and seemed to have become thoroughly domesticated and satisfied with their surroundings.
 One day lately the farmer, wishing to let them feast awhile on the tender blades of grass that were sprouting in an adjoining field, opened the coop and let the strange flock into the pasture green and new. And this is where he made a mistake. The half-wild ganders, geese and goslings revelled for awhile amid the verdant grass and new-found freedom, but never made an effort to rise above mundane things, and the experiment was voted a success by the owners of the flock. They congratulated themselves too soon, however, for later in the day there came winding over the Coventry hills, high in air, a snaky black line from which there floated down into that Crompton farmer's pasture the "honk, honk" of the wild goose, a sound familiar to sportsmen, which it seems the half-wild geese in the verdant meadow also understood.
 Without waiting to bid their owner good-by, with one accord the ganders, geese and goslings arose on new-found wings to join their free fellows near the clouds, and before the farmer knew what had happened they were out of gunshot, following the black trail toward the southeastern horizon.

JOBS OF CHEMISTS.
The Queer Class of Patrons That They Have to Serve.
 Chemists sometimes have queer experiences. The following facts, says the Chicago Journal, were told by a professor in one of the western universities: "For about ten years I have made a specialty of examining and reporting upon cases of real or suspected poisoning. As a number of my cases have been connected with murder trials, I have had considerable notice in the daily papers. This reputation for making analyses for poisons has brought me a queer class of patrons. "Every year I have one or more old men come to me with samples of food to be examined for poison. These men, without exception, have married young wives, and when the husband is taken sick and does not recover as quickly as he thinks he should, he begins to suspect that his young wife wants to get rid of him, and is poisoning him gradually through the medium of his food. Of course he does not want his wife to know of his suspicions, and he quietly gets a sample of the food he suspects, and at some unusual hour for work, generally either early in the morning or very late in the evening, he comes to me and tells me very secretly that he wishes to have an examination for poison made."
 "Now, the odd part is that, though I have made a number of such analyses, I have never found poison present in any case. Then the husband is very much afraid that his wife will find out that she suspects her, and he gets out of my laboratory in the quickest and quietest manner possible. So every year I expect to see some elderly man coming apprehensively up my office stairs with a well-concealed sample of food about him to be examined for poison. Every year he comes, every year I make my analysis and find no poison, and every year the old gentleman gets information that he considers cheap at the price."

Birds Strangely Concealed.
 Mr. A. H. Thayer, an artist, believes he has discovered that the light color of the under parts of birds and small mammals serves to conceal them from their enemies. At a recent meeting of the American Ornithologists' union he proved by experiments that an object nearly of the color of the ground, like a potato, is very conspicuous when placed a few inches above the soil and viewed from a little distance. But when the under side is painted white and gradually shaded into the color of the upper part, the object disappears by blending with the ground; the whiteness beneath counteracts the effect of the shadow of the body.
