A QUAINT BIT OF GERMANY. Region Just Out of Berlin Remarkable for Its 61d Customs. The Spreewald is the subject of a paper in Century. The writer says: Strange, indeed, that so near Berlin so old-time and curious a community could have remained reasonably uncontaminated by the bordes of pienickers. The Spreewald is too near a great capital for foreigners to hear much of it. The museums and palaces of Berlin, the palaces of Potsdam, absorb all the spare energy of foreign visitors. And for convenient outflights it is a little too far for most burghers of Berlin. Some have country places in and near the Spreewald. Many visit it occasionally. It is a favorite place for people from Dresden and Leipsie who can give several days to exploring its watery labyrinths. Especially for the teaching guild is it a favorite resort. Every village has its ions, and at Burg, where Vendish services are held in the old church and the costume remains the most antique, there are several famous taverns. One is the bleachery where Frederick the Great established a colony of dyers and weavers, who have disappeared, although the art is still practiced by private means for personal use ly and acts directly on the blood and in many farmhouses. But the fine green, orange, pink and lilac headdress- for testimonials, free. es and the turquoise, gray and yellow skirts are now bought at Cottbus or in Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Color Line in British Army.

With all England's condemnation of the social disadvantages to which the colored race is subjected in the United States, she is giving abundant evidence of being imbued with radiant. Thus, the volunteer regiments of the Mich. great universities have declined to admit to their ranks students of Indian or of African origin, and a number of other volunteer and militia corps, ineluding the Inns of Court batallion, composed of members of the legal profession, have followed suit.

Catlay Being for a Bottle of Tar.

"'A life on the ocean wave,
And a home on the rolling deep,
Where the scattered waters rave
And the winds their vigil keep."

"I don't know that I have the quotation exactly right," said Mr. Biffeby, according to the New York Sun, "but it will serve as an introduction to what want to say.

"I am very fond of yachting, but I don't go as much as I would like to, on account of the expense. But I am 1 00 not without the enjoyments of yachting; for when the desire for water comes over me, as it does every summer, I manage to go yachting at home

"Every spring I buy about a pound of tar, which I keep in a bottle tightly corked. When it comes along some drowsy summer day, and I feel that I would like to be lying on deck baking in the sun, with the yacht nodding along lazily in the summer breeze, then

I take a trip at home.
"That night I eat fish for dinner, or clam chowder, and I go to bed early. Before going to bed I start the water running in the bathroom; the sound of it makes the waves, lapping against the bow of the boat. I clew up the awnings only partly; the starting of the awnings when the wind gets in their folds does for the swaying sails. I bring out the bottle of tar and uncork it, and set it on a chair up by the head of the bed. I douse the glim and tumble into bed, 'Rocked in the radle of the deep."
