SOME WILD DAY-DREAMS.

Surely the Clondyke excitement has developed many kinds and degrees of madness. No scheme is too visionary to attract apparently sensible men; no idea too wild to catch and hold innumerable followers; no dream of the tenderfoot, who does not know a Hungarian riddle from a sluice fork, so fairy-like that it will not unloosen the purse strings that have been tied in a double hard knot for years. Gold is the mighty magician that dazzles the eyes and blunts the vision of its victims, while it lures them on to the fields of everlasting ice.

The rudderless minds of the insane asylums could not evolve wilder or more senseless theories than those resulting from the deliberations of gold-mad men. A warp of fancy and a woof of dreams, woven by the delirious fingers of the ecstatic into a cloth of the field of gold, furnishes the material from which these visionaries make the garments for their moonings. Aladdin has rubbed his ring, the earth has opened, and in the far-away Clondyke every icicle has become a diamond, every snowball a pearl, every pebble a golden nugget; beans and sow-belly at long range become an epicurean feast, and 72 below zero is glamourised into the spicy breezes of Cathay. Mosquitoes and gnats are no longer torments, but become Nature's soothing emollients and aids to slumber. Work, hardship and suffering are a best girl, a hammock and peaches and cream. A hundred-pound pack on the back up the icy sides of Chilcat pass is synonymous with biking down grade of a summer evening. Love's young dream is as prosy as digging potatoes compared to it.

It is really too bad that the awakening shall come. Aladdin will lose his lamp, the fairy and airy palaces will vanish, the dreams will fade, the visions pale before the sunshine of returning reason.

The election in Ohio comes off in October and promises to be the most hotly contested one ever held in the state. The Democracy have it in for Hanna, and as the legislature is to be elected that chooses his successor, everything that can be done to accomplish his defeat will be tried. In talking with a prominent politician who lives in Ohio, but is now visiting the coast, he expressed the above views, and added that the coal-miners' strike would be of great assistance to the Democrats, and might throw the victory to them, as Hanna is largely interested in coal mines.

The term of United States Marshal Grady expires by limitation early in September, and it is therefore probable his successor will be named within the next two weeks. Should the president not appoint Justice Field will have the naming of the temporary marshal. Justice Field will also have the naming of a successor to United States Attorney Murphy should the president fail to appoint, and as his term also expires in September, those on the anxious seat are liable to soon have their doubts settled.

Any old thing is good enough to get to Alaska on. The old steamer Eliza Anderson that was built so long ago that most steamboat people had forgotten her, has been equipped for the Alaska trade, and is to go to the mouth of the Yukon at that. She was in the boneyard for a dozen years, and lay at the bottom of the Sound for a year or two, a sunken wreck; but she is good enough for the gold-seekers.

The action of the Canadian government in taxing gold miners of the Yukon twenty per cent of their products has caused a storm of protests from British Columbians. We are pleased to note that our neighbors across the border are actuated by a desire to see fair play, but we fear the Canadian government will pay little heed to their protests. The Canadian government is "sot in its ways."

A woman's Clondyke syndicate expedition has been organized in New York City. Mrs. Helen Varick Boswell is president, and among the patronesses are Mrs. Jennie June Crowlew, Mrs. Laura Wear, Walter, Chicago, and other ladies from the leading cities. It would not be a bad thing if the ladies should spend a winter in Alaska and get some of their surplus names frost-bitten.

A Mrs. Wilson, who resides at Birmingham, Vermont, has her bedstead covered with postage stamps. The stamps are glued to the bedstead and then covered with a coat of varnish. Covering a bedstead with postage stamps, it strikes us, is about the most dangerous thing a lone, lorn woman could do.

Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write to me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.
