Men's tan shoes at half price at A. M. Williams & Co.'s. $5.00 shoes, $2.50; $4.00 shoes for $2.00. Rare offerings. Don't miss them.

Refreshments will be served on the steamer on the occasion of the excursion Saturday evening and those who desire it, will be allowed to dance.

The fleet of fish wheels is again anchored at the old grounds, near the sand bar. They have a desolate sort of look, as though they had been out of work for a long time.

The ladies of the First Christian church will give a lawn social at the home of Mrs. James on Friday evening, Aug. 12th. Ice cream and cake 10 cents. Everybody invited.

The kind of shirt waist you paid $1.50 for, earlier in the season, are now selling for 75 cents; $1.00 kind are 50 cents, and 75 cent lines closing out at 35 cents each at A. M. Williams & Co.'s.

The collecting committee for the tournament was out today and met with very liberal responses. The success of the matter is now assured, though considerable more money will have to be raised.

Do not forget that the ladies of the Catholic church have invited you to go on an excursion on the steamer Regulator Saturday evening. The boat leaves the wharf at 9 o'clock, and will return about midnight. Tickets 50 cents.

Lillian Bell writes to a New York paper advocating a training school for lovers. Lillian is about right. The average man would have to go into training before he would be able to put up even a strong bluff at loving certain women.

Some hard-hearted wretch took advantage of Simmonds being confined in the county jail to burglarize his house last night, taking a sack of sugar, blankets and other things. Simmonds is out with the sheriff this morning trying to get track of the thief.

Portland is to send a steamer to run on the Yukon. It is the Eugene, which will be towed to the mouth of the Yukon, leaving Seattle August 22d. She draws only 2 1/2 feet of water loaded with 400 tons of freight, and expects to reach Dawson City by September 10th.

Mrs. Mary Brittain and her brother, Mr. Henry Bills, came up from Mosier, where they have been camping, last night, having been sent for on account of the fire of Wednesday. Mrs. Brittain friends will be glad to learn that her household goods were insured for $1000.

At the meeting of the executive committee last night it was determined to go ahead with the tournament and the collecting committee started out again this morning. Our business men and property owners should remember that their fire department is not paid, and that a liberal response to the call for tournament funds, is after all but a small return for services rendered.

The ladies of St. Peter's church will give a moonlight excursion on the steamer Regulator next Saturday evening, leaving here at 9 p. m. and returning at 12. The profits arising from this excursion will go into the fund for the new church, and being a worthy cause, should be liberally patronized by the people of The Dalles. Music for the excursion will be furnished by the band. Tickets 50 cents.

The residence of Mr. Ohrt, two miles from Tangent, was burned to the ground Monday. The published account of the affair states that at the time "Mr. Ohrt was in the field, Mrs. Ohrt was lying on the lounge and the daughter was at work." This should be a warning to girls not to go working about the house while their mothers loaf on the lounge. It is the only case on record of the kind—and the house burned down.

F. H. VanNorden this morning received from his father, who is at the seaside, a full grown specimen of a "Stingarec" which he has displayed in the window of his jewelry store. It is all head but its stinger, or to be exact all stinger except its head. Looking at that horn-like stinger one can easily believe that if it was jammed into his system his first impression would be that he had been stabbed with a marlin spike.

Portland is disposed to find fault with Seattle because the latter has outfitted six men for the Yukon to her one. If she only knew it, Portland is fast losing a trade more profitable than that of the Klondike. Seattle is selling goods in large quantities in the Willamette valley, even as far south as Ashland, and the trade of Eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho is being absorbed by these same Seattle rustlers. They are underselling and out-generalling Portland at every turn, and unless our metropolis gets a move on, the grass will grow on Front street.

A couple of Englishmen, who came over from Canada recently hired the celebrated White Salmon bear hunter, Stump, with his pack of hounds, and passed through town this morning, bound for the mountains south of here, presumably on a hunt for bear. Besides seven gaunt and hungry looking hounds that followed the procession, there was a six-horse team loaded with dogs, and two two-horse teams carrying supplies.

Reports from a number of the most prominent hopgrowers of Lane county are to the effect that most of the hop vines have been destroyed, and there is but little danger of them doing any injury to the hop crop. Spraying has been resorted to in nearly all yards under cultivation this year, and many growers have gone through the spraying process thoroughly three times, and nearly every yard has been sprayed twice. The prospects now are for a good crop and a good price.

It has been claimed by bird fanciers that a China pheasant and a domestic hen would not cross. This theory has been knocked in the head by John Kerns of Philomath. Many months ago he secured a China pheasant cock and a couple of bantam hens and placed them in an enclosure to themselves. In due season his patience was rewarded with a setting of eggs. Of this setting only one egg hatched, and it brought forth rather a queer looking little rooster. It is now six weeks or two months old and is as lively and strong as possible. China pheasants and domestic chickens can be successfully crossed. This fact was proven in this city last year by Dr. J. C. Gray, whose fowls while running at large cohabited with China pheasants and produced a handsome pair of hybrids.—Corvallis Times.

SMILES.

Editor—That is a most ridiculous blunder you made, Jaggerson, in old Solidmann's obituary. You say, "He leaves an only widow." Reporter—Well, what's wrong with that? Most of the millionaires who've died seem to have left more than one.—Puck.

"What's the matter now?" asked the leading actor as the manager tore a letter to shreds and stamped his feet. "Matter? That performance of yours is so infernally bad that this person demands that his name be stricken from the free list!"—Detroit Free Press.

"You have all sorts of pie, I see by a sign in the window," said the facetious customer, as he went into a bakery and addressed one of the young women who stood behind the counter. "Yes, sir. What kind do you want?" "I will take a magpie, if you please." At this remark another young woman snickered, but the other girl turned to her promptly, and said: "Here, Bertha! You're wanted."—Harper's Bazar.

STEAMER GEO. W. ELDER, Aug. 2, '97. EDITOR CHRONICLE:

Our voyage so far has been exceptionally pleasant, excepting on the bar we had no rough water. I did not get sick until we had been out about three hours and I was not sick then when I kept still, but when I ate some breakfast I concluded the fish had not had any, so I cheerfully gave it up to them. One old fish winked at me and told me to eat another breakfast.

We rounded Cape Flattery at 8 o'clock in the evening, and were only on the deep sea twelve hours. It was perfectly calm all day. The straits and channels we are in now, and will be in the rest of the way, are as smooth as the Columbia river. The gulf of Georgia is as smooth as a mirror. We have been amusing ourselves all day watching the whales, which appear by the hundred. The scenery is beautiful, only excelled by that of the Columbia between The Dalles and Portland.

Aug. 3—There was nothing of important interest today. The weather is delightful. There are three ladies on board who are going to Klondike. The trip down the Yukon is not dangerous. There has been a contract for a monthly mail all winter.

Aug. 4.—We passed the most beautiful scenery last night that I have ever seen. There were numerous glaciers, which seemingly reached the clouds.

Aug. 5.—We expect to arrive at Juneau this evening. In this latitude it does not get dark until 10 o'clock and gets light at 3. We have passed hundreds of icebergs this afternoon, and the country in general looks as if winter is coming.

Juneau, Aug. 5.—We landed here at 10 o'clock at night and it is light enough to read by daylight. Tomorrow we will spend most of the day here. This place is about the size of The Dalles and is very picturesque. We expect a great jam in getting over Chilcot pass, as there are about 3000 people waiting to get through, but we will make it all right. We are going to visit the largest gold mine in the world in the morning. JOHN PARROTT.

Mrs. Gossler Dead.

Mrs. Christina Gossler died in this city this morning. She leaves, beside her husband, four sons and three daughters. The family, all expect George, who located here in 1884, came to The Dalles from Quincy, Illinois in 1891.

Mount Hood Hose Co.

There will be a regular meeting of Mt. Hood Hose Co., No. 4, at the hose house this evening at 8 o'clock. Tournament to be discussed.
