BAD PRACTICES.

The practice of carrying concealed weapons received another criticism yesterday. We have stated dozens of times in the course of a few years newspaper work that the convenient pistol has gotten a hundred men into trouble, where it got one out. That was the case yesterday, and the practice of carrying a pistol yesterday resulted in lodging one man in jail and putting another's life in jeopardy. With the merits of the shooting this article has nothing to do. Opinions may and will vary on that subject, but if the pistol had not been handy, the results would not have been serious.

And yet we must confess that there is some excuse for carrying concealed weapons, even though it be against the law, and that excuse is in the law itself. Assault and battery cases are dealt with too leniently. One man, because he has the strength, beats another, and that other, appealing to the law, finds that the chances are even of his assailant being acquitted, and he discovers, also, that the jury of his assailant's peers measures that opponent's attack as an assault only. The wounded feelings, soiled clothes and battered face have not weight enough to be classed as a battery, and the judge, in accordance with the verdict, measures the damages at a nominal sum, say $5 to $20. Neither the judge nor the jury own the black eye and swollen nose, consequently it does not appear serious to them, but it is an incontrovertible fact that when a man gets a swollen nose or a black eye he fancies he has the biggest and blackest specimens ever produced. He thinks he has at least a hundred dollars' worth, and he has. Then, instead of him getting any part of the fine, the state thinks revenge salve enough for him, and devotes the money to its own purposes. This causes a good citizen to feel that the law does not protect him, and he, going back to a state of nature, determines to protect himself.

The Dalles has had entirely too much of this kind of thing, and it is to be hoped that the affair of yesterday will serve as a warning to those who go seeking quarrels, and also serve to point out to those who have the enforcement of the laws, both judges and jurors, the necessity of swift, sure and severe punishment of those who indulge in the luxury of thumping someone else. There are whole lots of American people who do not enjoy being thrashed, and who will defend themselves when the law fails to protect them. Until the laws concerning assault and battery are enforced, people who are not athletes are going to go prepared to save themselves a beating, even if someone else has to ornament a funeral procession.

The most emphatic assertion of returning prosperity is contained in a dispatch from Chester, Pa., which says: "The employes of George C. Hazel & Co., manufacturers of worsted goods, have been notified that the wages paid in 1892 will be restored September 6th. There is no gain-saying that kind of a statement.

W. J. Jones, U. S. commissioner to Alaska, assigned to St. Michaels in a letter dated at Dyea August 4th, and addressed to the interior department, says that the miners are throwing away their packs and rushing headlong to the mines, taking barely enough to carry them in. This does not correspond with later statements received from Dyea through authentic sources, but if true there is going to be lots of suffering. Spavined dog will be a luxury inside of three months, and after that—starvation.

The future looks very bright for the Cuban patriots. Weyler is whipped into Havana, and hardly dare show himself out of it. The districts he reports as being subdued are subdued by the Cubans, not by Weyler. Spain has neither men to send nor money to spend, and the end is in sight. Before six months elapse Cuba will have a government of her own, and the Cuban flag will have a place among the nations of the world.

And now comes the report from French sources that in the duel between Prince Henry and Count Turin the latter had an armor under his clothing. In this connection it is suggestive, at least, that Prince Henry's sword was bent, and during the fight was replaced by another.

Judge Hanford has decided that the Northern Pacific Railroad Co. is entitled to about 200,000 acres of land in Clarke and Cowlitz counties, on account of the building of the line from Tacoma to Portland.

Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea. In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 187th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write to me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.
