NOTICE.

All persons having claims against The Dalles National Bank, of The Dalles, Oregon, must present the same to H. S. Wilson, receiver, with the legal proof thereof, within three months from the date hereof, or they may be disallowed. Washington, D. C. June 5, 1897. JAMES H. ECKELS, Comptroller.

WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

The cool weather indicates that the rain is over.

St. Paul's Guild will meet at Mrs. J. T. Peters tomorrow.

The Regulator carried among other freight this morning about thirty-five tons of wheat.

FOR RENT—Furnished or unfurnished rooms, at the Krause house, corner Fifth and Court streets.

Fresh oysters in every style at Andrew Keller's bakery and confectionery store.

County court met Monday, and tomorrow the commissioner's court begins its regular September session.

The Degree of Honor will have a very important meeting tomorrow night, and all members are requested to be present.

A girl wanting to attend school can find a place to assist in light housework and care of children by calling at this office.

The D. P. & A. N. are re-decking a big flat boat which will be taken to Lyle and used as a whariboat for receiving wheat.

Bread, cakes and everything of that kind, as well as confectionery, ice cream, etc., at the Elite, next door to Parkin's barber shop.

We understand that steps will be taken at once towards getting the fair started, and that it will be held this year as usual.

The public schools open Monday, and it is desired that all pupils be on hand promptly that there may be no delay in organizing classes.

Nebraska's agricultural products this year are valued at $98,000,000, which shows that Bryan's home is something of a Klondike itself.

There will be a business meeting of the Endeavor society of the Christian church this evening at 7:30. All members will please take notice.

One thousand sheep belonging to McRea are at the stockyards awaiting another flock, which is on its way in, when all will be shipped to Chicago.

Mr. Stadleman received a dispatch this morning that 8000 boxes of prunes were sold in New York city yesterday at prices ranging from 40 to 60 cents.

Andrew Keller has just received a shipment of fresh oysters, which he will serve in any style to his customers. From now on oysters can be had at his bakery and cafe.

LOST—A small square purse, drab color; contained a $5 gold piece in middle pocket, and about $2 silver. Finder will please leave at this office.

The board of equalization will meet the first Monday in October, at which time all who are dissatisfied with their assessment, will be given the opportunity to correct any error.

Now is the best time to order your roses. They are now in full bloom, and you can take your choice at the Stabling Greenhouse. Also winter-blooming plants very cheap.

Dr. Lannerburg arrived home a few days ago and can now be found in his office prepared to relieve all trouble with weak or defective eyes. His work speaks for itself, hundreds in Eastern Oregon having been benefited by his skill.

The Regulator came up last night instead of the Dalles City. This change was made so the Regulator could be in Portland Sunday and wash her boilers out. There is plenty of water here for that purpose, but the mains do not reach the river.

Mr. Roswell L. Conner and Miss Myrtle Apperson, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Apperson, were married at McMinnville, Wednesday, September 1st. Miss Apperson has quite a number of friends here, whose best wishes follow her in her voyage matrimonial.

Joe Wilson and Will Langille, both of Hood River, who were among the first to rush off to the Klondike, have been heard from. They are at Juneau, where they will remain until spring, and have sent for horses and a wagon, intending to make expenses by teaming this winter.

It is rumored that a Mr. Ireland of Oakesdale has been appointed agent here in place of E. E. Lytle, resigned. Everybody in The Dalles was in hopes Mr. George Ross would get the place, as years of faithful service entitle him to promotion and his genial disposition has made him a favorite with all who have business with the O. R. & N.

It was a strange fatality that caused the carrier pigeon that recently made the flight from Skaguay to Portland, 1200 miles, to strike the telephone wires and injure its wings, just when it had accomplished its long journey. Its fall is emblematical of that of many who are now struggling with the mountain passes in their effort to reach the gold fields.

The Southern Pacific passenger department has issued a handsome little pamphlet entitled "The Sportsman at Del Monte," showing the character of the hunting and fishing in that section of California. The pamphlet is beautifully illustrated, and no sportsman can peruse its pages without a desire to pack rod and gun and hie away to that winter paradise by the sun-down seas.

Mr. O. T. Angell and son, Arville, arrived home from Portland yesterday.

Arville has been at St. Vincent's hospital for some time having his wound treated. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago, in shooting at birds, the gun exploded, the pieces tearing a portion of his upper jaw and badly lacerating his face. The wound is healing rapidly and he will soon be all right again, though he will carry an ugly scar.

A team has been engaged today in hauling to the river the big shade trees cut down from in front of the French properties. It seems almost wicked to cut the big poplars down and yet it has become necessary on account of their proclivity to send their roots into the sewers, and to lift up the sidewalks. And yet in spite of this property owners continue to set them out, simply on account of their quick growth. Hereafter only maples or trees of that kind should be planted. It takes longer for them to grow, but once grown they do not have to be cut down.

Sunday afternoon as G. W. Aldrich and his son, Edward, proprietors of the Champion flouring mill, of Lebanon, were attempting to stop a leak in one side of their warehouse, the whole end of the warehouse gave way, completely covering them. The alarm soon spread over the town and in a few minutes a large crowd of men were at work with shovels removing the immense pile of wheat that covered them. The men were buried under the wheat nearly an hour, and when they were shoveled out the father was dead. The son was badly bruised, but it is thought he is not seriously injured.

Prosperity has, in a measure, struck the Southern Oregon Company, and along with it Coos county's exchequer, much to the pleasure of the taxpayers in general, says the Coquille City Bulletin. R. E. Shine, secretary, paid nearly $11,000 in cash to Sheriff Gage, Wednesday, such amount being due as the 1895 and 1896 taxes of the corporation. There yet remains a balance in favor of the county, aggregating $13,000 on assessments of 1893 or 1894, or under Assessor James' regime of office. These valuations are still under question in the courts, and it is not at all likely that an early settlement will be reached.

The changing of the assessment plan by the A. O. U. W. at the last meeting of the grand lodge has caused considerable comment among members of the order. Many were at first disposed to sever their connection with the order and some did so, thinking they would be assessed higher. The more thoughtful ones took the position that they would not climb any mountains until they came to them, and so determined to stay and see what the plan would do when put to a working test. Most of those who quit have signified their intention of going back, and this is the wise thing for them to do.

Cash in Your Checks. All county warrants registered prior to March 12, 1893, will be paid at my office. Interest ceases after Sept. 7, 1897. C. L. PHILLIPS, County Treasurer.

A FRUITFUL FIELD.

Christian Associations Turn Their Attention to College Students.

Many new students will enter the colleges of Oregon this fall. Many of them will have to go some distance from home and among total strangers, but the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations in all these institutions will give them not only a warm welcome, but also all the assistance in their power. To this end they issue in the larger colleges, hand books containing brief and indispensable information concerning the college and its vicinity. They also establish information bureaus where aid in securing rooms and board is given free. Then in order to remove whatever feeling of homesickness may still linger in the Freshman's breast, a reception is given to the whole entering class by the two associations.

No obligation is incurred by accepting these services, but all men and women who believe in the value and need of Christian work for students by students are given an opportunity to join one of the associations. Their principal lines of work are Bible and mission classes and regular religious meetings.

The college Christian associations are now a potent factor in the life of the colleges of the United States, numbering as they do over 800, with a membership of over 45,000. The organization is spreading rapidly through the universities of Europe, China, Japan, India and even Brazil. Thus the associations in Oregon are but a part of a growing international movement, wisely directed and heartily supported.

In order to secure the hand book or obtain information, either about the University of Oregon or the local associations, parents, pastors and prospective students, should address one of the following associations: Y. M. C. A., or Y. W. C. A., Eugene, Or.

The high standing of these beneficent organizations is evinced by the following:

I cordially commend to all who are interested in education the labors of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, in behalf of students. In this university they have been a conservative and regenerating force of the highest value. They are worthy of all confidence and their zeal deserves the warmest praise. C. H. Chapman.

A Wife's Obligations.

Under the law of California a wife can be compelled to support her husband, says the Boston Woman's Journal. This point was established recently by a decision rendered by Justice Temple, of the supreme court, concurred in by Justices Henshaw and Van Fleet and Chief Justice Beatty. The circumstances on which this decision was made were peculiar.

In Los Angeles county there live an aged couple named Livingston. The wife, Mrs. Mary A. Livingston, has reached the mature age of 70 years, and her husband, Samuel W., is even older than his wife. In fact, he is so aged as to be infirm and unable to support himself. Some time ago the wife deserted her husband, and he was left as helpless as a baby. In their more prosperous days the wife always carried the bank book, and, furthermore, she had money in her own right.

After the old woman deserted the old man he sued her for maintenance, and won the suit, the supreme court of Los Angeles county ordering Mrs. Livingston to pay her husband a monthly allowance of $24. She at once transferred all of her property to her daughter, so as to avoid the execution of the order. She was cited to appear and show cause why she should not be punished for contempt. The contempt proceedings resulted in her being committed to prison until such a time as she would comply with the order of the court. From that judgment she appealed to the supreme court, and the judgment has been affirmed.

A Slang Sloger.

"I just think it's shameful the way that girl spits slang," said an Ionia girl to a friend. "My! if I twirled my talker as she does, my blooming old dad would tan my duds until the dust was thicker than flies in fly time." "You betcher brass, and serve you right," replied the other young lady. "My parents are sunflowers of the same hue, and if I should make a raw crack in my conversation they'd thrash the rosy cussedness out of my angelic anatomy quicker than chain lightning." And just then they proceeded to suck the juice of a lemon through a stick of candy.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

The fruit displayed for sale at The Dalles commission house, shows not only that Wasco county raises the very best of fruit, but that the growers exercise great care in packing it. The pears, peaches and grapes on sale today, would be a credit to any country on earth, and we much doubt any other country equaling them.

IN the United States now enjoying food cooked in the MAJESTIC affirm that the half has not been said in its praise. The manufacturers of this Range pledge themselves that all parts of the MAJESTIC except the firebox and the new series Nos. 201 to 212, are made of steel and malleable iron, and purchasers are assured that it is as good and as honest as skilled labor and money can produce. If the parts now in malleable iron were (as in other so-called steel ranges) made of cast iron, the price could be greatly reduced; but the MAJESTIC is not made with a view to furnishing extra parts for repairs.
