A LIVE TOWN.

Sumpter, Oregon, Takes the Cake and the Bakery.

If we were asked to name the liveliest and best town in the state of Oregon, we should without a moment's hesitation say, Sumpter. A year ago it had 200 inhabitants, today it has 800. It has a fine electric light plant, is building a fine water system. Its streets are not yet free from underbrush and yet it has good sidewalks, and a big force of men grading, clearing and building its highways. It wanted a nearer and better road to Bonanza and in less than a week raised $4,000 to build it, and it built a road that is a credit to it. It has a hotel, the Spencer house, that furnishes its tables as does "the Portland," and the other hotel in the town has, as we are told, a reputation equaling it. It has stages running to Cracker, to Bonanza, to Cable Cove, to Granite, and to the other dozen camps around it. It has a saw mill cutting 30,000 feet of lumber a day, and every foot of it is sold weeks in advance.

It is a diamond in a crown setting of gold, for around it, are Cable Cove, Granite, Bonanza, Robinsonville, Greenhorn, Cracker Creek, and a dozen other rich mining camps, all of which get their supplies from Sumpter. It is a live, wide-awake hustling frontier town, with western energy and push. It is a throbbing, feverish, restless growing town, with limitless possibilities and boundless faith in itself.

THE OWNER FOUND.

S. B. Neil Finds up a Watch Charm and Restores It to James Hackett.

A year ago last June, while S. B. Neil was plowing carrots at his place on the reservation nine miles west of Pendleton, he found a watch charm—an elegant gold locket, containing two locks of hair. Mr. Neil told a good many people of his discovery, but could find no trace of the owner and kept the charm.

Wednesday Mr. Neil was talking to James Lindsey and happened to mention his find. Mr. Lindsey remembered hearing that James Hackett, the sheepman, had lost a charm, and the two proceeded to hunt up that gentleman. He was found and the story related. He seemed much interested and said the property must be his. He gave an accurate description and the charm was restored to him. Inside were the ringlets from the little heads of his two dead children, and Mr. Hackett was deeply moved at this sudden reminder of the past's painful yet tender memories.

Finally he explained the loss of the charm. It happened six or seven years ago when he was engaged with others in rounding up some horses on the reservation. It dropped off near a spring, and careful search failed to reveal it. The land has since been plowed six times or more by Mr. Neil, and the charm's recovery is considered a curious incident. —East Oregonian.

The manufacturers of this Range pledge themselves that all parts of the MAJESTIC except the firebox and the new series Nos. 201 to 212, are made of steel and malleable iron, and purchasers are assured that it is as good and as honest as skilled labor and money can produce. If the parts now in malleable iron were (as in other so-called steel ranges) made of cast iron, the price could be greatly reduced; but the MAJESTIC is not made with a view to furnishing extra parts for repairs.

The Oregon Press Association meets at Baker City October 18th and remains three days in that beautiful and enterprising town. The pencil-pushers can rest assured that they will have the world to choose from, for when Baker opens its doors it provides like Monte Christo.

The steamer Excelsior arrived in San Francisco Wednesday from St. Michaels, Alaska, with a crowd of Alaskan miners and one million dollars. The miners, most of them, had from $20,000 to $50,000 each.

The run of salmon is quite good, and the canneries here are putting up fish enough to make the catch at this point worth mentioning. The spring catch was light, Seufert Bros. putting up only about 6000 cases.

The John's lumbering company is moving its stock of lumber to the Wingate building on Second street. The move being caused by the leasing of the building by the Commercial Club. The building is being overhauled and put in shape for the Club.

Do not fail to attend the social to be given by the Good Templars at the K. of P. hall, tomorrow night. A program will be rendered, after which refreshments will be served. The small price of admission, 15 cents, ought to bring everybody out.

Bonanza is having a really serious time in getting a post office. It has at least 300 persons getting mail. A man named Cannon was appointed postmaster, but before his bonds arrived moved away. The Oregon delegation can do a needed piece of work by having the office established.

J. W. Stamper, one of the pioneers of Umatilla county, is in his 73d year, but notwithstanding he raised 13,000 bushels of wheat this year with the aid of a boy, who worked for him three months only. Mr. Stamper disposed of his wheat at seventy-six cents a bushel, and finds himself in very good shape physically as well as financially. Mr. Stamper has resided for 26 years near Athena.

The abundant fruit crop this year has caused a jar famine in Eugene, and glass jars cannot be had for love or money. The usual orders for jars were placed early in the season by dealers, who did not foresee the great demand for this ware that followed. One firm in Eugene has sold over 300 dozen glass jars this season, and could have sold many more if it had had them. Many other firms have made as large or larger sales. Being unable to get glass jars, many people are now buying stone jars and will preserve their fruit.

Speaking of Sumpter in another column, we neglected to state that the North Pole ore is so rich that it is being shipped to the Tacoma smelter without being milled; that the E. & E. mine is producing $25,000 per month; the Columbia paying about the same; the Bonanza is paying $25,000 to $30,000 per month; the Don Juan with 10 stamps is producing more than $10,000 per month; the Red Boy mine more than $20,000 and is putting on 20 more stamps that will increase its output to more than $40,000 every 30 days, and that besides these mines, all tributary to Sumpter, there are dozens of hydraulic claims that are turning out big money.

Mr. John Parrott, whose letters from Skaguay published in THE CHRONICLE, were read with great interest, arrived home last night. He came back simply because it was a question of wintering at home or in Alaska. There was no chance of getting through to Dawson City, and this being the case the sensible thing to do was to come home, and this Mr. Parrott did. Dr. Siddall also returned from Alaska, but instead of coming directly home, is at present in Ellensburg. He will be home early next week.

Saved His Life.

A surgical operation remarkable in itself and wonderful for its so far successful result, has been performed upon Adrian Hehortoge, a veteran and skillful machinist of this city.

Fifteen yards of silver wire, as large around as an ordinary hypodermic needle, have been introduced into and coiled within his aorta, the great arterial channel leading directly from the heart. These forty-five feet of wire have been in there for three months and they have saved his life. They were inserted at a time when death seemed certain because of complications resulting from a seriously injured aorta.

Technically the patient's trouble was aneurism or scalled tumor of the arterial wall, and its development to a rupture of the aorta was only a question of time with certain and instant death as the result. The wire was introduced into the distended or abnormal sac formed in the aorta, in order partly to fill it and form there a clot that in time would contract and be absorbed, thereby restoring the channel to its normal formation.

A Fatal Accident at Meacham.

Walter Hughes was killed at Meacham Tuesday by a falling tree. The Pendleton Tribune has the following account of the affair:

"Father and son were engaged in felling trees. They had cut through one tree which fell and lodged against another that was standing. Leaving it, they commenced to cut down a second tree. When they saw was nearly through this it swung and struck the tree previously felled. The two came down together and in falling brought down a third tree. The boy was watching the two trees only and was struck by the third on the neck killing him instantly. The father had to go to a neighboring ranch to procure a spade to dig his son out as he could not move the tree."
