MR. GEER'S APPOINTMENT.

The Oregonian prints Hon. T. T. Geer's letter declining the appointment of register of the land office at Oregon City. The letter is just such an one as could be expected from Tom Geer. It is manly, frank, open, plain; in fact, T. T. Geer himself. The letter is, like Geer, "way above the average," and yet we regret its writing and its publication. The position offered Mr. Geer is a good one, and it is unfortunate that it is not so good as he deserves, for there is no office in the gift of delegation or people to which he might not aspire. And yet "there are others." There are others whom the party must consider; and while Mr. Geer is probably entitled to the best, he should remember that all cannot be satisfied.

We hope he will re-consider the matter and withdraw his refusal. He ought to do it in his own interests and for the benefit of the party. He is placing himself in a peculiarly embarrassing position, for he says by his action "My services are worth so much." He measures himself and fixes his stature high. We realize his merit and know that he is not rating himself too high; but yet he is, after all, setting a value upon himself. The office is a good one, that almost any man in the state would be glad to get. Having only the kindest feelings toward Mr. Geer, and a keen appreciation of his valuable services to his party and the country during the last campaign, we sincerely hope that he may take the seat at the table provided for him, feeling sure that in the near future he will grace the head of the board.

The Oregonian, in indorsing his declination, is not moved by friendship to him nor fealty to the Republican party, and Mr. Geer, if he permits himself to be influenced by its ideas, its theories or its prejudices, will make the most serious mistake of his life. We do not believe that he has been sufficiently rewarded, but it certainly is in bad taste for him to make that assertion. We believe the delegation has done the best it could to harmonize all interests, and that every good Republican should indorse its action.

We regret to see that Hon. T. T. Geer has announced his intention of not accepting the registership at the Oregon City land office if tendered him, as recommended by the Oregon delegation; and now that the president has appointed him, we are sorry indeed of his probable refusal to take the place. It is very embarrassing to the Oregon delegation not to be able to satisfy their friends after the labored effort they have made to do so. Mr. Geer's friends ought to be willing to allow the sound money Democrats some recognition for the valuable service they rendered in carrying the state for McKinley, and the retention of T. J. Black in the place that Mr. Geer wants, is all they asked. Their request, which is reasonable and right, should be granted. There were large petitions from different parts of the state, signed by leading Republicans, asking that the sound money Democrats be recognized by the retention of Mr. Black as collector of customs. We should not be unmindful of the value of that patriotic vote or of how important it might again be to the state.

This morning we received from the Pendleton Woollen Mills a fine blanket of the variety known as "Indian robes." It was a splendid piece of work, reflecting credit on the Pendleton mills, the weavers art being rivaled by that of the dyer. As we let our critical eye (we have only one of that style) gather in the beauties of texture and color, we could not fail to draw the moral that manufactured product presented—The Dalles should have been sending blankets to the heathen instead of receiving them, (our contemporary got one) and the money expended in their manufacture should have gone to Dalles people. We can't have the Pendleton mills, of course, but we can have, and should have, others just as good. Pendleton has taken advantage of the opportunities The Dalles has neglected, and as a result is rushing to the front, with all seats reserved, while we loaf idly into the "Nigger heaven." We appreciate our neighboring town's enterprise, and we hope that her blankets may cover a multitude of sins, besides those of our contemporary.
