The Commercial Club is somewhat backward about bowling the outsiders, and there may be method in their delay. At the Umatilla house alleys this week, the lowest score of the record makers was 58, the highest 63.

Don't forget the harvest festival at the Salvation Army barracks, which begins tonight and continues four days. Supper will be served tonight and Tuesday night and there will be a sale of goods contributed to the Army or prepared by it.

The big wheat crop is making its results visible, the warehouses being crowded with teams unloading, what a miner might call "the farmers' concentrates." The golden-grained wheat is bringing eighty cents a bushel, making everybody happy.

Mrs. C. L. Phillips will have an opening of her fall millinery tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon and evening. She has some beautiful pattern hats and bonnets, besides the material to furnish you something stylish. All are invited to attend the opening.

Jim Langille and son, Doug., came in from McCoy creek during the week. Their shaft is down sixty-two feet, with good indications of being near bedrock. They were out of grub, which compelled them to come home, and they will not return until next spring.

If you suffer with headache or pain in the eyes, if print blurs when reading, you should have your eyes examined. Possible defective vision is the cause of the pain and if corrected will relieve the pain. Dr. Lannerberg, eye specialist, office in the Vogt block, will examine your eyes free of charge.

Pease & Mays today received a consignment of beans that would be a credit to Boston. There was a whole carload, twelve tons, 24,000 pounds of these miners' delights and household necessities. As it takes quite a number of beans to weigh an ounce, some curious person might figure out the number of beans in the lot.

The Dalles had no celebration July 4th, it abandoned the firemen's tournament, and now it is probable the annual meeting of the fair association will also be abandoned, and—Pendleton will get it. The matter depends upon the collections that can be made for the purpose of hanging up purses, and so far the committee is meeting with very poor success.

L. E. Morse was up from White Salmon last night, and his genial smile served to dispel the darkness and take the place of the electric light that we do not possess. At the boat this morning he incidentally remarked that the fishing in the White Salmon was at its best, and that the fish are so ravenous that the fisherman has to take his hook behind a tree to bait it.

Latest reports from Ireland confirm the statements of the threatened destitution there from the destruction of the crops. The devastation is not confined to a certain district, but includes all sections of the island. Not since 1847 has the condition been so serious. The attention of the government is urged in anticipation of the destitution and famine which is imminent.

A very rare specimen of an owl is on exhibition in Eugene. It is what is known among ornithologists as the monkey owl, its face bearing a very striking resemblance to the monkey. It was captured by George Smith at Coburg, after he had broken a wing. This owl is rarely seen away from Africa, to which it is native, and it is a question how it came to this vicinity, says the Eugene Register.

Mr. A. B. Jones returned Wednesday from a trip to Grand Forks, B. C. He found that town rather quiet; for the reason that most of the people were out prospecting. Some rich finds in quartz have recently been made. He saw his son, Frank, M. F. Sloper and Thomas Lacey, all doing well. Mr. Jones is the owner of a placer claim in the heart of the city. He has leased eleven other claims and will go to work on them as soon as he can wind up his business here and return.—Glacier.

If a man has a two-dollar bull pup he looks after it carefully and does not allow it to roam all over town at night, but if he has a boy it is different. He is turned loose at an early age to go to the devil, and then the people wonder where the army of tramps, bums, dead beats, loafers, gamblers and drunkards came from. They are germinated from poor seed gathered from our streets and alleys. It may be that your boy is making a growth in that direction. At all events the boy should be given an equal showing with the bull pup.—Agriculturist.

A report has been sent out from Eddyville, on Yaquina bay, that two miles and a half from there, on the Dutton place, a gold quartz discovery has been made that causes great excitement in Lincoln county. Mining claims, under United States law, 1500x600 feet, have been filed for over three miles in length of the canyon. One of the claims on file at Toledo is named Prosperity. G. W. Buford, of Yaquina, an experienced miner, has just returned from the ledges of the Little Elk, and declares it to be largely a decomposed quartzite and porphyry rock bearing from $13 to $35 to the ton. A big water power is supplied by the falls of the canyon, sufficient to work the mines. To the south is a large tract of government land, and east is railroad land. The mine is 20 miles east of Toledo.

A lady's shoe, found some place in California, has been started the rounds of the express offices of the coast, presumably in search of its owner. It has at least a hundred tags on it, containing the comments of the express agents, some of which are very bright. Most of the tags are done up in metrical feet, some of which fit the shoe. It is a number 3, and the lady who lost it has no idea of the fame the dainty little piece of foot-wear has earned. Of course it is a long stretch of the imagination to try to fill that shoe up, or to build from so slender a foundation the blessed little creature who at one time tripped the streets of some California town inside of it. Our own impression as we gazed at it was that its owner weighed 116 pounds, had blue eyes and black hair, and that her name was—Dennis.

Nitrogene cures rheumatism in 10 days.

PERSONAL MENTION.

A Good Story.

A good story is told of General J. A. Early, of the confederate fame. It is this:

The federals and confederates were about to engage in battle in Virginia, during the late war, Gen. Early in command of the confederate side. Just about the time the firing commenced, the chaplain to Early's army, a devout man past middle life, promptly observed to the General that he had no further use for him at the time, but in case his services should be needed to comfort the dying, he could be found just over the hill, and then departed in a gallop. Gen. Early, indignant at the chaplain's course, said to those around him: "Now look at that old scoundrel; he has been praying to go to heaven for over thirty years and the first opportunity he has to get there, runs away."

Died at Mosier.

Mrs. Isabella Joss, aged 73 years, died at Mosier, Oregon, September 12, 1897.

Deceased was born in Ceithness, Scotland, and came to this country in 1887, locating in Hood River. Her husband, Alexander Joss, died two years ago, since which time she has been living with her daughter Mrs. James Steele, at Mosier. The remains were brought to Hood River Monday, and interred in Idlewild cemetery. She leaves six children—two in Scotland, Mrs. Steele of Mosier, Mrs. Wm. Davidson of Hood River, and James and William Joss.—Glacier.

IN the United States now enjoying food cooked in the MAJESTIC affirm that the half has not been said in its praise. The manufacturers of this Range pledge themselves that all parts of the MAJESTIC except the firebox and the new series Nos. 201 to #12, are made of steel and malleable iron, and purchasers are assured that it is as good and as honest as skilled labor and money can produce. If the parts now in malleable iron were (as in other so-called steel ranges) made of cast iron, the price could be greatly reduced; but the MAJESTIC is not made with a view to furnishing extra parts for repairs.
