

The Dalles Daily Chronicle THE DALLES, OREGON

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Thos. Leabo of Enderby was in the city today. Mr. J. W. Morrow, county clerk of Morrow county, came in from Heppner yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Mays, Jr., who have been visiting relatives here, returned to Antelope today.

Mr. J. B. Alley, editor of the Baker Republican, was a passenger on the west-bound train this morning.

Mrs. Biggs and Mrs. Smith French left for Albany this morning to attend the meeting of the W. C. T. U.

Messrs. Chas. Lord and F. T. Hurlburt of Arlington spent Sunday in this city, returning on the 6 o'clock train last night.

Miss Evelyn Newman is in the city visiting friends. Her brother, Leo, accompanied her, and is visiting his boys chums here.

Hon. J. A. Smith was a passenger on the delayed train this morning, bound for Portland. He had that twenty-five-bushel-to-the-acre smile which all Eastern Oregon farmers are wearing this fall.

In response to a telephone message, G. W. Johnston and T. H. Johnston arrived in the city this morning. The mother and father of the boys, who are visiting them at Datur, will arrive tonight.

Mrs. George P. Crowell, wife of Hood River's leading merchant, leaves tonight for a visit to relatives in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Riverside lodge, Degree of Honor, presented her a handsome pin at its last meeting.

Mr. G. W. Phelps came in from Heppner yesterday, looking as chipper as a four-year-old. He thinks Heppner one of the best towns in the country, but could not forego the pleasure of a visit to his old friends here, despite the Heppner attractions.

MARRIED.

Yesterday evening, at the home of Rev. L. Grey, Chris D. Meier to Katie L. Barrell.

Mr. Meier is in the employ of the well-known furniture firm, Prinz & Nitschke, and the new couple intend to make their home in The Dalles.

Death of Arthur C. Phelps.

Mr. Phelps came to Oregon in 1852, which made him one of our oldest residents. He came from Salmon river with Mr. J. W. Blakeney, who waited sixteen days for him with his teams at that place. Mr. Phelps first settled at Puget sound, but in 1854 or 1855 came back to Oregon and settled at Hood River. In June, 1864, at that place he married the lady who survives him, and in 1874 they buried their only daughter, Grace.

Born in 1828, Mr. Phelps was the youngest of eight children, some of whom are still living at the old home in Michigan. He also leaves one son, living in this city. Stricken two years ago with the disease which ended his life, he has sat helplessly in his chair, awaiting, in patient submission, the summons from his Maker. In all that time he uttered no complaining word over his hard fate, and left this world with hope and confidence in Him who called him to bear that grievous burden.

Hold Up Near Portland.

Two masked men held up the regular eastbound train No. 2 about 5 miles this side of Portland Saturday night. They signaled the train and getting it, stopped, took the engineer and firemen from the cab and into the brush.

Brakeman Cason ran forward, and seeing the engineer and fireman were captives to highwaymen, dodged under the mail car and began to shoot. His fire was returned by the robbers, but he made it so hot for them that they forced their prisoners back into the woods where they robbed Engineer Evans of a gold watch and $7 and the fireman of $8. In the meanwhile Cason mounted the engine and backed the train out of danger.

A dispatch received this morning from Portland states that the robbers had been caught. The train was in charge of Conductor Allison, and in the melee one of the robbers shot the conductor's lantern, breaking the globe.

With the close of the Presidential Campaign THE TRIBUNE recognizes the fact that the American people are now anxious to give their attention to home and business interests. To meet this condition, politics will have far less space and prominence, until another State or National occasion demands a renewal of the fight for the principles for which THE TRIBUNE has labored from its inception to the present day, and won its greatest victories.

Every possible effort will be put forth, and money freely spent, to make THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE pre-eminently a National Family Newspaper, interesting, instructive, entertaining and indispensable to each member of the family.
