At Coburg assizes, Canada, Tuesday morning, J. F. Hendricks, a white-haired man, aged 76, was sued for kissing his pretty niece, Mrs. Effie Pilkey, a school teacher. The kissing occurred at midnight, he driving her to her mother's house after a visit. The suit was for $2000. The judge said that a man had a right to kiss his relatives without his character being suspected, and evidently with no improper intentions as in this case. The jury awarded 20 cents damages.

Something New in the Stars.

It would hardly occur to anyone except an astronomer to search among the stars for a new chemical element. Yet the much-talked-of helium was detected in stars before it had been found on the earth, and in the corona of the sun there appears a gas which has not been identified with any terrestrial substance. Lately it was discovered that a star in the constellation Puppis, and a few others, exhibit strange spectral lines, which were at first supposed to belong to yet another new element. But more recently reason has been found for thinking that the strange lines are due to hydrogen in some extraordinary condition, only attained in those particular stars.—Youth's Companion.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.
