THE NEW CANADIAN TARIFF.

The new Canadian tariff follows our American lead in the matter of adopting the policy of reciprocity, for it offers a reduction of one-eighth of the duties to any country which admits Canadian products on as favorable terms as Canada offers to them. This offer holds good till June 30, 1898. After that date the reduction is to be equal to one-fourth. This offer is not restricted to Great Britain or British colonies. If Germany should admit Canadian products at as low rates as Canada admits German products, Germany would receive as good terms as England, which admits Canadian products free.

A few articles upon which duties are imposed for revenue, and not for protection, are excluded, viz: Alcoholic liquors, sugar and tobacco. The Canadian tariff provides that whenever the executive branch of the government shall be satisfied that any article is monopolized by a trust or combination, it shall have power to abolish all duties on the article so monopolized.

The intention and effect of this new Canadian tariff is to put the United States at a disadvantage of 12 1/2 per cent as compared with Great Britain in the sale of manufactures to Canada, and next year the differential will be 25 per cent. It is better to lose some trade in the small Canadian market of 4,000,000 people than to turn over a very large portion of our home market of 70,000,000 people by neglecting to protect the competitive industries of our Northern states from the intrusion of Canada.—Oregonian.

RID OF THE UNION PACIFIC.

November 1st has been fixed upon as the day of final settlement between the government and the Union Pacific railroad. The government has accepted the proposition of a syndicate to pay $45,000,000 to the government for the road. Of this sum about $17,000,000 is held by the government in a sinking fund provided by what is known as the Thurman act, which is to be deducted from the $45,000,000, leaving an actual payment to be made of about $28,000,000. The original debt to the government was $33,500,000, but this sum and $6,000,000 more have been paid, the interest having made the grand total about $39,000,000.

It is undoubtedly the best thing the government can do, for unless this proposition is accepted the government will have to take charge of the road and operate it, and besides pay off the first mortgage lien on the road, amounting to $30,000,000. This latter sum is really more than the road is worth. In other words, the roads can be paralleled for a less sum than the government would have to pay, so that, as far as values are concerned, the government gains $28,000,000 by the settlement.

Rich gold strikes will always attract the American citizen and cause him to get a move on, and this whether gold lies in the Arctic circle or under the scorching sun of the equator. And yet there are other pursuits that for the multitude yield better returns. It was only a few years ago that Oklahoma was thrown open to settlement, and the wild rush of would-be settlers when the government officials fired the gun that started the mad crowd in its race for first choice, is still fresh in the memory of all. For several years the crops were light, and this, added to low prices, discouraged many. Yet those who stayed have reaped, literally, their reward, the wheat crop this season being valued at $21,000,000. Oklahoma is somewhat of a Klondike itself.

Platt of New York is the kind of politician that says go and everything goes. At the recent convention for nominating officers for Greater New York the Low men went into the fight confident of victory, and in the first round were so badly knocked out that they have not yet pulled themselves together. Platt wanted General Tracy for mayor, and Tracy was nominated over Low by a vote of 297 to 49. Politics are no longer a matter of principle, but conventions are the playthings of the boss, and elections largely a matter of bargain and sale. The people will awake to this fact some time, but until they do the boss has, in the language of the street, a "pudding."

And now England protests against the annexation of Hawaii by the United States. England is the boss land-grabber of the universe, and only kicks now because she wants Necker island as a cable station. She is land-poor now, and it is only a question of a few years until some of her claims are going to be jumped by the present occupants, who will deny her title and cease to pay rent.

De Lome, the Spanish minister, returned to Washington Wednesday, and the politicians draw from this the inference that the Cuban matter is to be talked over between this government and Spain.
