EARLY DAY REMINISCENCES.

One of Our Dalles' Boys Recites Incidents of the Past.

Over thirty-five years ago, in 1832, Robert Pentland came to The Dalles with his family, consisting of a daughter, Anna Pentland, now Mrs. S. L. Brooks, and two sons, Ed. C. Pentland, who is now here visiting his sister, and Charles Pentland, who died when a small boy. The first water works here were put in by Robert Pentland.

In conversation with a CHRONICLE reporter Mr. Pentland recalls many incidents of the early days. In the old school house under the bluff, near where Captain Coffin lived, he learned his A B C's, under Miss Mollie Snyder. At that time Oliver White, lately State printer of Washington, and Joe Day, the detective, and Tom Parrott, the artist, were going to school. In those days Fort Dalles was occupied by several companies of soldiers. The fare was $12 for passage on the steamboats from Portland, and freight $50 a ton. Front street was the business street. The postoffice was in Waldron Bros' drug store, the stone building now standing vacant. In those days coal oil was $1.50 a gallon, and apples were worth 10 cents each or three for a quarter. Small change was unknown. It was the "long bit" and the "short bit."

Mr. Pentland lived in The Dalles sixteen years, and left here about nineteen years ago. The boys and girls of those days he now finds men and women some of them heads of families while the children are themselves in business. He recalls the names of Hope, Dill and Ernest Ferguson, Fred and Frankie Stump, Malcolm and Zenas Moody, George and Charles Craig, Al Bettington, Ed Holland, Frank McFarland, Charles Reed, Mike and Will Day, Farmer and Clay Hill, Dennis and Will Bunnell, Bert Bunnell, Geo. Gibbons, Clarence, Edith and Adella Carter, Joe and Ben Teal, Allie Martin, now Mrs. Crossen; Emma Harmon, now Mrs. Doane; Elia Bulger, now Mrs. Michell; Emma Condon, now Mrs. Thompson; Hattie Condon, now Mrs. Arthur Coffin; Nell Coffin, now Mrs. E. B. McFarland; Laura McFarland, now Mrs. McEwen; Alice McFarland, now Mrs. Abrams; Clara Humason, now Mrs. Judge Waldo; Annie Thornbury, now Mrs. Kinersley; Amanda Thornbury, now Mrs. Hudson; Lu Donnell, now Mrs. Crandall; and many other boy and girl schoolmates of those days.

The people of The Dalles were always noted for their sociability, and in those days the young people engaged themselves as much if not more than now. Mr. Pentland says he has never had anything but the very pleasantest memories of The Dalles.

"I want to say one thing to the newspapers of The Dalles. It is a mistake to 'burn up' the capitalists of your town, and try to force enterprises. I find human nature the same everywhere, and the place of a newspaper is to point out where money can be profitably invested in your town, and you will find that your men of capital are just as eager to invest in profitable enterprises as they ever were. The Dalles is a splendid business town, and has a brilliant future. A permanent investment which would pay property owners is the paving of Union street from the Umatilla house to the bluff, and Second street from Union street to the warehouses; out unless the property owners see that it will actually pay them to make such an investment it will remain undone. They again an agitation by all the newspapers showing how profitable to the stockholders would be the development of the immense water power near here would finally bear fruits and The Dalles become a manufacturing city. The Dalles has a great deal of available capital, and if the newspapers show where it can be invested, with assurance of interest on the outlay, the surplus money will be invested at home. The Dalles bears the reputation abroad of being an enterprising town. Your business men have shown, in many ways, a very commendable spirit."

Mr. Pentland leaves for his home in Independence, tomorrow, taking the Regulator line down the river and obtaining his first view of the completed locks at the Cascades.

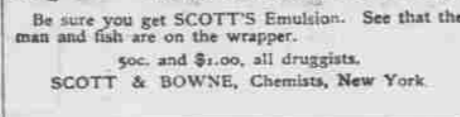

Married ladies should see Dr. Mullinix. They will learn something that they have always wanted to know.

Persistent Coughs

A cough which seems to hang on in spite of all the remedies which you have applied certainly needs energetic and sensible treatment. For twenty-five years that standard preparation of cod-liver oil, has proved its effectiveness in curing the trying affections of the throat and lungs, and this is the reason why: the cod-liver oil, partially digested, strengthens and vitalizes the whole system; the hypophosphites act as a tonic to the mind and nerves, and the glycerine soothes and heals the irritation. Can you think of any combination so effective as this?

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.

Moslem Agitation.

There are ominous signs of an awakening of Moslem fanaticism, following the Turkish victories in Greece. When those victories became known, Moslems in India, Africa and Arabia sent messages to the sultan, appealing to him to lead a war against unbelievers. The commission called the Council of the Jihad, or Holy War, which has been sitting at Constantinople, has sent envoys to the various sheikhs and ulema of Egypt, Arabia and India, admonishing all true Moslems to be ready to make any sacrifices at the demand of the caliph. In India a British officer has been murdered, and the lives of others threatened, by natives; and a Mussulman mob at Calcutta was so violent that a considerable force of troops was required to subdue it. Successive disasters of plague, famine and earthquake have caused a kind of despair among large classes of the population, and an intense feeling against the government, which is blamed for all the misfortunes.—Youth's Companion.

Greatest Year for Copper.

The statistics of mineral production in the United States during 1896 show that the amount of copper produced last year was the greatest ever reported. It reached nearly 463,000,000 pounds. Considerably more than half of it was sent to foreign countries.—N. Y. Sun.
