POTATOES TO IRELAND.

It would be a graceful act on the part of the residents of Walla Walla and of the entire state to follow the initiative taken by C. L. Whitney and other residents of Walla Walla and send several carloads of potatoes and other products to the famine-threatened inhabitants of Ireland. It has been stated by those who know the Irish people that they will never appeal to England for aid in their distress, but would rather appeal to America. However true this may be, no appeal to any country has yet been made, although it is known that unusual distress exists in the unfortunate Emerald Isle. From a humanitarian standpoint the project of sending food from this state is commendable, and beyond that a selfish end might be achieved in the sending, selfish technically, only.

Such a gift as is proposed would serve as an advertisement for Washington, and might attract a desirable class of agriculturists to this state. Farmers educated in agriculture in a country where the ground is comparatively unproductive, and where there is so little return for labor expended, would be overjoyed to get into a country so rich in natural resources as this. Their habits of frugality and economy, developed in a hard school, would enable them to be eminently successful in a country where others, trained to be more prodigal in their expenditures, would only meet with a medium measure of success. Wherever Irish farmer emigrants have sought to wrest their living from the soil in this country they have been successful. In later years the bulk of the Irish immigration has been into the centers of American population, where it has entered, for the most part, the ranks of unskilled labor. In some instances Irishmen have met with great reward, while in many instances a bare living has been their lot.

There is room here for those Irishmen who possess the rudiments of agriculture and an understanding of the elements of economy. Should they be attracted by the Washington potatoes sent them, they will find a warm welcome waiting for them in this state.—Spokesman-Review.

sure extended trade and increased pecuniary profits to American industry. If, as is so often quoted, that man is a benefactor of his race who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, that officer is certainly a benefactor of his country who opens for its trade a profitable market where there was none before. Such work may be more arduous than attending social functions. It may be less showy and may elicit from foreigners less flattering praise than making post-prandial speeches about peace and good will. But it commends the doer of it to the sober sense of his own government and people as a faithful servant who has done the work he was sent to do.

If a small bottle of Shaker Digestive Cordial does you good, don't buy a large one.

"Prove all things: hold fast that which is good." It's not good for everybody, only for the thin, pale, sick, weak and weary, for those who are starving for want of digested food. For those who cannot get fat or strong, because their stomachs do not work as they ought to.

These are the people, millions of them, whom Shakers Digestive Cordial will cure.

Food makes muscle, strength, brain, blood, energy—after it is digested. If not digested it will do you no good at all.

Shaker Digestive Cordial helps your stomach to digest your food and cures indigestion permanently. When you've tried a small bottle you can tell. Sold by all druggists. Trial bottle 10 cents.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.
