Cole's Air Tight and Hot Blast

HEATERS

ARE THE BEST

- They heat a room in five minutes.
- They save enough fuel the first year to pay for the stove.
- 4 cents a day is the average cost of heating a large room with our stoves.
- They burn anything and everything combustible.
- A cord of wood equals a ton of hard coal in any of our wood heaters.
- It is only necessary to remove ashes once in six weeks from our wood stoves.
- They are safe and have a catch to hold the cover while putting in fuel.
- You have a fire every morning.
- Our hot blast draft furnishes a hot air feed, not cold air, and saves fuel.
- They are easily moved and set up.
- Our wood stoves are made with either sheet iron or cast iron tops in all sizes, for all purposes.
- They are jointless the connections being so made that the greater expansion of the lining don't affect the body.
- There are no bolts exposed to the fire to burn off or draw or open up a joint.
- Our coal stove will burn slack and makes a ton of soft coal equal to a ton of hard coal.

BEWARE of infringers and inferior imitations, they never equal the original and cost as much.

Four converts to the Baptist faith were baptized by Rev. Wilburn in Mill creek Sunday. The reverend gentleman is encouraged by the number who are seriously interested in the meeting, and will continue to preach during the week at the Calvary Baptist church.

J. T. Rorick and Chas. Deitzel returned Sunday from Saginaw, Mich., where they have been serving as witnesses on the trial of O. D. Taylor. At the time they left a verdict of guilty had been brought in by the jury, but they know nothing of what transpired since that time.

The funeral of Mrs. Isabel Miller took place from the residence of Mr. T. J. Kelly at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Wood gave a short address, Miss Myrtle Michell sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and the Epworth choir sang two appropriate hymns. The remains were interred in Sunset cemetery.

A Schilling, the owner of "Pathmount" and "Hero," is in the city today. He is on his way from the Walla Walla fair, and states that they had a most successful meeting at that place. The attendance, as well as the interest taken in the meeting by everyone, was all that could be desired.

An old Front street Chinaman died yesterday, and his funeral was held this afternoon. Particulars could not be learned, as the inhabitants of Chinatown were hiding from the devil when the reporter came around to interview them, but whether or not they took the writer for his Satanic Majesty, we were unable to find out.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the Workmen will be celebrated by the Degree of Honor tomorrow night. Members of Temple Lodge are especially requested to be present, as well as invited guests. Mr. Zane, editor of the A. O. U. W. Reporter, and Mr. Wells, representing the Oregonian, will be among the rest. Lodge session will be held at 7:30, and doors will be open to guests at 8:30. It is unnecessary to state that the usual good time is expected.

According to J. K. Ward, there is a larger crop of potatoes in Yakima county than last year, but so far the market has shown no vitality. Quotations of $5.50 at $6 per ton are made, but the demand is light. John Reed had an order for a carload from Tacoma on Tuesday, but holders did not seem to be anxious to let go at these figures, although the reports from the Sound country, Oregon and California indicate a large yield and little demand, says the Yakima Herald.

Theater-goers in this city were served with a first-class treat last evening. M. B. Curtis' company in "Sam'l of Posen" proved that they were all that they had been represented, and from the time that the curtain went up until the last scene was finished, the attention of all was held, and a more appreciative audience would be hard to find. It is seldom that such an excellent company condescends to stop over in The Dalles, and when they do so they should be encouraged by our liberal patronage.

THE STICKEEN RIVER ROUTE.

A Reliable and Interesting Account by W. K. Lear of Fort Wrangle.

At the request of Judge Mays of this place for information concerning the Stickeen river route, William K. Lear, postmaster at Fort Wrangle, who is an old Grand Army officer and friend of the judge, sends the following, which he says is a correct and reliable statement concerning this route to the gold fields in Alaska:

"There has been a great deal said and done to devise a route for entering the Yukon gold fields, and to my mind it is a demonstrated fact that the route by Skagway or Dyea is an impracticable one for any body or quantity of men at one time. The last rush to those points has clearly demonstrated this fact with death to the human family and horses, and the hardships therein incurred.

"I have had the pleasure of passing over the route myself, and I found it in no sense of the term easy, with only twenty-five pounds on my back. Timber and lumber is becoming scarce; boats sold as high as $500 to $1,000 in the last rush, and the trails in passing through the lakes and many rapids before entering the Yukon are both dangerous to life and property, and I believe before one year from today the only route that will be available to enter that country will be by the Stickeen and across to Lake Teslin. This route is favorable, and for many reasons. It is comparatively a level plateau. The first five miles out of Telegraph creek is only an elevation of two per cent. grade, and the Dominion government has expended upon the trail the sum of about $8,000 the past season, and it is comparatively a first-class trail.

"There are but two streams to cross between Telegraph creek and Lake Teslin, and those are perfectly bridged. A double team can be driven over this route with ease, taking from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds. Sixty miles this side of Lake Teslin a man can draw upon a sled from 600 to 800 pounds with perfect ease. It is a continuous incline from this point to the lake.

"It is also a demonstrated fact that when the rush penetrates this country the facilities are so limited that somebody must wait; therefore, it has enhanced the price of packing and carrying such commodities and supplies as miners must necessarily need. On reaching Lake Teslin and the Hootalingua river you are in the mineral region of that country, and it is a demonstrated fact that the new developments on the Stewart and near Fort Selkirk and the regions in and about Lake Teslin and the Hootalingua are as rich in mineral as it is in Dawson or at any part of the Klondyke. The same representations of the country and the long working of Cassiar mines is conclusive, that this country is as rich in mineral as it is further down the Yukon river. If such may be the case, to every man who thinks of entering the gold fields of Alaska let him use his better judgment and get into this country at the earliest possible moment, taking with him sufficient food, clothing, etc., to last one year, and while speaking of this I advise anyone going now to prepare themselves with such hardware as may be wanted in the use and construction of their cabins, while there will only be about 140 miles from Lake Teslin to water navigation, where it is easy to obtain a renewal of their supplies. And in my opinion those who get in this fall and at the earliest moment will reap the benefit of hundreds of dollars in savings. "Dawson shows in his reports for eight successive years that the climate is about the same as it is in Montana—if anything, averaging a little warmer. I advise every person thinking of going into the Yukon country to avoid Skagway and Dyea trials, and to pack their grip and provisions and start for Lake Teslin by the Stickeen river to avoid the rush in the early spring, and thus save hundreds of dollars by so doing."

A Mr. Bennett, who has been over the Stickeen river route, and has furnished Mr. Lear this account, says four rich placer finds have been made on Hootalingua river, twenty miles from Lake Teslin.

In Behalf of Mr. Taylor.

Rev. Mr. Burnside of Buffalo, who was an important witness in the Rev. O. D. Taylor case, occupied the pulpit of the Michigan avenue Baptist church last evening. At the conclusion of the sermon Rev. C. H. Maxson stated the occasion of Mr. Burnside's presence in this city, and declared further that a welcome would be given to Mr. Taylor to the service of the church at any time. Acquaintance with Mr. Taylor had turned a strong prejudice against him to entire confidence. On his vacation he had visited The Dalles and found that his conclusions were fully justified.

Mr. Maxson said he could not understand how any one who heard the evidence could believe Mr. Taylor guilty, and he characterized the conviction as an injustice done Mr. Taylor and his family. He declared that Mr. Taylor was the victim of a conspiracy.—Saginaw Evening News, Oct. 18, 1897.
