FRIDAY OCTOBER 29 1897

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Entertainment tonight at the Baldwin opera house.

Next Saturday evening another delightful dance will be given at the Baldwin. Admission for gentlemen 50 cents, ladies free.

The electric light fixtures for the club rooms arrived from Chicago yesterday. They are very handsome, and will be as ornamental as they are useful.

Otto Kohler will ship sixteen carloads of sheep this evening to Columbus, Nebraska. We could not ascertain, however, what price they will bring per head.

Miss Kelliber's lecture at the Congregational church tomorrow evening will be illustrated by the finest stereoscopic on the coast. Over 200 views of California scenery will be shown.

Seventy-five mortgages were released in Umatilla county, Or., during the month of September, and the Tribune says that all the mortgages in the county will be satisfied during the next month at that rate.

We are pleased to announce that Neddie Briggs, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, of this place, who has for some time been ill with a severe and dangerous attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is recovering.

The Lutheran ladies are putting forth a noble effort to raise money for the furnishing of their church, and they certainly deserve a most liberal patronage at their bazaar in the armory next Wednesday and Thursday.

Do you want to buy a handsome birthday present for your friend at a reasonable price? If so, then go to the Lutheran bazaar next week and you will find valuable articles there, which range in price from a few cents to $25 and $30. You will find just what you want.

Two carloads of horses from the Bakeoven range will be shipped this evening to the National stock yards in Illinois for L. A. Lauer. They were sent by his agent, T. A. Shane, of Bakeoven, and they will be used for driving horses. This looks encouraging for the Oregon horse-raisers, and indicates that they may yet find a good market for horses that they would at present be glad to send to the cannery at Linnton.

Another shingle mill is to be added to the number already established in Snohomish county. The new one is to be built by the Maughlin Mill Company, who have purchased the mill formerly owned by S. F. Weber & Co., at Cathcart. They will move the machinery now in the mill to Snohomish, and purchase enough additional machinery to make a first-class plant. The company has not decided as yet what kind of machinery will be used, but the capacity of the mill will be between 60,000 and 100,000, and will be enlarged next summer. It is expected that the mill will be running inside of sixty days.

The miners of the Seattle Coal and Iron Company held a mass meeting Sunday, at Gilman, to consider the question of docking the coal, against the agreement entered into on August 26th, 1897, between the company and the miners. It was then agreed between the Seattle Coal and Iron Company and their miners that the company should pay a scale of wages of 55 cents per car, less the rock that should be in the car. This agreement was entered into by the miners, attorneys for the bondholders and creditors, and confirmed by Judge Moore. There were numerous speeches made by the miners and all concurred that the agreement had been broken by the company, and that order of the court had been ignored by the local management. Resolutions were adopted demanding payment of the company for the month of September according to the daily bulletin made out by Teto Genino, who was appointed by Judge Moore, to see that justice was done between the company and its employees, and declaring that the miners would not accept pay according to the bulletin made out by the company officials.

Report of Physicians on the Remains of Marcus Whitman.

Drs. Bingham and Shaw of Walla Walla, the physicians who examined the remains found on Thursday in the Whitman mound, have made a report, and describe the bones as follows:

First—Skull of man, mature adult, comprising all the bones of the cranium. All the bones of the right side in good state of preservation. On the verte, close to the medium line, is an oblique incised fracture of the skull, evidently made with the corner of an ax. These wounds are well defined, the instrument acting like a wedge in splitting the skull beyond the seat of the wound and fracturing the internal tables so that the borders of the skull are decidedly sharp, the beveled edges being on the interior of the cranium. On the left side of the occipital bone is a hole in the skull about three inches long, and one and one-third inches wide. Along the upper part of this bone is a fine edge to the border of the bone, with smooth surface externally, showing that the incised surface was evidently made by a sharp-cutting instrument, the blow striking the head, either from above downward, while the man was in an erect posture, or being a horizontal blow, while the man was lying face downward. No marks of depressed fractures of internal tables are around the edge of this wound, and it is doubtful if this wound penetrated the brain. The jaw is fairly preserved, with the mental process strongly developed. The posterior molar tooth on the left side contains a gold filling, and is worn more than the teeth on the opposite side, showing that the left side was used more than the right in mastication. The seats of muscular adjustment show a strong, well-developed man.

The skull has been mutilated by being cut in two, the cut commencing at the nasal bone and extending back to the seat of the wound. Marks of the saw are well defined on each side of the saw incision, where the instrument evidently slipped in the hands of the operator. The skull had not been opened through this cut, which seems to have been made for some other definite purpose than of opening the skull. The sawing was done unskillfully, probably when the body was lying on the ground, face upwards.

Mrs. Whitman's skull is described as being of ordinary size, thin. The sutures would indicate a person from 45 to 50 years of age.

Cole's Air Tight and Hot Blast HEATERS ARE THE BEST

- They heat a room in five minutes.
- They save enough fuel the first year to pay for the stove.
- 4 cents a day is the average cost of heating a large room with our stoves.
- They burn anything and everything combustible.
- A cord of wood equals a ton of hard coal in any of our wood heaters.
- It is only necessary to remove ashes once in six weeks from our wood stoves.
- They are safe and have a catch to hold the cover while putting in fuel.
- You have a fire every morning.
- Our hot blast draft furnishes a hot air feed, not cold air, and saves fuel.
- They are easily moved and set up.
- Our wood stoves are made with either sheet iron or cast iron tops in all sizes, for all purposes.
- They are jointless the connections being so made that the greater expansion of the lining don't affect the body.
- There are no bolts exposed to the fire to burn off or draw or open up a joint.
- Our coal stove will burn slack and makes a ton of soft coal equal to a ton of hard coal.

BEWARE of infringers and inferior imitations, they never equal the original and cost as much.

MAIER & BENTON.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. T. J. Seutert returned from Portland last night. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Glavey and daughter were in the city today. Jno. D. Whitten of Kingsley is among the guests at the Umatilla. J. W. Armworthy, editor of the Wasco News, gave this office a call this morning. J. P. Abbott, an extensive sheep-raiser from Wapinitia, is in the city today. James Mackin, one of Sherman county's cattle raisers, is in from his home near Bakeoven. Guy Flenner of Boise, Idaho, city editor of the Statesman, gave this office a pleasant call this morning. It has been fourteen years since Mr. Flenner was in The Dalles, and he takes quite a pleasure in meeting old friends and acquaintances. Fred W. Wilson and wife left this morning for Phoenix, Arizona, from which place Mr. Wilson will go in a short time to Albuquerque, N. M. Mr. Wilson's health for some time has not been the best, which caused him to stop work in French & Co.'s bank and take a trip to a warmer and dryer climate for the winter. Mrs. Mary S. Richards of Wamego, Kansas, mother of Mr. W. D. Richards of 8-Mile, and Mr. Richards' daughter, Mrs. C. M. Sissons, with her husband and family, also from Kansas, are visiting at Mr. Richards' place. Mr. and Mrs. Sissons are very favorably impressed with Oregon and may make this their future home.
