THE WHEAT TRADE.

The month of October was a lively one in shipping circles. Twenty vessels cleared from Portland foreign, eighteen carrying 1,185,004 cents wheat, and two of them carrying 55,045 barrels of flour. The receipts of wheat continue quite heavy, but the exports are not up to expectation, on accounts of the slow arrival of ships to carry the grain away. Exporters are complaining over this, and unless vessels arrive with more rapidity, we can look for a heavy gain blockade here offering during the week were quite heavy, but exporters are not very anxious to secure wheat at the present time, having all they want on dock here. During the past week, the tendency of the wheat market has been towards a lower range of values, accompanied by a check to the export demand. With weak foreign advices and pronounced downward movement at New York and Chicago, it is not at all surprising that local buyers have reduced bids and show less inclination to operate. There is some increase in offerings, and holders who were quite independent about selling a fortnight ago are now willing to talk business at the prices obtainable at that time, and are disappointed that they cannot market holdings at late extremes, and cannot understand that, as the season advances, better prices are not obtainable. Locally, very little business has been transacted during the week. Buyers have reduced their limits to 79c for Walla Walla club, 81c for bluestem, 82c for Valley per bushel. Holders, however, are not inclined to sell at these quotations, claiming that they are obliged to pay much higher prices to the farmer to draw out supplies. Competition among interior buyers was less active than during the previous week. — Commercial Review, Portland.

YELLOW JIM-JIMS.

Scott, of the Oregonian, has contemplated the political horizon through gold-rimmed glasses until the whole eastern sky is to him, at least, a deep and glorious yellow. Everything is gold, and he is as crazily excited as a tenderfoot in the Klondike with a thousand dollars to the pan. He eats, sleeps, dreams and drivels gold. Like poor Caudle, after a certain lecture delivered by his wife on the subject of umbrellas, and who dreamed the sky was a vast blue cotton specimen of that article, so Scott sees nothing above, below or around him but gold. The very air is auriferous, and everywhere he sees the magnified image of John H. Mitchell, feeding upon and destroying the golden glamour. Hobgoblins pursue his thoughts, visions of devouring fiends in the shape of free silver advocates haunt his dreams, and like Miss Kilmansegg, who slept with her golden leg under her pillow, he will wake some time on the other shore only to find that his skull had been cracked in this by the golden calf which he worshipped.

The last Michigan legislature passed one bill which is so plainly unconstitutional that the supreme court contemptuously remarked that no argument was needed to demonstrate the fact. Another law, which betrayed quite as great a lack of common sense, has just been carried before the same tribunal, which, unfortunately, cannot annul it on the ground of unconstitutionality. A student in the agricultural college, who is not a naturalized citizen of the United States, became violently insane, and a probate judge ordered him sent to the state asylum. The superintendent refused to receive him, on the ground that a law passed by the last legislature restricts admission to citizens of the state, and the supreme court sustains this view. There is consequently nothing to do except release the crazy man and allow him to roam at large.

The election of Judge Parker, the Democratic candidate for chief judge of the court of appeals of New York, is hardly a partisan victory. He has had the support of the bar. The Ulster county bar indorsed him by resolution regardless of party; and the Albany Law Journal expressed its gratification at this unusual tribute to Judge Parker "as indicating a rapidly-growing disposition toward independence on the part of the bar" in recognizing the principle of non-partisanship in the selection of judges. Judge Parker's election is personal, not a party triumph. Democrats will be encouraged whenever they put up the best men for non-political office.—Oregonian.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is sure that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros., of that place, and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to select from, and skilled physicians to answer to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own home at a time when his boy's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of the croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store.

Thousands are Trying It.
