WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Mr. Robt. Mays, Jr., came in from Antelope yesterday.

The Ninth street bridge is completed and is in good shape.

Mrs. Drews went to Portland this morning for a two-weeks visit.

Mrs. Wm. Crawford is in the city from the north side of the river.

WANTED—An experienced cook and housekeeper. Middle-aged lady preferred. Call at 282, Third St. 2-4t

Saturday evening another delightful dance will be given at the Baldwin. Admission for gentlemen 50 cents, ladies free.

Professor P. G. Daut, optician, has located in the city, and at present has his office with Mr. Liebe, in the Jacobsen store.

The quarters of the Commercial Club are being put in such nice shape that some of the members will feel lost when the rooms are again opened.

There will be regular services at the First Christian church morning and evening Sunday, Nov. 7th. Rev. J. O. Davis of Pomeroy, Wash., will fill the pulpit.

The Rathbone Sisters will give a social hop in the K. of P. hall on Thursday night, November 11th. Good music and a jolly time to be had. All are invited to attend.

Baker county has produced this year more than $2,500,000 in gold, and the output for the year will be nearly $3,500,000. Next year the production will be more than doubled.

Someone, no doubt by mistake, took from the county clerk's office yesterday an umbrella belonging to Mr. Sim Bolton. He prizes the same very highly, it having been given him by his mother, and will appreciate its return.

J. A. Stranahan filed upon an 80-acre homestead in Sherman county this morning. The increased price of wheat and good harvest has made quite a demand for lands in the wheat belt heretofore neglected, or considered worthless.

Last night quite a heavy shower prevailed, doing much good. It has been needed on the ranges for some time, and will be worth thousands of dollars to the stockmen. This morning the sun came up in the sky as clear as a school girl's eyes, and the weather was simply perfect.

The splendid family tourist sleepers of the Great Northern are now running daily between Portland and Spokane, on the Spokane flyer via O. R. & N. These cars differ from the ordinary tourists sleepers, being built on the same plan as regular sleepers but upholstered in leather instead of plush. This new line of cars connects at Spokane with similar cars running to and from St. Paul without change. nov3-6

A private letter received by a friend in this city tells of the death of Miss S. G. Krebbel, who was a teacher in the academy in this city during the years 1891-92, when Prof. Ingalls was principal. Her death occurred at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 25th of October, after a long illness. Miss Krebbel will be remembered as a woman of unusually fine education, and one whose broad sympathies the community where she moved can ill afford to lose.

An exchange says: "The letter in which President McKinley introduces our new minister to the Queen Regent of Spain, concludes with these pious and amiable words: 'God preserve your Majesty. From your Majesty's good friend, William McKinley.' If anyone doubts the importance of correct punctuation, let him fancy the period missing after the word Majesty. And it is for moving to this sort of thing that the editor of a country weekly draws such a big salary."

Residents of Mount Vernon who were out late Monday saw a queer scene at the river, considering the unusual hour for such a proceeding. It was the baptism of a young lady who had just been converted at a revival meeting at the Christian church at that place, and who desired to be immersed at once. Her name is Ruth Keenan, and she is a dressmaker. The meeting was late in letting out, and it was near midnight when the young lady was immersed in the icy waters of the Skagit.

Last Night of the Bazaar.

Although the attendance at the bazaar last night was not so large as was expected, yet there was a goodly number present, who were generous in their desire to help the cause along, and so the booths were very nearly emptied of their contents, a good many articles being auctioned at the close.

The chance booth seemed to be the favorite resort, and much amusement was caused as some young man would walk away carrying a doll, or a young lady would be the happy possessor of a shaving case.

Mrs. Geo. Brown, who considered herself lucky in getting a chance on a beautiful ring, set with turquoise and pearls, for one cent, was surprised when number one was announced as the winner.

The program, which consisted of vocal solos by Misses Mamie Cushing and Myrtle Michell, and Dr. Lannerberg, while Prof. Birgfeld gave a violin solo, beside several selections by the orchestra, was extremely fine.

The bazaar was a success in every way, and it seems that no matter how often Dalles people are called upon to aid the societies of our city, they always respond freely.

Notice of Postponement.

Members of the Gesang Verein Harmonie are hereby notified that the meeting to have been held on Sunday, Nov. 7th, has been postponed. By order of the president. HANS HANSEN, Sec.

THE DEAD BROUGHT TO LIFE.

Remarkable Case Reported From Scarborough.

A case of a most remarkable nature is reported by J. H. Howell, a commercial traveler, who returned to this city from a trip to Astoria yesterday afternoon. It contains some horrifying features which seem almost impossible, yet the truth of the story is indorsed by the Astoria Budget of last Tuesday.

Among the employes at the Scarborough Head, where the government is prosecuting some work, was a man named Lucas. Monday he was working under a chute, where concrete is being made, when in some manner the structure collapsed. This with all the concrete it contained fell on Lucas, burying him out of sight. There were a number of his fellow workmen about who witnessed the accident, and they immediately set to work to rescue the unfortunate man. It was some moments before Lucas' inanimate form was reached and taken out. To his friends present it was apparent that life was extinct. There was no surgical aid available but the workmen were positive that he had been fatally crushed. However, such tests as they could command were used, but Lucas showed no signs of life and was pronounced dead.

The officials at Scarborough head were then notified that a fatal accident had occurred, and there being no cemetery there, arrangements were made to take the body to Astoria for burial. It arrived in that city Tuesday evening, consigned to an undertaking firm. Dr. J. H. Fulton, who is retained by the government as physician and surgeon, was notified of the matter and proceeded to the undertaker's place of business for purpose of examining the body of Lucas to ascertain what were the injuries that caused his death, and to make a proper report to government headquarters.

Probably Dr. Fulton in all his experience professionally was never more surprised than when he in the midst of this examination made the startling discovery that it was not a dead man that was lying upon the operating slab, but a live human being. When the doctor first looked at Lucas he had all the appearances of a dead man, and it was only when he placed his hands on the subject that his suspicions were aroused, for the body did not feel like that of a dead person. Dr. Fulton then made a closer examination and could detect a faint beating of the heart. Life was there, and he at once set about to stimulate it. An ambulance was immediately called and Lucas was taken to the hospital, where several doctors were soon at work on him. The result was that in a short time he was restored to consciousness.

As the cloud cleared away from Lucas' brain, he began to inquire as to his surroundings. He remembered nothing about the accident, and for a long time could not understand how he had been so quickly conveyed from his quarters at Scarborough Head to a hospital at Astoria. He was very weak and noth-

Cole's Air Tight and Hot Blast

HEATERS

ARE THE BEST

They heat a room in five minutes. They save enough fuel the first year to pay for the stove.

4 cents a day is the average cost of heating a large room with our stoves.

They burn anything and everything combustible. A cord of wood equals a ton of hard coal in any of our wood heaters.

It is only necessary to remove ashes once in six weeks from our wood stoves.

They are safe and have a catch to hold the cover while putting in fuel.

You have a fire every morning.

Our hot blast draft furnishes a hot air feed, not cold air, and saves fuel.

They are easily moved and set up. Our wood stoves are made with either sheet iron or cast iron tops in all sizes, for all purposes.

They are jointless the connections being so made that the greater expansion of the lining don't affect the body.

There are no bolts exposed to the fire to burn off or draw or open up a joint.

Our coal stove will burn slack and makes a ton of soft coal equal to a ton of hard coal.

BEWARE of infringers and inferior imitations, they never equal the original and cost as much.
